

High School Students Find Need For Better Counseling

DUNSMUIR—A sincere concern for a better understanding of the purpose of education and the individual's position in the world was voiced in a student evaluation of the high school program recently released by the Dunsuir High School.

Need for better counseling was stressed in the student report made under direction of the California Association of Secondary School Administrators.

The Dunsuir High School counseling program now provides help in selecting courses of study and in determining college entrance requirements.

Students felt counseling should include employment problems, social problems, college majors, family problems, college choices and personal problems.

The student evaluation committee felt the entire school program was not adequately explained to incoming students and that there should be more emphasis on goals and purposes rather than rules and regulations.

Students thought the school program gives sufficient instruction on qualities contributing to life success, such as manners and morals, how to study, health and social studies.

They would like German, auto shop, advanced biology, calculus, three-year foreign languages and more trade courses added to the curriculum.

Students were high in praise of the faculty, athletic department, science and mathematics departments and scholastic and athletic equipment. But they felt the school site is poor and said more reference books should be provided.

The committee said students should have more school pride but felt the student body does not know how to promote it.

Newell House Keys Given

Editor's Note: The following account of the dedication of the historical Robert Newell House was submitted by Mrs. Julian (Dorothy) Ager of Klamath Falls.

A long awaited event occurred Saturday, August 8, at Champoug, Oregon, when Mrs. Claude G. Stotts of Coos Bay, regent of the Oregon State Society, DAR, received the keys of the Robert Newell House from Mrs. John Y. Richardson, committee chairman, whose vision and resources have been unflinching through four years' effort in guiding her fine restoration committee composed of Mrs. Albert H. Powers, co-chairman, Coos Bay; Mrs. Albert Girod, Salem; Mrs. Karl Engelman, Aurora; Mrs. W. B. Penwarden, Mrs. Theodore A. Knapp and Mrs. June S. Jones, all of Portland.

After the ribbon at the front door was cut by Betsy Fishburn of Washington, D.C., granddaughter of Mrs. Albert H. Powers, during whose state regency the project was started, tours were conducted through the house. Members of the DAR dressed in pioneer costume, served as guides, explaining the history of the furnishings.

A guide in the Masonic Room showed the photostatic copy of the charter of Lodge No. 29, Robert Newell was first worshipful master of this lodge formed in his home by five men. Canby Lodge No. 29 generously returned the furnishings to the original home.

After the raising of the flag by members of the Children of the American Revolution, they assembled on the old Aurora Colony School benches in the Pioneer Schoolhouse located on the Newell House grounds to read to their teacher, Mrs. Owen R. Rhoads, state vice regent, DAR, from a complete set of McGuffey Readers. Dismissal time of the school was marked by an old Seth Thom as clock.

During the weekend of dedication tea was served in the Pioneer Mothers Memorial Cabin by chapter regents of Salem, Albany, Aurora, Hillsboro, McMinnville and Portland. Pioneer descendants of Oregon were honored guests at the dedication. Eulonia Chapter, Klamath Falls, was represented by Mrs. William D. Foster, past regent of the local chapter and Mrs. George Paris, state chairman of American Indians, both former residents of Klamath Falls.

Registration for the audio-visual aids workshop will take place in the college library, Room 101, Chester Squire, instructor, said. A number of persons associated with natural resources and other fields will lecture. They include men from the state forestry, the Fish and Game Department, publishing companies, Don Hunter, head of the University of Oregon audio-visual aids center, and others to be announced.

Squire formerly was principal of Briscoe Elementary School, Ashland. He has been acting director of the college AVA center for the past year. He received a bachelor of science degree at SOC in 1942 and a master of education degree at Colorado State College of Education in 1948.

Classes will continue Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. through 3 p.m.

Aroostook County in Maine is bigger than Connecticut and Rhode Island combined.

School Offers Audio-Visual, Music Classes

Teachers interested in a post-session workshop in elementary school music and audio-visual aids may register at Southern Oregon College Monday, August 10.

Music workshop students may choose for special study particular topics. Director Helen Robinson says special attention will be given to several phases of the course, such as study of American Indian, Latin American and calypso music.

The courses carry both graduate and undergraduate credit in Education 410 G, methods and research material in music, or Music 310, music education in the grades.

Miss Robinson has been a city supervisor of music. She was a member of the Arizona State College music staff before accepting a position with SOC. The class meets in Room 210.

She obtained a master of music degree from Northwestern University, and has been working toward a doctorate in music at the University of California.

Ike To 'Sound Out' Allies Regarding Khrushchev Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower begins his European tour with Allied leaders about Aug. 28, planning to get Western signals straight for his talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower first will fly to London for several days of informal talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. In Sept. he will go to Paris for talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Officials in Washington and Bonn also are discussing a possible meeting with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced these details of the President's European itinerary Friday as the capital continued preparations for Khrushchev's visit Sept. 15. The President will return the visit by going to Moscow later this fall.

The State Department said that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter would accompany the President to his meetings with the Allied leaders.

Hagerty said he did not know whether Mrs. Eisenhower would go to London and Paris with the President.

In announcing the London meeting with Macmillan, Hagerty said that the President "is looking forward to the opportunity presented by the visit to review with the prime minister important aspects of the current world situation."

"This will be the President's first visit to the United Kingdom since he took office," he continued "and he is grateful for the chance to renew his associations with many old friends in the United Kingdom."

The press secretary, announcing the Paris visit, said that Eisenhower "will be happy to have the occasion to discuss with President de Gaulle questions of common interest and looks forward to renewing his old friendship with the President of France."

Hagerty added that the President may visit other areas besides the capitals in Great Britain and France.

One almost certain side trip would take the President to Balmoral Castle in Scotland, where Queen Elizabeth II is vacationing.

Carlos Aguilera is enrolled at Sacramento State. Joe Ammirato will attend California Polytechnic Institute. Betty Bisagno has been accepted by San Francisco State College. Ione Hughes is taking nurses training at Sacramento County Hospital. Carl Kohlbaker has enrolled at Diablo Valley College. Kay Patterson will attend San Mateo Junior College. Marvlee Shelton is enrolled at Oregon State College. Mary Lockart will attend Sacramento Junior College.

Manuel Macias and Dick Padula entered the Army. Roger Palmer and Louis Rossi enlisted in the Air Force. Peter Panek chose the Marine Corps. Other graduates are working or have not listed their college choice.

Savings Retired
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Cain Holmes knows now where her husband kept his savings—in a tire thieves stole from the Holmes' garage.

Holmes, 75, told police Friday he didn't believe in banks and had never told his wife of his secret depository. He kept his funds in a glass jar in an automobile tire, carried off by the culprits.

He said the jar contained five $100 bills. "I've been doing this for 50 years," Holmes said.

Siskiyou Fair Slates Circus

YREKA — The Rudy Brothers' Circus is coming to the Siskiyou County Fair slated for August 21, 22 and 23 at the fairgrounds a mile south of Yreka.

It and a handsome billing will be offered to spectators Friday evening, August 21, and again during the afternoon and evening of the following day.

Circus managers advertise some of their acts this way: The Flying Wards, aerial artists supreme; Roland Tebor and his marvelously trained seals; Albert Fox with his amazing polar bears, the Machinos, acrobatic wizards; Bentley's canine fashion show featuring stunning French poodles; Meynard and Jeanette, unicycle balancing artists; Helene, goddess of flight, in a thrilling trapeze display, plus hosts of clowns.

A herd of performing elephants, horses, monkeys, ponies and other animals will compete with human stars.

Fair Manager Ed Mathews is using the Rudy Brothers Circus, famed as the Shrine Circus this year to give children memories of "the big top." It replaces the traditional rodeo.

Students List College Plans For This Fall

DUNSMUIR — Dunsuir High School graduates are planning to attend a number of colleges this fall, with junior colleges accounting for the major portion of them.

Those who have announced intentions of being part of the first freshman class at the College of the Siskiyou in Weed are Margaret Ake, Anthony Cox, Gary Dickerson, Patti Lynch, David Mason and Richard Ridgeway.

Shasta College will have a number of Dunsuir high graduates enrolling this fall. High school records show Beverly Crowe, Cliff Gould, Marjorie Green, Marjorie Grenvick, Bill Harris, Peggy Marshall and Alvin Perez as planning to attend Shasta College.

Chico State is the next largest choice for the class of 1959 with Jo-Anne Kelby, Katherine Nelson and Susan Thom enrolled. Richard Anderson and Patty McEnery have enrolled at San Jose State College.

Carlos Aguilera is enrolled at Sacramento State. Joe Ammirato will attend California Polytechnic Institute. Betty Bisagno has been accepted by San Francisco State College. Ione Hughes is taking nurses training at Sacramento County Hospital. Carl Kohlbaker has enrolled at Diablo Valley College. Kay Patterson will attend San Mateo Junior College. County Official Goes East; Delegate At 2 Conventions

County Treasurer Eva Cook has returned from a rather complete Cook's Tour of the Midwest. In two weeks she attended two national conventions and won a national office.

Mrs. Cook first planned the trip to attend a convention of the National County Officers Association in Detroit, July 25-30. She was elected to represent county treasurers in Oregon.

Before she left, she was given opportunity to represent both the Mt. Mazama and Ewauna clubs in Klamath Falls at a convention of International Toastmistress Clubs in Minneapolis, July 19-23.

It was quite a trip, the enthusiastic traveler reports. At the county officers' convention she was elected to the National Board of Control of County Treasurers and Finance Officers.

Moreover, she never had been up in a plane before; she never had been quite so far east before, and it happened that she arrived home in the first West Coast Airlines flight from San Francisco—thereby stepping into something of a welcoming committee at the airport.

Theme of the county officers' convention, she said, was county autonomy in the face of growing state and federal governmental activity. Over and over, she said, speakers emphasized that "problems of a county are local, and should be handled by local people."

Speakers included Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers' union president; G. Mennen "Soapy" Williams, Michigan's governor, and Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee. All three of these people are Democrats.

VIENNA (AP)—Anonymous letters criticizing the Communist government are plaguing Red-ruled Czechoslovakia, complains the Communist party daily Rude Pravo.

What's worse, says Rude Pravo, is that many of the critical letters it receives bear the obviously forged signature of influential party functionaries.

Queen Miffs Town Clerk
LERWICK, Shetland Islands (AP)—Tom Johnston says the least the Queen could have done is tell him she's expecting a baby.

"One would have thought that those of wisdom who guide the Queen could have foreseen this possibility and avoided all this trouble," said Johnston, who is the town clerk of Lerwick.

Queen Elizabeth II was to have visited the islands next week and now has canceled the trip after all arrangements have been made and invitations sent out.

"It seems impossible we should have been allowed to make all these preparations then on the eve he told that it is all off."

Johnston's face began to flush when he said he didn't "really wish to comment on this so soon as naturally one's reactions are very violent."

"Personally, after this another visit will be a matter of indifference as there could never be the same anticipation as on this occasion."

Johnston declared the Shetlands have waited a long time for a royal visit—200 years in fact. It's been that long since a reigning monarch set foot on these barren, rock-strewn islands off Britain's north coast.

Internal problems have now beset the islands' fathers.

Who will pay for all the preparations?

What will they do with all the food and drink ordered?

Board Adopts School Budget
DUNSMUIR—A $182,312 budget was adopted by the Dunsuir Joint Union High School board of trustees for the 1959-60 school year at a meeting August 1 at the high school.

This appears to be a lower figure than last year's budget, Del Poe, superintendent, noted, but last year's budget, $188,811, contained about a $12,000 holdover from the previous year for capital outlay. These funds were spent for completion of concrete tennis courts and an athletic yard.

No major capital outlay is planned by the school this year, Poe said. The study hall and library will be separated as recommended by the California Association of Secondary School Administrators and the auditorium will be equipped with tables and used as a study hall.

Margaret Cotter has been employed as a commercial teacher. She will come to Dunsuir from Washington State where she has taught for seven years. This completes the faculty of 15. An enrollment of 200 is anticipated.
