Canadians Cut Death Terms

OTTAWA (AP) - Capital punishment has been reduced in Canada since the Conservatives came to power two years ago.

Under Canadian criminal law, the courts must sentence anyone convicted of murder to death. But the federal Cabinet decides whether a murderer hangs or receives a life sentence instead.

The Conservatives' reduction of death sentences has led to criticism in some quarters that the Cabinet is making a mockery of court decisions.

Lester B. Pearson, Liberal leader in the House of Commons, said that if the government wants to abolish death sentences, it should propose such a change in Canadian law and let Parliament decide.

But Justice Minister Edmund D. Fulton said in an interview the Cabinet's policy is no indication that the government wants to abolish capital punishment.

There should certainly be no feeling on the part of a judge that in commuting a death sentence we are reversing him," he added, contending that there is a difference between the court's responsibility to administer the law and the Cabinet's duty to exercise its law-given prerogative of mercy.

That is a responsibility a Cabinet cannot evade," Fulton said.

ICC Prohibits Lumber Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday issued a new dictum against deliberate in-transit delays on lumber shipments moving from Rocky Mountain-Pacific territory to eastern markets.

It directed seven western railroads to cancel, not later than Sept. 8, revisions in their published operating regulations which permitted such shipments to be held up along the way for as much as 15 days.

The arrangement, made effective by the seven lines on June 2, allowed small western sawmills without storage yards to turn out lumber and immediately start it toward the east while brokers were finding a buyer.

When a sale for the shipments was concluded, the railroad was then directed where to route it.

The ICC prohibited transit delays several years ago over protests by the small mill owners that many would be forced out of business if this long-standing practice were banned.

The ICC held the practice contributed to car shortages and opening a form of free warehousing for the shipper not provided for in railroad operating rules.

In July of last year, Canadian railroads offered lumber shippers 15 days of free parking for lumber cars headed toward the east.

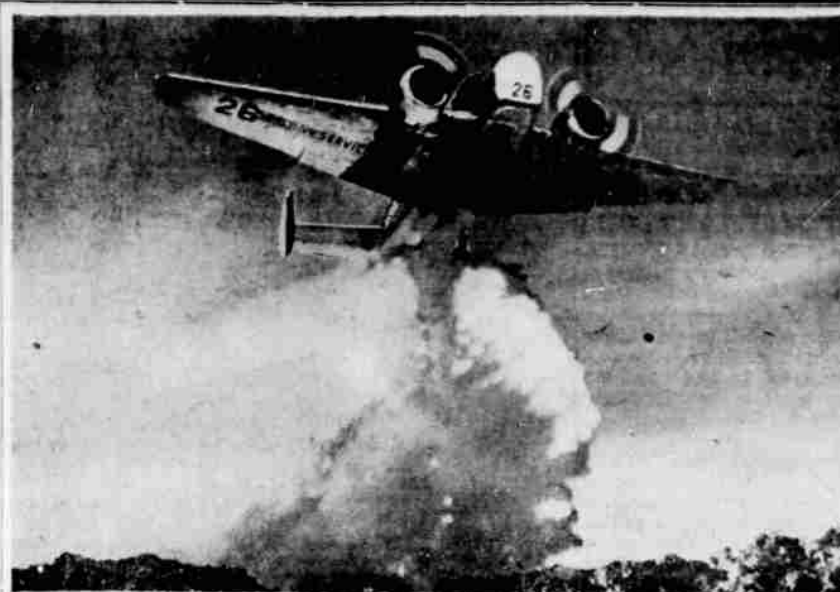

Thereafter, proposed changes in the published rules to provide the same thing were announced by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway; the Rock Island; the Milwaukee; the Denver & Rio Grande Western; the Illinois Central; the Minneapolis & St. Louis; and the Soo Line.

The commission, in rejecting the plan, said the system discriminated against lumber producers who did business only on a firm order basis, that is shipping only after the product had been sold.

Schools Renew Health Program

DUNSMUIR - The third year of an intensified health program in Dunsuir schools will begin with opening of the fall term.

Health education and preventive training are the major objectives of the program, Mrs. Emily Gibson, school health supervisor, explained.

A new procedure was adopted at the high school last year, Mrs. Gibson said, in checking students returning to school following illness.

Regular medical and dental checkups are urged by the school health department, Mrs. Gibson emphasized, and parents of incoming freshmen are reminded of this health precaution by letter.

Each Dunsuir student has a physical record which is kept all through his school years, but Mrs. Gibson says emphasis on height and weight is no longer considered important.

Firefighting McCLLOUD - About 180 employees of the McCloud River Lumber Company were on the fire lines at the Pollard Flat fire in Shasta County the past week.

Thirsty Bandit DUNSMUIR - Police are pondering the case of the thirsty bandit. Someone sawed through the hasp of a padlock and broke into Williams warehouse last Friday night.

Dunsuir Staff Said Completed

DUNSMUIR - The 26-teacher staff of the Dunsuir Elementary School is now complete, Roger Ellis, principal, informed the members of the board of trustees at the August meeting.

Bernard LaChance who is completing summer school at the University of California at Berkeley will teach sixth grade and Dorothy Chedister of Mount Shasta has signed a contract to teach fourth grade.

Mrs. Chedister has many years of teaching experience and is returning to the profession after raising her family, Ellis told the board.

The other new member of the faculty is Mrs. Harriet Spatafora who taught at Weed last year. She will teach fifth grade.

The school has been granted $8,000 by the Siskiyou county school board toward the purchase of a supplementary school bus and board members accepted specifications at the August 3 session and arranged for immediate advertising for bids.

A $234,426 budget was accepted. The school anticipates an enrollment of 650 students.

A double session schedule was adopted for the first grades due to lack of adequate classroom. The morning session will be 8:30 a.m. till noon and the afternoon, 3:30 to 4 o'clock.

Registration for kindergarten and new students will be August 17 through 22, Ellis announced. The fall term will begin September 10.

Capt. Chester M. Mead, 37, Army flight officer, was returning Tuesday night from south of Los Angeles to San Francisco in one car with his wife and four children following in another car.

"Do you think we ought to get a map?" asked his wife, Dorothy, 37, as they parked momentarily along the freeway.

"No, honey," said Mead. "Just follow me and everything will be okay."

Several hours later Mrs. Mead and the children were "rescued" by police after she lost her husband and her route on the freeway and decided to pull over and "just stay parked" until help arrived.

Mrs. Cown explained her dog had dug up a jar under the lookout containing four pennies and a note saying Bill Wheeler had buried the jar July 20, 1941 while working for the forest service.

The youth had apparently buried the note as an experiment to see how long it would be before someone found it.

Mrs. Cown promised to send the blackened and mildewed note, pennies and jar to Mrs. Wheeler as a memento of her son.

Bill Wheeler, who grew up in Dunsuir, was killed in December, 1944, in the battle of the Philippines.

Montague Trail Riders Set Annual Play Day Sunday

MONTAGUE - The Montague Trail Riders will open the fourth annual season of "Play Days" on Sunday, August 9, at the Montague Rodeo Grounds.

Each year the three riding groups hold three "Play Days," each hosting the other two groups once during the season.

The first Play Day was staged in Montague in 1956, with Montague winning and retaining the trophy. The following year, the three groups voted a traveling trophy be established, to be kept by the team winning it three years in succession.

In 1957, Montague captured the new trophy, but in 1958, the Gazelle Horsemen emerged triumphant and carried it home.

This season promises to be an exciting one with Montague striving to win the trophy back from Gazelle, who will work to keep it, and the Squaw Valley Riders will have a dual purpose in trying to take it away from both Montague and Gazelle.

Sunday, August 9, the Play Day is scheduled to open at 11 a.m., with one round of a "jack pot" team roping event, where all team ropers will "chip in" to make up the purse.

At 1 o'clock, events will begin for the scoring of points towards the trophy. These special events will include pole bending, baton, potato, equipment and balloon races.

Open events, which may be entered by anyone, with ribbon awards to winners, will include calf daubing, barrel racing, four-leaf clover and barrel crawling.

The Montague Trail Riders were organized about five years ago by several people interested in riding from Montague, Grenada, and surrounding areas.

Those originally with the riding group and still active include Miller Brown, Ray Wheeler, Bryan Cannon, Wayne O. Hilston and Warren Nichols.

There are now 24 members, and this year's president is Marion Rizzardo of Grenada.

The Play Day is open to the general public. The only charges will be on sale of hot dogs, coffee and other refreshments.

Ardeth Asher gave a resume of her experiences at the Davis campus in June and said she was particularly impressed with the closing banquet at Girls' State.

This featured the candlelighting ceremony where the girls were reminded of their future responsibilities as citizens.

David Fischer and Richard Bastian were equally appreciative. They were sponsored by Epps Post and the Dunsuir Lions Club.

Dogs Licenses Drag

DUNSMUIR - Fifty nine Dunsuir dogs have become legally acceptable inhabitants of the community since July 1 when the 1959-60 licensing period became effective.

The Dunsuir city clerk's office records showed on August 3, this is only a small percentage of the dog population.

Errol Beaughan, city clerk, estimates. Last year only 323 dog licenses were issued by the clerk's office.

The city dog ordinance does not provide penalties for a non-licensed dog unless it is picked up as a public nuisance.
