Hottest Dog In History May Live To Be 15 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — If they can beat the law of averages and the laws of nature, the Atomic Energy Commission's pack of hound dogs may become hawking scientific successes.

At least one of them will have to live to the ripe old canine age of 15 years. If he makes it, he will be the hottest dog in history.

The law of averages is against the approximately 400 dogs of the AEC being used in a 15-year experiment on the effects of radiation. The average life of a dog, say commission experts, is 7 to 10 years.

And the laws of nature, as currently interpreted, say that not even the average dog can stand the amount of radiation the commission's animals will be exposed to.

Dr. C. J. Dunham, director of the AEC Division of Biology and Medicine, said he has "a hunch that the last dog may live as long as 15 years from birth."

"Every time you set up a biology experiment, nature has a way of fooling you," Dr. Dunham said.

If the doctor's hunch is right, the beagle or foxhound that survives is likely to be so hopped-up it is likely to be so hopped-up a rocket.

Dr. Dunham explained the experiments to the House Appropriations Committee during recent hearings on the AEC's fiscal 1960 budget. He elaborated in a subsequent interview.

Two groups of dogs are being used in the tests, one group of beagles at the University of Utah and another group of foxhounds at the University of California School of Agriculture at Davis.

There's not a mongrel in the lot. "They have to be the best," Dr. Dunham said.

Except for the addition of a little radium, plutonium, strontium 90 and thorium to their diets from time to time, the dogs eat what the average well-cared-for dog should eat.

"They have a very carefully planned diet," Dr. Dunham said. They seem to be enjoying a normal dog's life, too, the doctor explained, although from time to time one of them will pass out permanently from an overdose of something or other.

The experiments have been going on since 1951. Dr. Dunham said he believes that when the results are all in—the last dog is all out—"We will have a very good idea of what actually is a permissible body burden for any of those elements in the human body."

Tulsa Killed In Explosion

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A young Tulsa was killed and his wife critically injured Sunday when a violent explosion leveled their six room brick house as they prepared breakfast.

Killed was Charles R. Conwell, 21. His wife, Caroline, 17, is hospitalized in critical condition.

"We are convinced the blast was caused by a natural gas leak under the house from an alleyway service line which, connected with the kitchen range," said Fire Marshal Earl Wagner.

The blast was felt a mile away. It shattered windows in houses several blocks around in the middle class neighborhood and heavily damaged residences on either side.

W. B. McKim, an uncle of Conwell, said it appeared the victim may have been lighting the kitchen range when the blast came.

He said Mrs. Conwell was in the dining room preparing to serve breakfast.

Raymond Tucker, who lives next door was thrown from bed by the blast and cut with flying glass.

American Day Founder Dead

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The founder of "I Am an American Day" is dead.

The Rev. Dr. A. Watson Brown, 80, collapsed and died Sunday shortly after he finished teaching a Sunday school class in nearby National City.

Dr. Brown was the retired pastor of the First Baptist Church in National City and had served other churches in Marshall, Mich., Covina and Sacramento, Calif.

He conceived the idea of "I Am an American Day" in 1937, proposing to the Sons of the American Revolution that a day be set aside to honor those who became citizens through naturalization. President Roosevelt officially proclaimed the observance soon after.

SHOESTRING REPUBLIC
The ribbon-like form of Chile has given this country the nickname of "shoestring republic." Close to 2,700 miles long, it has an average width of only 87 miles.
