This Common Is Uncommon

SAN LUIS, Colo. (UPI) — The town common was a familiar feature of communities 100 years ago, and it still exists here.

The San Luis common covers 900 acres. Unlike many others, it is situated alongside, not in, the town. Citizens still enjoy equal grazing rights on the land which cannot be taxed, sold or rented.

The common, or vega, was established when San Luis itself came into existence 109 years ago although the town was called Rio Culebra at the time and was a walled Mexican colony.

Most Women Appreciate House Gift

CLEVELAND, O. (UPI) — Appliances may be unromantic, but they're hard to beat for popularity as gifts for the little woman.

A survey of appliance departments of several major department stores in this area brought almost unanimous agreement that the "practical" gift is the most appropriate.

"Many women would much rather have their husbands spend $50 on a device that will save them work than the same amount on a fancy negligee that would look out of place in most homes anyway," said one executive.

The purchase of mechanical aids is a two-way street. Many wives buy tools for their husbands.

"It's funny to see how some wives operate," said George Champion, regional merchandise manager for hard goods departments of a mail order firm.

"Some will run over and buy a power saw while their husbands are buying tires in another part of the store. Then they'll complicate matters by wanting the saw gift-wrapped.

"Some have a selfish motive in mind. They want to get their husbands started on some badly-needed work around the house," Champion said. "I remember one woman who bought an expensive power tool when all her husband needed was a simple saw."

When the city of Dallas, Tex., did flood control on the Trinity River in 1932, about 7,200 acres of previously invaluable land was freed for development.
