Republicans Keep Heat On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are going to keep the heat on in an effort to get civil rights legislation passed in this session of Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said today.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, told an interviewer that a GOP broadside fired at Senate Democrats last week is only the beginning of a campaign to force action. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and others said in Senate speeches that the Democrats are responsible for inaction.

"We're going to keep the heat on until we get something done," Dirksen said.

As a part of this effort, he said Republican members of the Judiciary Committee's Constitutional Rights Subcommittee will be on hand or be represented by proxy at any future meetings of the group. Chairman Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) has complained that Republicans didn't show up for some meetings.

With Southern Democrats often boycotting or blocking the sessions, the subcommittee had made only one major decision on civil rights measures before it.

This decision was that no bill it clears will carry a provision giving the attorney general authority to seek injunctions in all civil rights cases.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), not a member of the group, said he will appeal this decision to the Senate, if it gets around to considering a measure.

Dirksen said that in order to get action it may be necessary to hold any House-passed civil rights bill on the calendar for direct Senate consideration, as was done with a similar measure in 1957.

However, the word has been passed among Southern senators that the House is unlikely to act on any civil rights bill in the next few months of this session.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas wants to get a bill passed this year. He obviously doesn't want the party-splitting issue fought out in 1960, a presidential election year.

While some Republicans think a delay until next year in a showdown on the issue might be politically advantageous, Dirksen said he thinks there is need for action now.

Javits denied in a television program Sunday that there had been any foot-dragging on the part of the Republicans in connection with civil rights legislation. He said that Republicans will have to furnish most of the votes needed for passage of any bill.

Keating said on another program that the Constitutional Rights subcommittee so far "has engaged in a teeth-pulling and stalling operation."

However, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said in a Gilbert, S.C. speech there is no need for civil rights legislation.

"The bills before the Senate were conceived in a spirit of political antagonism," he said.

Blasts Rock Belgian Ship

CAMERON, La. (AP) — The master and crew abandoned the flaming Belgian motorship Anvers early today moments after the stricken vessel was beached.

The Coast Guard said magnesium explosions prevented any attempt to board the ship and fight the fire.

The ship was anchored about six miles south of Cameron, when the fire broke out Sunday morning.

The 442-foot vessel has a gross tonnage of 5,153. Its cargo consisted of rosin, cotton, lumber, iron ore, carbon black, synthetic latex, menhaden fish oil and rice.

It was bound from Freeport, Tex., to Lake Charles, La.

The ship's master, Henri Sanglier, and the remaining 11 men of the crew were taken to Cameron, five miles southwest of where the Anvers was beached.

Two lifeboats with 26 other crew members, including the master's wife, were towed into Cameron earlier.

The Anvers, which sails out of Antwerp, was towed to within three miles of shore, before it was abandoned.

The coast guard said the fire started in the engine room. There were two injuries but no deaths reported.

President's Pills Covered All Ills

LITTLETON, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Marvin Breedlove Jr. of Henderson found a bonus when she bought an antique chest.

In it, she found a bottle of assorted pills prescribed for Martin Van Buren, eighth president of the United States.

The prescription, written in red ink in spidery handwriting carried the following instructions:

"Small reds—laxatives—one at night.
"Large reds—nerves—as needed.

"Brown—digestives—one or two at meals.

"Pink—headache—1/2 to 1.
"Black—liver—1 at night if needed."

The prescription was signed by a Dr. Jones.

Rum For Thrift, Water For Thirst

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—The deputy prime minister of the West Indies, noted for its production of rum, was offered a drink of rum Friday when he visited a warehouse where the liquor is held in bond.

"I don't like the taste," Dr. Carl La Coblentz said in rejecting the offer. "I've tasted very type of drink, but I prefer water."

Bank Chooses New Officer

The election of John I. Sell as vice president of the First National Bank of Oregon was announced July 2 by C. B. Stephenson, bank president.

Sell has been in charge of business development activities at all First National offices east of the Cascade Mountains for the past four years.

An authority in the field of banking, Sell recently served as chairman of the Oregon Bankers Association legislative committee. He is a former member of the House of Representatives from Wasco County.

A native of Wisconsin, Sell began his banking career there in 1930. He was first employed with First National from 1936 to 1943 at The Dalles branch. He resigned to accept an executive position at the Seufert Brothers Cannery in The Dalles.

He rejoined the bank in 1950 and was elected assistant vice president and headed the bank's business development program in the Columbia Basin area, with headquarters in The Dalles. In 1955 he moved to the head office and took his present assignment.

A trustee of the Oregon 4-H Foundation, he is a leader in many 4-H club activities. He is past executive ruler of The Dalles Elks Lodge and has held important committee assignments in the Portland Chamber of Commerce, United Fund, Oregon Wheat Growers League and the Oregon Cattleman's Association. He is a member of the University Club and the City Club.

Marriage Vet Dies At Age 105

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—John Wesley Beard, who attracted national attention when he celebrated his 100th birthday by getting married, died Sunday at the age of 105.

Beard entered the hospital Wednesday. Until shortly before his marriage, he worked for the city sanitation department.

He called himself "half Irish and half Indian" and often bragged, "I been chewing tobacco since I was eight."

He is survived by the widow, who is 74.
