

Today's Sport Parade Summer Fading Fast For Pro Grid Clubs

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Maybe it's still the good old summertime but the pro football teams already are taking dead aim on each other today and the man and the team on the spot are Johnny Unitas and his Baltimore Colts.

It could be a rough season on both the scrapheap quarterback nobody wanted and the team which he single-handedly led to the National League championship. There's a thin line between rough and dirty football and the Colts in general and Unitas in particular can expect this line to virtually disappear.

Yet, even with everybody out to get the Colts, the only sure winner seems to be the game of pro football which clinched its spot as a top drawer draw with

Eugene, Lewiston Winners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Nelson is finding it's one night and down the next in the Northwest League.

He slammed out two home runs, a single and sacrifice Tuesday night and drove in eight runs for Tri-City. Wednesday night he struck out four times and walked once as the Braves were beaten by Eugene, 8-4.

Pete Gongola hit a ninth inning home run to give Yakima a 3-2 win over Wenatchee and a 1½ game NWL lead. Lewiston took advantage of walks and wildness in beating Salem 8-4.

Nelson and the other Braves were frustrated by the seven-hit pitching of Bob Bolin. Back-to-back homers by Dick Powloe and Chuck Hiller gave the Emeralds a four-run third and more than enough margin.

Duke Ducole drove in both Wenatchee runs with singles and gave the Chiefs a 2-0 lead. Then Cal Henry singled in Gongola and Roger Morgan in the fourth and set the stage for Gongola's final frame blast.

Gary Rushing hit a two-run homer to give Lewiston a 4-2 lead in the sixth. Then, after a single score in the seventh, the Braves pushed across three more in the eighth on three hits, three walks and two wild pitches.

Among the things a pitcher has to worry about is the "Comeback ball." This is the ball hit directly at him, sometimes at a 90 miles-an-hour speed.

Here's a simulated puzzle involving a comeback ball. You're a baseball expert if you can produce the correct decision.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees is batting in the last of the second inning against Cleveland. Herb Score is the Indians' pitcher. On the first pitch, Mantle drives a low line drive past Score which hits the pitcher's rubber and bounds into foul territory between home plate and third base. The fleet Mantle reaches second base without drawing a throw.

- Do you think that:
- Mantle should remain on second?
 - Mantle should be ordered back to first?
 - The ball should be called "foul."

Answer: C—The ball should be called "foul." If, without touching the pitcher's rubber and bounds into foul territory between home and third, it is a foul ball.

Woodson SF 49er Defender

MORAGA, Calif. (UPI) — Abe Woodson, one of University of Illinois' all-time ball-packing heroes, is going to play defense again for the San Francisco Forty Niners this year.

And, according to Abe, it is a fine assignment.

Woodson, one of the few men in professional football who still possesses all his own pearly white teeth, says he prefers the defense.

"There's more action on the defense," says Woodson. "You have a chance to get in a good bodily contact job on nearly every play. When you are playing on the offense, you might be carrying the ball, and thus get in the play, only once out of a half dozen plays."

MORE PLAY, LESS PAY

It's obvious that Honest Abe isn't interested in big money. Ball-packing stars like Hugh McElhenny of the Forty Niners and Ollie Matson of the Los Angeles Rams draw down something like $20,000 per season.

Most defensive backs, if they are lucky, will make up to $11,000 for six months of rough-and-tumble competition in which they have a good chance to get all their teeth—not to mention their brains—kicked out.

"We aren't even considering using Abe on offense," says coach Red Hickey, who is in his first year as a head man of the Forty Niner club. "He's too valuable to us on defense. We've got to have him there."

Hickey's big problem this year is the defense—especially working out a plan to stop the foe's running attack.

"The opposition averaged 5.4 yards every time they carried the ball against us last season," says Hickey. "That demoralizes a club. We've got to put a stop to this."

TWO KEY MEN

Woodson, of course, isn't heavily responsible for stopping the ground game. He's in the secondary. The big man in these plans is 225-pound linebacker Bob Harrison from Oklahoma, a rookie with a world of potential.

"But for the secondary on running, and for the pass defense, you have to have men like Woodson back there," Hickey points out. "You will note that our pass defense last year was one of the best in the league."

"Some of that was due to Woodson's effectiveness. Now, if Abe has another good year back there, and if Harrison handles the line-backing chores as we hope he will, then we'll be fairly well set on the secondary defense."

Seattle Rainiers Hot Number In Daffy Pacific Coast Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That fussin' and fumin' down in the Pacific Coast League cellar is coming from a bunch of guys who, up until now, had appeared to be happy just to be along for a tag-end ride.

True, the Seattle Rainiers are still way down there in eighth place, but as of now they're only a game away from seventh place and they're the hottest item in the daily, 1959 PCL flag chase.

The Suds won their eighth game in a row Wednesday night, beating the crippled Phoenix Giants 4-3 in 11 innings to climb to within six and a half games of the first-place Portland Beavers, who dropped a pair to Sacramento's Solons, 4-2 and 2-1 in 10 innings.

The Vancouver Mounties took the measure of the San Diego Padres, 8-6, and the second-place Canadians are now only a game behind Portland.

At Spokane, the Indians beat the Salt Lake City Bees 12-7 in the completion of a protested game of Tuesday night, which was promptly re-protested, but the Bees came back for a 12-2 victory in the regular game.

Bob Mabe and Bill Kennedy gave the Giants only four hits, with Kennedy picking up the victory after coming in in the ninth frame. Two singles, an error, an intentional walk and a sacrifice produced Seattle's winning run. The Giants, with five players nursing various aches, pains and hurts, has pitchers Marcelino Solis and Don Hyman working in the outfield and three outfielders toiling in the infield.

Al Heist got Sacramento's first two runs in the opener at Portland with a two-run homer in the third. The Solons got two more runs in the fifth on a walk, a sacrifice, Carl Heron's triple and an infield single. Jack Littrell clubbed a two-run homer for Portland in the second frame.

Littrell's second homer of the night tied the second game at 1-1 in the last of the ninth inning, but Sacramento reliever Terry Fox, who took over from Carl Greene in the ninth, banged out a triple and scored on Nippy Jones' single. Bob Perry homered for the Sacs with the bases empty in the seventh.

The protested Spokane-Salt Lake game was played from the last of the seventh, with Spokane at bat, two men out and the Indians leading 9-7. PCL President Leslie O'Connor upheld a Spokane protest that umpire Bob St. Clair should not have called Bob Lillis of the Indians out when he was blocked off at home plate by Salt Lake catcher Daryl Westerfield, who didn't have the ball. Bees General Manager Eddie Leishman said O'Connor's decision would be appealed because an "umpire's judgment cannot be the basis of a protest." He didn't say with whom the appeal would be filed.

Dick Hall stopped the Indians on four hits in the regular game while his mates raked loser Chuck Churn and Pat Patrick for 15 hits, including three run homers by Carlos Bernier and Sam Miley. Fred Hatfield drove in both of Spokane's runs with a sixth-inning homer.

Power-hitting Joe Taylor won the Vancouver-Padres game for

Kub '9' Wraps Up 59 Season

The Klamath Kubs, all through for another season, sent their suits to the cleaners Wednesday after a three-won, nine-lose campaign that ended when manager Irv Whitt canceled two games remaining to be played.

Both contests, non-league affairs, went by the boards when Whitt learned he would be unable to field a complete squad to meet either Yreka or the Elbo Benders who had been scheduled this week.

During the season the Kub lineup remained more or less variable due to job demands on some players, and the lack of job demands on others.

The top hit producer catcher Rube Johnson, a state policeman, was available for but seven of the 12 games played. The RBI manufacturer, Mike Dolan, was forced to leave early because of the lack of a job.

Others who played only part of the games included Butch Dolan, the number three hitter, outfielder Foyd Linderman, the fourth man with the bat, and pitcher Bob Lawery.

In total hits Linderman was exceeded only by Johnson and shared the runs-scored lead with first baseman Dean Dunson, each counting 10.

The top pitcher was Ed Vegley. Vegley joined the club midway in the season and won two while losing three. Lawery collected the only other Kub victory.

Looking ahead to next season Whitt called upon a quartet of American Legion players, pitcher Blake Griggs, catcher Dave Saks, outfielder Rich Depew and infielder Don Willey. Although the youngsters got in only two games apiece before the curtain came down they promise big things next year.

Willey and Depew hit at a .250 clip while Griggs and Saks failed to connect safely.

TIME OUT

"Out of gas is excusable, Haskins, but good grief! Fifty miles from land and out of BEER!"

Manager Scheduled To Testify

NEW YORK (UPI) — Custer (Cus) D'Amato, manager of heavyweight Floyd Patterson, was scheduled to testify today before the "boxing grand jury" concerning what he knows about the promotional set-up of the June 26 title fight between Ingemar Johansson and Patterson.

D'Amato, a central figure in the maneuvers preceding the bout, was questioned Wednesday in the office of Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, who said D'Amato would testify before the grand jury today.

The jury, studying the general subject of underworld influence in the boxing, has switched its attention to the circumstances surrounding the promotion of the Patterson-Johansson fight. The actual bout, in which Johansson knocked out Patterson to win the heavyweight crown, is not under investigation.

Gilbert Lee Beckley, described as a professional gambler from Surfside, Fla., spent 25 minutes before the grand jury Wednesday.

Hogan says that Beckley and Frank Erickson, convicted bookmaker once known as "king of the bookmakers," met with promoter Bill Rosensohn before Rosensohn staged the June 26 bout. The DA said an "underworld character" also was present at these meetings, but declined to identify him.

Bunyard Standout In Victory

A shining 1-hit, 15-strikeout performance by Bobby Bunyard hoisted the Klamath Stockmen over Summers Lane Richfield, 4-3, Wednesday evening at Mills Little Park in the first game of a three-game playoff for the South Suburban Little League championship.

The second tilt of the playoff between the American and National champions will be played tonight beginning at 5:30 while the third contest, if needed, will be played Friday.

The only safe hit off Bunyard, who had a 5-2 record in league play, was an infield single in the bottom of the fifth inning when the Richfield nine put together an error, a walk and the single for two of their three SL markers.

Bunyard, while picking up all 15 of the game's outs via the strikeout route and giving up seven free passes, rapped a pair of doubles to aid his own cause. After driving home the third KS tally in the top of the fifth with his second two-bagger, Bunyard scored the eventual winning run as Mike Teaford scored him with a single.

The loss was charged to Pat Ashby who led the Summers Lane squad to the National League title with a perfect 7-0 record.

Boosters To Help Swimmers

LAKEVIEW — The outstanding success of the Lakeview swim team in competition throughout the state has prompted a number of interested local people to organize a group to arrange finances, travel arrangements and such for the sending of the team to these meets during the summer months.

Because, in the past, the burden of arranging and financing the trips has fallen on Stan Tooke, pool and team manager, and the pool staff, the need is felt for the sponsoring group. No tax money is used for the team support and in the past there has been some financial aid from the Elks Lodge, Rotary Club, Lions Club and American Legion. Parents of members have helped with transportation and with expenses for their own youngsters, but the heavy end of the expense has come personally from Tooke. With the increase in numbers on the team and the meets during the season the entire project may have to be dropped unless there is financial assistance available.

Temporary co-chairmen of the new booster group are Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Foster, Dr. and Mrs. Paul G. Kiewer, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor as co-secretaries. Anyone wishing to help can contact any member of the group.

Blakely Beats Ike's Brother

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP) — With the President's brother on the sidelines, it will be a Seattle against Portland semifinal in the Northwest Golf Assn. seniors' tournament Thursday.

Medalist Tom Green of Seattle faces Rober Peck of Portland and Seattleite Forest Watson meets Bill Blakely of the Rose City, 1957 champion.

Blakely scored the big victory Wednesday when he defeated Ed Eisenhower of Tacoma, 4 and 3. He was ahead by three at the turn, allowed Eisenhower to take the 10th and 11th holes and then wrapped it up by winning the next three.

Green defeated Harold Lineham of Victoria, 2 and 1. Watson ousted lefthander George Sparling of Victoria, 2 and 1.

In a battle of former champs, Peck had to go to the 19th hole before edging clubmate Dr. Oscar Willing.

Delegates To Hear Answer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pertinent information concerning the organizing of franchises will be turned over to delegates of the newly-formed Continental League by a major league committee during a meeting here next Tuesday.

The meeting will be the first official one between the two groups. Information such as financing of franchises, acquisition of player personnel and like matters will be given over to the Continental League delegation, it was announced by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

That was something of a turn-about inasmuch as Frick said the meeting would be "entirely exploratory" when he first announced that it would be held.

Frick is a member of the major league committee which will meet with a founders' group from the two league presidents, Warren Giles and Joe Cronin, and club owners Lou Perini of Milwaukee, Tom Yawkey of Boston, Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia and Arnold Johnson of Kansas City.

Bill Shea, chairman of the founders' group for the third league, said he expected Ed Johnson of Denver, Craig Cullinan Jr., of Houston, Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto, Wheelock Whitney of Minneapolis - St. Paul, and Walter Orr, representing Mrs. Dorothy J. Killam of New York, to attend for the Continental League.
