Youth Hurt In Accident

MOUNT SHASTA — Young San Francisco resident, Richard A. Kraft, 24, is in serious condition at Mount Shasta Hospital as a result of a three-car collision four miles north of Mount Shasta at 6:20 p.m. Monday.

William Andrew Perala, 50, of Weed told officers he was east-bound on the Abrams Lake road, intending to make a left turn into Highway 99. Perala apparently pulled into the path of two rapidly moving southbound cars.

Richard Kraft was driver of the first car, followed by a car driven by Cleo Toms, 18, of Weed. Gary Scott, 16, also of Weed, was a passenger in the Toms' vehicle.

All four persons involved in the wreck were taken to the hospital at Mount Shasta. Kraft was the only one with serious injuries.

Attending physicians said today that Kraft, with internal chest and abdominal injuries, had received nine units of blood in transfusions during the night. Mount Shasta's supply of blood was depleted and an emergency run was made to Redding about 3 a.m. for more.

Preliminary reports from the highway patrol state no citations have been issued, since it is impossible to obtain a statement from Kraft and only incomplete statements from Toms and Scott.

Hawaiians To Cast First Ballot Today

HONOLULU (AP)—The nation's newest state votes today in its first election.

From Hilo to Honolulu, the melting pot of people who live on this 300-mile island chain, cast ballots for two U.S. senators, one representative, a governor and a 76-member state Legislature. The polls close at 10:30 p.m. EST. It appeared certain — for the first time in U.S. history—that a person of Japanese or Chinese ancestry would be sent to Congress. Republicans conceded their underdog role but hoped to upset predictions of a Democratic sweep by grabbing several major offices.

Democrats made a strong showing in the June primary and have won Hawaii elections since 1954. Election officials predicted a record vote, perhaps 90 per cent of the 183,099 registrants.

Street Dance Held Success

FORT KLAMATH—After a long series of days with the thermometer registering in the 90s, the weather was pleasantly cool for Fort Klamath's ninth annual Western street dance last Saturday night. The affair attracted many from outside points, as well as from the Fort Klamath vicinity. Students of Mrs. Frank Strahan and Mrs. Hollis Kizer presented four important events in early Oregon history in a pantomime narrated by Jon Wilson. Following the program, the children gave exhibition dances. Kim Kizer, Fort Klamath grade school pupil, called for the square dancing.

A four-piece orchestra, including Mrs. Roy (Edith) Deffenbacher at the piano; Clifford Daw, guitar; "Moot" Nelson, drums and Ted Walden with his saxophone provided music for the street dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Much credit for the success of the Centennial special event was given Edward Strong, general chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Loosley and committee members who assisted with planning and serving.

Pilots Slate Sunday Fly-Ins

Two fly-ins in Oregon are expected to draw visitors from the Klamath Falls Chapter, Oregon Pilots Association on Sunday, August 2. Lebanon Days will be celebrated at the Lebanon airport, with breakfast and an all-day air show sponsored by the Lebanon Chapter OPA. During the afternoon the annual Portland Jaycee Air Show is on the agenda for Hillsboro following a breakfast.

Other air trips planned include the fly-in during the Oregon State Fair, Salem, sponsored by the Salem Chapter, OPA, the Pendleton Roundup, the Buckaroo Breakfast at Redmond and later air tour to Reno.

Most Hawaii attention was focused on the race for governor, pitting Democrat John A. Burns against Eisenhower - appointed Gov. William F. Quinn.

Burns, 50, serving a second term as elected delegate to Congress, piled up 69,152 votes in winning the Democratic nomination June 27 from a comparatively unknown opponent.

Quinn, 40, got 49,531 votes in running unopposed for the Republican candidacy.

Burns is backed by Harry Bridges' Longshoremen's Union which claims 24,000 sugar, pineapple and dock workers here.

Quinn has endorsement of AFL-CIO unions, with a claimed membership of 15,000.

Democrats believe they have a sure winner in Japanese-American Daniel K. Inouye, 34, running for Hawaii's lone House seat.

Inouye, youngest nominee in the major races, is a lawyer and territorial senator. He served in World War II in Europe with the "Go for Broke" regimental combat team, made up entirely of Americans of Japanese ancestry. Inouye lost his right arm in combat.

Opposing him is Dr. Charles K. Silva, 55, a dentist who is director of public institutions.

Two oldtimers in island politics are contesting for one of the Senate seats.

They are Oren E. Long, 70, former appointed governor and longtime territorial legislator, and Wilfred C. Tsukiyama, 62, territorial senator and elder statesman of island politicians of Japanese ancestry.

For the other Senate seat, Hawaii-born Republican Hiram L. Fong, 52, millionaire Chinese-American businessman, is opposing Connecticut-born Frank F. Fesi, 38, a territorial senator who scored the only upset of the primary by winning the Democratic nomination.

The list of 158 candidates for major offices and the Legislature reflects the racial mixture of Hawaii's population. It includes 56 Japanese-Americans, 12 Chinese-Americans, 3 of Korean descent and 2 of Filipino descent. The rest are Caucasians or of Hawaiian and mixed blood.

Hawaii's first governor will serve until Dec. 3, 1962. He will receive $25,000 a year, a boost of $6,000 over the present appointed executive.

The two U.S. senators will serve two, four or six years. Their terms will be decided by the Senate, probably by drawing lots as in Alaska's case last year.

The first representative will serve only until Jan. 3, 1961.

Hawaii's three-man congressional delegation could be seated during the current session.

HAPPILY ADJUSTED to their new life in the United States, John and Joseph Poulos, recently released from a Greek orphanage, play at the home of their new parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Poulos, Lakeview. The attractive, 4-year-old twins were adopted by the Lakeview couple through the International Social Services, New York City.

Sympathetic Women Face Charges Of Too Many Cats

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI)—Two women who face trial on charges of keeping in their home 147 more cats than the legal limit of three pleaded today for "sympathetic understanding" from their annoyed neighbors.

"What will happen to our family," asked Aura Hardison. "We do not breed our cats, merely provide a home for the homeless."

But in court Monday when the women were arraigned, Richard L. Vernon, who lives two houses away, said: "I know this is America and the women have certain liberties, but this has gone beyond reason. Everyone has a right to a hobby but this defies convention."

And Bob Meyer, another neighbor, said he attends Glendale College and finds studying hard going. "It's difficult to concentrate on studies on a hot night as my bedroom is 10 feet from the cat compound," he said. "And if the cats fight, they always wait until 1:30 a.m."

Miss Hardison admitted she and Marian Martin housed 150 cats in their plush stucco home in defiance of a recent city ordinance making housing of more than three cats unlawful without a kennel permit. But she said her application for such a permit was turned down.

Both women pleaded innocent to charges of operating a kennel without a license and asked for a jury trial Aug. 20.

Novosibirsk, Soviet Union (AP)—About 20,000 friendly, applauding Russians gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the warmest welcome of his Soviet tour when he arrived in this Siberian city today for a goodwill visit.

Nixon arrived amid solid signs he was considering more and more favorably a recommendation that President Eisenhower invite Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States for a visit.

Foreign Twins Find New Home In Lakeview Now

LAKEVIEW—Greek and American relations are of the very finest as far as two little black-haired, dark eyed twin boys are concerned.

The youngsters are John and Joseph Poulos, 4 years old. They arrived here recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Poulos. They were adopted by the Lakeview couple through the International Social Services, New York City, and were met in New York by Mrs. Poulos who made the round trip by plane.

Besides having a mother and father, food, in quality and quantity, seemed at first to be their greatest joy. Born in Athens, they were released from an orphanage where bread, milk and goat cheese were the mainstays of diet. Mrs. Poulos was warned that she might have a diet problem with them, but it's far from being a problem. She says the way they clean their plates of every particle of food at every meal is a lesson to children of American friends and neighbors.

Shortly after the children arrived, Mr. Poulos' father, John Poulos of Paonia, Colorado, who is also a native of Greece, came to visit with them and converse with them in their native language.

However, language remains no barrier and they are picking up English with a speed that surprises their new parents. They also have learned quickly when mother is getting ready to go to town, and a ride in the car has added another joy in this new life full of successive surprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Poulos have wanted for some time to adopt a child from Greece but they had been moving around the country too often to qualify under the adoption rules. Now, with Poulos as general manager of the Lakeview Mining Company, they have a settled location and found themselves fortunate enough to obtain two children.

There is no age problem in securing children from Greece and many other countries in Europe, the Lakeview couple states. There were 10 children from Greece in the plane load which brought these boys and they ranged in age from five months to 8 years. There are so many more children over there needing adoption that the Poulos family is eager to offer any information to interested persons.

Bob Says -- Waterproof Your Watch For Summer!

Summertime activities expose your watch to water and perspiration more than usual. The average "waterproof" watch must be re-sealed every 1 1/2 to 2 years due to the deterioration of the rubber gaskets in the winding crown and case back, or a cracked crystal. Let Bob waterproof your watch now before it's too late with a new crown, new crystal, and new case gasket all sealed with "silicone" the miracle waterproofer.
