

THE WADING POOL is always a prime attraction on these hot days. Here a group of youngsters are shown in the Moore Park pool escaping the unusual heat of the past few weeks.

A FRIENDLY FAMILY are these three Japanese Sika Deer in the compound at Moore Park. The deer pen is located just above the public picnic grounds at the big park and draws much interest from the thousands of visitors to the park.

A FEW OF THE HERD of a dozen deer at Moore Park are shown here at the feed trough. The deer are kept in a wire pen on the hillside where a good view is afforded by a road around two sides of the big enclosure.

THIS BOBCAT is friendlier by far than his wild cousins and seems to enjoy the loving care given by Moore Park Caretaker Al Knowles. The bobcat is one of the many animals on display at the local municipal park.

AUTHOR QUARANTINED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Patrick Dennis, the author of "Auntie Mame," was in quarantine today at the U.S. Public Health Hospital on Staten Island because he forgot to take a smallpox shot before going to Russia in June. Dennis was put in quarantine on his arrival from Europe Monday when public health officials noted that his vaccination certificate had expired.

TEXAS INTEGRATION

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—About 125 school districts in Texas have been integrated and there are approximately 3,200 Negroes attending classes with 265,000 white pupils out of a statewide enrollment of 1,800,000.
