

Actress Margaret O'Brien Plans Saturday Wedding

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Remember that little girl with the freckled face and the braids? Well, she's grown up and getting married Saturday.

Not the little girl who lived next door. But Margaret O'Brien, the child screen star whose wistful charm won millions of fans.

Margaret, now a serene 21-year-old brunette beauty and again a busy actress after an awkward year's absence, weds Harold Robert Allen Jr., 24, a commercial art student.

The ceremony will be conducted in St. Martin of Tours Roman Catholic Church. The couple will honeymoon in Hawaii. Upon their return, Margaret plans to continue her career, Harold his studies.

Margaret says they met four years ago on a double date — with other partners. They have been going steady a year.

Harold is the son of Harold R. Allen, an aircraft design specialist. Margaret's mother, Mrs. Gladys O'Brien, a former dancer, died a year ago.

Margaret decided she wanted to be a movie actress at the age of three. It was not until she was five that she made it.

A picture of Margaret on a magazine cover resulted in her first picture assignment — a government short film starring James Cagney. Then she appeared with Mickey Rooney in "Babes on Broadway."

Margaret became a star in the picture, "Journey for Margaret," portraying a British war orphan.

Starring roles followed in "The Lost Angel," "Canterville Ghost," "Meet Me in St. Louis" and many others.

She was earning $2,500 a week when she was nine.

She won an Academy award in 1944 as the best child actress and was named one of the 10 top box-office stars in 1943 and 1946.

She and her fiancé ran into a momentary snag when they went to get their marriage license Thursday. They forgot to bring any money. The clerk wouldn't take Harold's check.

"What'll we do now?" Margaret asked.

A reporter cashed Harold's $2 check.

"Chivalry isn't dead," Margaret smiled.

LARRY WETTER

UF-RC Names Lumber Head

The appointment of Larry Wetter as chairman of the lumber and industry division of the 1960 United Fund-Red Cross drive was announced today by Paul Cruikshank, drive chairman.

Wetter is relatively a newcomer to the Klamath Basin. The position of sales manager for the frame factory of CarAdCo Incorporated brought him here in June, 1955. Wetter came to Klamath Falls from Fort Dodge, Iowa. He is a graduate of Iowa State University.

Last year Wetter began service with the local United Fund by managing some UF work in CarAdCo.

Wetter has a son 26 months old. He is a member of Reames Golf and Country Club. When asked about special interests he replied that he is enthusiastic about outdoor sports possible in Klamath County, especially golf and skiing on water or snow.

The lumber and industry division includes all allied lumber businesses as well as farm implement houses, transportation, and utilities. Larger lumber, utilities, and transportation firms employing over 100 are being solicited by the large firms divisions this year. This is one of the major changes in the campaign organization this year.

This year's drive effort will kick off September 15.

Extension Agent Decries Farm Problem Half-Truths

LAKEVIEW—Almost any publication you pick up these days contains somebody's expert opinion on present agricultural policy, says Oris Rudd, Lake County extension agent.

It is amazing the amount of misinformation and half-truth which is being printed on the farm problem, he continues. For instance, a recent editorial in one of the nation's leading magazines bitterly denounced the farm program and went on at some length decrying the "huge" subsidies to farmers.

Not one word, however, Rudd said, was mentioned about the fact that this same magazine enjoys government subsidy to the tune of 7 1/2 cents per copy—more than 1-3 of newsstand price.

In rebuttal to the public opinion that accuses the government of "tossing nine billion dollars away this year on farm commodities," economist Walter Wilcox, senior specialist for agriculture in the Library of Congress, says the real danger to our whole national economy is if we permit our farm programs to be destroyed. If it had not been for the present farm programs and the soil bank, he explains, farmers would have lost another four to six billion dollars a year out of their income.

Here are two key facts that the public should be aware of concerning the nine billion dollar investment the government has in farm commodities, according to Arthur W. Stockdale, editor of "Agriculture Outlook."

Fact No. 1. The government will get back at least 70 cents on each dollar of this investment as it disposes of the commodities. The overall recovery rate since the price support program was started 25 years ago is 84 cents on each dollar. Thus, instead of a nine billion dollar loss that the public thinks is involved because of the way the federal officials play up the information, the biggest possible loss would be $2 1/2 billion, maybe even less, if market prices should start to rise in the years ahead.

Fact No. 2. The nine billion dollars has been pumped directly into the economy. Most of it went to farmers who in turn spent it in their local communities, thus helping to stimulate business. Hundreds of millions were paid to processors, rail and truck companies, the storage industry, and so forth. These expenditures fan out through the economy and affect such things as industrial production, city employment and consumer incomes.

Flavored Cigs Being Studied

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you like to play the gracious host, and your guests sometimes ask for cigarettes, you may shortly find yourself inquiring: "Cinnamon or chocolate?"

Or maybe: "How about trying a new-mown hay?"

The prospect of flavored cigarettes was discussed at a news conference Thursday by George Weissman, vice president and director of marketing for a major tobacco company, Philip Morris.

"The cigarette industry," he said, "is in the process of a revolution. There is a possibility that the cigarettes we smoked a scant five years ago may become obsolete."

"The American public has let us know they will buy flavor. To that end, many cigarette companies are right now testing cinnamon flavor, chocolate — even new-mown hay."

Weissman didn't say when cinnamon cigarettes may appear in stores. But he did report that flavored smokes are being tried out on some 40,000 housewives around the country.

City Takes Over

PORTLAND (AP)—There will be no more boudoir pink or candy striped fire hydrants in Portland.

Fire Chief Hal Simpson said Thursday the city will take over the painting chores to end splash jobs administered by some citizens.

Retired to Write

After the release of Jefferson Davis on bail, proceedings against him were dropped and he retired to his Mississippi estate, where he wrote "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government."

Falling Tree Kills Woman

LONGMIRE, Wash. (AP)—A young woman chaperon for a party of vacationing New York teenagers was crushed to death Thursday when a root-studded tree stump tumbled down on top of the group's bus.

The mishap, in the Mt. Rainier National Park about 64 miles southeast of Seattle, killed Mrs. Marilyn Friedman, 23, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Passengers in the bus were showered with glass. Three teenagers were injured slightly.

Mrs. Friedman and her husband, however, were two of several chaperons with the group of 41 vacationers, who call themselves the Rolling Stones.

The party, which makes an annual trip here, had spent three days at the park's Paradise Inn and was returning to Seattle when the bus was stopped by bridge construction. The massive stump, apparently loosened by construction last fall, tumbled from a ledge directly over the stopped bus.

VFW Awards Meany Medal

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars will award its first Americanism Gold Medal to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Selection of Meany was announced Thursday by John W. Mahan, VFW president. The medal will be presented at the VFW convention at Los Angeles Aug. 31.

Mahan said the medal will be awarded annually to "an individual who, through his acts during this past year, has distinguished himself in the cause of American ideals."

Meany will be cited for vigorous opposition to communism, Mahan said.

Deserter Given Warm Reception

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A man who claims he deserted the U.S. Navy in 1917 bounced into the Social Security office Thursday sporting an ensemble of fancy new duds.

He is 72-year-old Lewis E. Clayburg, who arrived in Oakland, Calif., July 18 and attempted to give himself up as a deserter.

The Navy agreed Clayburg had deserted, but declined to prosecute.

It did establish that Clayburg is old enough to qualify for Social Security.

So he got a check Thursday for $1,137 and assurance of $80 monthly.

The story of Clayburg's troubles also got him a $100-a-month job as maintenance man at an apartment house here, so he says he'll just keep the $1,137 in back payments for a rainy day.

Infant 'JAILED'

DES MOINES (UPI)—A 14-week-old boy was in jail today serving a three-day sentence with his parents. The parents, Alfred D. Clark, 48, and his wife, Kathryn, 39, were sentenced Thursday after pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication. Then Judge Harry B. Grund learned that the baby, Alfred Jr., was breast-fed. Judge Grund ordered that the child stay with his mother.
