4-H NEWS

YREKA-Two hundred fifty 4-H members, parents, leaders and spectators attended the 12th annual 4-H Livestock Judging Day held at the Siskiyou County Fairgrounds, Yreka, Sunday, July 12, according to M. V. Maxwell, farm adviser, who was in charge of the program.

Champion 4-H judge of all classes of livestock was Melanie Dudley of the Etna 4-H Club, who received an engraved trophy cup. Runnersup were David Robustellini of the Delphi 4-H Club; Don Kreutzer, Table Rock 4-H Club; and Carol Hammond, Etna 4-H Club.

The Delphi 4-H Club of Montague won the distinction of having the highest total score of the 14 clubs participating and was awarded a U.S. and 4-H flag set. Delphi was followed by Etna, Table Rock and Big Springs clubs.

Champion judges of all four classes were awarded stockman's knives and blue ribbons. Second, third and fourth place judges also received ribbons. Cliff Giebner of Yreka was champion adult judge of all classes of livestock and received a stockman's knife. Runnersup in adult judging were Lawrence Lensing of Mount Shasta, Betty Young and Jessie Hammond of Etna.

All prizes were furnished by the Scott Valley Booster Club and were presented by Bob Ranning of Fort Jones. Livestock was provided by the following ranchers: Beef, Brian and Bradley McPeters, Big Springs; Janet and Roland Elsea, Montague; and Ralph Cope, Yreka. Dairy, Oliver Solus, Big Springs; and Vern Burbank, Grenada. Sheep, Bob and Ross Singleton, Yreka; and swine, John Cawley, Yreka.

Official judges for the day were: Beef, Elden Hoy, Weed; dairy, Ralph Cope, Yreka; sheep, Bob Schantz, Yreka; swine, Norman Sears, Grenada. Reasons judges were Clarence Dudley of Etna; Roger Linton, Gazelle and Jim Elsea of Montague.

Top award in sheep went to David Sleep of Greenhorn, with Melanie Dudley, Sandy Holloway and Ross Singleton in second, third and fourth places. In swine judging Robert and David Robustellini, and Jim Brooks of Delphi took the first three places with Kit Ashcraft of Table Rock, fourth.

MRS. PAULINE DAVIS (D-Portola), Second District assemblywoman, with Siskiyou County Supervisor Art Barr inspects proposed Box Canyon dam site. Box Canyon is on the Sacramento River five miles southwest of Mount Shasta.

Assemblywoman Sets Meet On Box Canyon Dam Job

DUNSMUIR - Assemblywoman Pauline Davis said she has arranged a conference in Sacramento later this month "to try to promote some immediate action on the Box Canyon Dam project."

Specifically, Mrs. Davis said she would seek allocation of $100,000 for preliminary engineering studies on the proposed recreation and flood control dam.

The Assembly included that amount in its version of the budget bill in the past legislative session, but the appropriation was cut by the Senate.

Mrs. Davis told Art Barr, Siskiyou County supervisor from Mount Shasta, that she had arranged a meeting in Sacramento July 23 with State Water Director Harvey O. Banks and representatives from the state engineer's office and the Department of Water Resources.

She said she would welcome interest and active support at the conference in Banks' office, and expects a large delegation from Siskiyou County.

She said she also has arranged a meeting August 3 with Ralph Brodey, consultant to the governor on water problems. Brodey will be in Washington at the time of the earlier meeting, she said.

Mrs. Davis said she also had sent an invitation to the July meeting to Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka. Collier told Herald and News Correspondent Peggy Walsh that he intended to work on the Box Canyon Dam project next year, but that he thought $100,000 was too much money for a preliminary engineering survey. He said he sought to broaden the scope to include other dam projects in Siskiyou County.

Officers Named By Weed Lions

WEED - New officers of the Weed Lions Club were installed last Friday night by Cethyl Jones, international counselor of Lions District No. 4, Dunsmuir.

Installed at the annual dinner meeting were Irvin Andreazza, president; Rudy Gaynor, first vice president; Dr. Victor J. Thompson, second vice president; Harold C. Campbell, third vice president; Leno Lenzi, secretary and Richard Gould, treasurer.

Lou Sbarbaro was installed as tail twister and Ed Kno, lion tamer. New directors are Charles Powell and Arthur Fish.

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Smith and the 13th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leno Lenzi were celebrated at the meeting.

Members and guests danced after the meeting to music by the Weed High School orchestra.

Water System Reorganized

YREKA-According to a report received from the Soil Conservation Service office here, Rodger Zwaniger, Weed, has recently completed a reorganization of part of his irrigation system.

Zwaniger laid 1,025 feet of 16-inch concrete pipe. The system, which will benefit 40 acres, was designed by the Soil Conservation Service engineers assisting the Shasta Valley Soil Conservation.

The Soil Conservation Service engineers have also completed a topographic survey preliminary to planning a land leveling job and stream-bank work for J. Fred Mitchell of Montague, on his Hornbrook ranch. Mitchell plans to develop 29 acres of irrigated pasture.

Mrs. Davis said she took Assembly initiative in the project because water development is her particular interest and she is promoting similar projects in other counties of her Second District.

The dam, as proposed, would be for recreation and flood control purposes but not provide power or irrigation.

Solon's Bills Aid Miners

WASHINGTON, D.C.-Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif) announced today that he introduced two bills recently to aid gold miners. The first is similar to one introduced by Senator Murray (D-Mont) and others, and would permit the free marketing of gold.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law or executive order or regulation to the contrary, this legislation would permit gold to be acquired, purchased, sold, melted or treated, held in custody, transported, or earmarked by any person or government instrumentality, without penalty or restriction. The secretary of the treasury would be authorized to pay $70 per fine ounce for all gold domestically mined.

The second bill introduced by Senator Engle would confer jurisdiction on the United States Court of Claims to hear, determine and render judgment on the claim of any owner or operator of a gold mine for losses incurred under certain circumstances. These losses were due to the closing or curtailment or prevention of operations of such mine as a result of the restrictions imposed by War Production Board, Limitation Order L-208.

"I believe this whole area should be the subject matter of a thorough-going study by the Congress. I would like to call attention to our presently dwindling gold supply and to the powerful influence that gold may exercise in international affairs hereafter," Senator Engle said.

Members of the Circle N Square Dance Club, and guests from Medford, Dunsmuir, Mount Shasta, Happy Camp and Seiad, joined in a potluck picnic supper prior to the dancing.

Callers for the evening was Floyd Workman, Medford, with Chick Harrison and Art Schuck each taking a stint at calling.

Square Dancers Initiate Floor

YREKA - Approximately 100 square dancers gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robinson in Yreka Saturday evening, July 11, to initiate the new concrete dance floor poured recently in the Robinsons' backyard for holding outdoor square dance sessions.

Members of the Circle N Square Dance Club, and guests from Medford, Dunsmuir, Mount Shasta, Happy Camp and Seiad, joined in a potluck picnic supper prior to the dancing.

Shasta Officer To Head Group

WEED - Harold L. Barnum, Mount Shasta police chief, assumed his duties as newly installed president of the Siskiyou County Peace Officers Association at the July meeting.

Initial plans for "operation roadblock," a system for emergency operation for county law enforcement officers, was outlined at the meeting. William Davis of the State Police Department, Redding, and A. B. Cottar, Siskiyou County sheriff, presented the plan.

Marilyn Sirtani, probation officer, made the arrangements for the meeting.

Colorado River Farmers Told To Leave U.S. Land

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP)-"Squatters, get off the federal government's land!" That's an official ultimatum to farmers along the sandy banks of the Colorado River.

The Department of Interior has ordered some 150 farmers cultivating 27,000 acres of rich land between Hoover Dam and the Mexican border to get out.

The department says the farmers have no business there, as it wants to develop a recreation area along the river which forms the boundary between Arizona and California.

The farmers claim the land is their own. They have banded together under the name of Associated Farmers of the Lower Colorado River to fight for the land in the courts. They concede that the law is the federal government but they believe the moral issue is on the side.

After all, they contend, the money and efforts have been unused, brush-covered land in productive farms which enhance the economy of the area.

The land was withdrawn from public entry by the Department of Interior in 1902. As the rampaging Colorado River burst its banks in flood periodically, it changed its course, leaving islands and shoreline high areas. Then, with the building of Hoover, Davis and Parker dams the river's flow was regulated and more loamy land was exposed.

Pioneers like William Y. Murphy, now president of the Associated Farmers, moved in at the start of clearing the land of jungle of salt cedars and willow. Murphy has been on the land 25 years.

The land's richness has attracted big-scale farmers who raise cotton, alfalfa, cantaloupes and watermelons.

The disputed land includes about 10,000 acres in the Yuma, Arizona area; 10,000 acres in the Palo Verde Valley of California; 4,000 acres in the Parker, Ariz.-Needle, Calif., region; and 3,000 acres of the Cibola Valley of Arizona.

Many of the farmers who have transformed the brush jungles into verdant farms operate on what is known as "The Island" - a 4,000-acre piece of former river bottom near Yuma. More land has been reclaimed south of Yuma.

Rodeo Teams Show Preview

MONTAGUE-Twenty-one teams from various parts of Northern and Southern California put on a preview showing of team roping last Sunday at the Montague Rodeo Grounds. The preview was in preparation for the Shasta Valley Stampede Friday and Saturday nights, July 17 and 18, at Montague.

Activities started about 11 a.m. with team ropers from Red Bluff, Redding, Anderson, Montague, Chiloquin, Merrill and Steel Swamp on hand to demonstrate their skill.

In the three steer average, Stan Cooley and Wayne Spencer of Montague won first average; Dick and Carl Hemsted, father and son team from Redding, were second average winners and Ray and Hermann Vowell of Steel Swamp, third place winners.

In the sweltering afternoon heat, the boys went through their paces in a two-steer average with team Ray Vowell and Dale Sprunt, Merrill, winning the first average, Junior Anderson and Sandy Miller, Chiloquin, won second average, and Junior and George Anderson were third average winners.

Announcer for the afternoon was Wayne Ralston, Grenada. Flagmen were Keith Severs, Montague, and Don Dowling, Etna. Timers were Joyce Snipes and Virginia Stout, both of Redding.

These cowboys, with many more, plan to return for the Shasta Valley Stampede.
