New York Central a point or so. Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin fell about a point apiece while U.S. Steel dropped well over a point. Douglas Aircraft plummeted about 4 in reaction to a dividend omission. Reynolds Metals fell more than 3 in profit taking. Texaco and Johns-Manville rose a point or so while Schering added more than 2. U.S. Treasury bonds were firm to small fractions higher.

Meters Hit By SF Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Engineer Lee Hill appeared in Municipal Court with his attorney and said he was prepared for a last-ditch fight against two overtime parking tickets. But the city moved for dismissal of the citations on the basis of insufficient evidence. The judge granted the motion Thursday. Hill got the tickets last May. He refused to pay the $2 tab on each, arguing he bought 54 minutes time but got only 30 minutes. His attorney protested the court's dismissal.

The point at issue, he said, was not that particular parking meter but "thousands working improperly in the city." Hill complained: "They're worse than Las Vegas slot machines." He surrendered without firing his weapon, although his pockets were loaded with stolen ammunition. He was an 8-year-old boy. The officers said he had taken six boxes of caps from the store for his toy pistol. The boy was delivered to the youth guidance center.

Police Nab 'Desperado'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When Patrolman Lee McVeigh saw the grocery's broken front window at 3:40 a.m., he radioed for reinforcements. Three officers responded in patrol cars. They spotted a figure fleeing around a corner. With drawn guns, the officers pursued and caught the fugitive. He surrendered without firing his weapon, although his pockets were loaded with stolen ammunition.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California Highway Patrol says a malfunction in an air brake compressor unit caused a bus crash which killed a 3-year-old girl and injured scores of youngsters. The bus, carrying 90 Catholic Youth Organization boys, 8 counselors and driver Brady Bolt home from a mountain picnic, raced out of control down a steep grade Tuesday. It smashed into three cars and overturned.

Reason Told In Bus Crash

Patrol Sgt. Del Parker said preliminary investigation showed a unit belt on the air compressor unit stretched and slipped, causing the compressor pump to stop and the brakes to fail. The Archbishop of Albuquerque earlier warned Miss Ingersoll that a decree issued by him four years ago forbidding Catholic girls from taking part in beauty contests clad in bathing suits still stood, but she retorted: "This is an ancient ruling. After all, it's 1959."

Youths Select Wrong Target

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three small boys picked the wrong target when they slid a 25-pound chunk of ice down a steep hill toward an automobile. In the car was Policeman Dennis Johnstone, 35. The ice bounded into the right front fender. Johnstone swerved into a tree and was thrown from the car. Despite cuts and bruises, he fended the boys over backyard fences and collared them.

Artists' Work Upside Down

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While viewing a Joan Miro exhibit at the county museum, Allan Packer took a long look at the contemporary Spanish artists' painting, "Composition—Oil, Rope and Plaster on Canvas." "That painting is upside down," he told officials. And it was. A museum crew rehung it right side up Wednesday.

Prof Encourages Home Shelters

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The government should encourage housing developers to put civil defense features such as nuclear bomb shelters into all new homes, says atomic expert Dr. Willard F. Libby. This would protect the population against nuclear warfare's most terrible hazard—atomic fallout, Libby told a press conference Wednesday. Libby, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission from 1954 until June 30, is now a chemistry professor at UCLA.

Ancient sculptures and written accounts suggest hawking was a popular sport in Egypt, Greece, Persia and Rome.

Water Distillation Plant To Be Aided By A-Energy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Atomic energy will power a proposed California plant to distill fresh water from the Pacific Ocean, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton announced today. He also said that the first of five demonstration water conversion plants will be built by the government at Freeport, Tex., to produce one million gallons of fresh water a day.

The announcements were contained in a speech that Seaton was to have delivered before the American Water Works Association. However, a throat infection prevented him from making the address and it was delivered for him by Allen Cywin, assistant director of the Office of Saline Water in the Department of Interior.

Shapely Gals Seek Win

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Shapely beauties gathered here from throughout the world seeking to win the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant spent today getting used to the ogling of American men. The 76 girls from 34 foreign countries and most of the United States were slated for a day of shopping and sightseeing.

Three more entrants—Miss Turkey, Miss Belgium and Miss Italy—are expected to join their 76 competitors here tonight. Most of the beauties arrived in a plane from New York Thursday and were greeted by some 2,000 cheering, wide-eyed aficionados of the feminine curve.

The foreign entrants were attractively turned out in costumes native to their country and elicited their due volume of "ohs" and "ahs" from the appreciative crowd. One of the girls will be joining in the contest despite the threat of a Catholic Archbishop that she and her family would be denied the sacraments of the church if she appears in public in a bathing suit.

She is Sue Ingersoll, 20-year-old Miss New Mexico. She issued a "statement of conscience" Thursday night proclaiming her determination to take part in the seven-day contest officially getting under way Saturday night. Miss Ingersoll's statement read in part: "I do not feel that it is in any way immoral to appear in the contest in a swim suit. I can dispel the dangerous notion that Catholics cannot speak for themselves, or if they do, they are no longer Catholics."

The Archbishop of Albuquerque earlier warned Miss Ingersoll that a decree issued by him four years ago forbidding Catholic girls from taking part in beauty contests clad in bathing suits still stood, but she retorted: "This is an ancient ruling. After all, it's 1959."

Mayors Seek Veto Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States conference of mayors wants Congress to hold public hearings on President Eisenhower's veto of a federal housing bill. The 400 delegates at the closing session of the annual conference also described as unacceptable the administration's compromise housing bill. The delegates said the administration bill provides for no public housing and would subject urban renewal projects to additional red tape. Other resolutions praised the President's Berlin policy but criticized his veto of a four-year extension of the Federal Airport Act. Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago was elected president, succeeding Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson.

Chicago Man Drowns In Lake

CHICAGO (UPI)—An airlines stewardess from San Francisco tried in vain Tuesday to save her fiancé from drowning. George Bureau, 24, Chicago, drowned in an artificial lake in suburban Palos Park. Miss Laura Valenti, 22, San Francisco, said Bureau tried while they were swimming, turned to her and said, "Honey, I can't make it any longer."

Could Survive A War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House appropriations subcommittee made public Thursday night testimony in which Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John A. McCone said a nuclear war would not wipe out all civilization. "Despite the effects of the nuclear war on the countries involved and the less serious, but still serious, effects on the countries immediately adjoining them, the balance of the world would not be disastrously affected," McCone said.
