Botulism Kills 3 Of Family

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Botulism, a rare form of food poisoning, killed another member of a family here Thursday.

Kenneth Nelson, 45, Kansas City, Mo., was the third member of his family to die since they ate from a jar of home-canned beets. His daughter, Wanda, 15, and his stepfather, Aaron Gruwell, 74, died shortly after the family was stricken last week.

Nelson's wife, Naomi, 41, remained in critical condition but hospital authorities said they noted some improvement. She was allowed to leave an iron lung Thursday. In its most severe form, botulism paralyzes the breathing muscles.

Two other members of the family, Lavinia Gruwell and Martha Nelson, 4, were reported improving at a hospital here. All were stricken while the Nelsons were visiting at the Gruwell farm. Mrs. Gruwell is Nelson's mother.

Civic interests here have started a fund-raising drive to aid the surviving members of the family. It includes three Nelson children who didn't eat any of the poisoned beets.

GRANGE NEWS

Members of Midland Grange worked many hours on community improvement projects recently to spark the unit's drive to win a prize in the 12th annual $60,000 Grange Community Service contest, Mayme Cammock, chairman, said.

Midland is one of about 5,000 grange units competing for prizes. First prize is $10,000 offered by the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, co-sponsor of the contest with the National Grange. Other cash awards worth $50,000 will be given.

National grange master, Herschel D. Newsom, says the contest's purpose is to encourage rural self help in solving community problems. He adds that since the contest began 12 years ago, volunteer workers have contributed more than 50 million man-hours to local community service projects. Resultant improvements are valued at 500 million dollars.

National finalists will be announced September 23. A judging committee of five nationally-known agricultural and educational leaders will visit each of the top 10 granges to inspect results before selecting winners of the first prize, the $5,000 second prize and the $3,000 third prize and other cash awards. Winners will be announced October 21.

Pony-Tail Killer Gets Life Term

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pony-tailed killer Rosemarie (Penny) Bjorklund faces a life prison sentence today with the same non-chalance she has exhibited since her arrest.

The plump, 18-year-old blonde was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced Thursday by Judge Frank Blum, who tried the case without a jury. He called the killing "wanton, willful."

Penny testified she shot gardener August Norry because she wanted a human for target practice. Blum ordered her to Corona State Prison for Women.
