

Industry Ability Doubted By Steel Board Chairman

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the steel industry stop wage-price inflation in America?

Roger Blough, the industry's top leader as board chairman of United States Steel Corp., is dubious. But he says it's sure worth a real attempt.

"You never know until you try," Blough said in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press. "We think some good will come of it."

Blough relaxed easily as he discussed issues in the nine-day steel strike with a reporter at his corporation's plush skyscraper offices in New York's financial district.

He wore conservative blue and spoke softly with sureness and with feeling.

"I don't think any one company or industry can do this job of stemming inflation," he said.

He noted that other industries have been granting hefty wage boosts this year.

But he voiced a hope that "depending upon the outcome of our stand" in steel, other employers will lend a hand in resisting inflation.

The bargaining stalemate that led to the steel strike is rooted in the industry's position that it won't give up any new wage and benefit increases to members of the United Steelworkers unless there are offsetting labor cost savings.

Asked if the steel industry intends to maintain that stand, Blough said, "That certainly is our purpose."

"I believe the country understands the problem of inflation better than it did 10 years ago, or even two or three years ago," he said. "More people are interested in doing something about it."

Blough said it wasn't a matter of freezing wages throughout the nation. What steel wants stopped, he said, is the constant increase in employment costs—the industry's total labor bill.

Murderer Given Release By State Of Washington

OLYMPIA (AP) — The state of Washington, under order from a U. S. District Court to release Geither Horn from the penitentiary, has given the convicted murderer an earned parole.

DUFFER'S DILEMMA

LONDON (UPI)—Bob Hope said the Monte Carlo golf course he played last week was a line one. But Hope said he had a problem. He played with his friend, the Rev. Pardee Erdman, and "I've got a crick in the neck through having to turn my head every time I want to swear."

said Tuesday that Horn, 64, was paroled Monday instead of given his outright release because the state plans to appeal a ruling of Federal Judge Gus Solomon of Portland.

Judge Solomon ordered Horn's release on a writ of habeas corpus and called the case "one the state of Washington cannot be proud of."

Horn, a Negro, served 23½ years in the state prison at Walla Walla for the fatal beating of an unidentified transient near Pasco. He was convicted in Franklin County Superior Court Feb. 11, 1935, denying Horn's request for a writ of habeas corpus.

Horn, in his petition to Judge Solomon, claimed that prior to his trial in 1935 he had been taken at night to the edge of an open grave and told, in effect, he would be buried alive if he did not confess.

The county sheriff at the time of Horn's arrest denied the charge but said Horn had been taken out of jail one night to "visit the scene of the crime."
