

Her admirers claim she's the woman of the century, her critics say she's a crackpot, but no one denies she is one of the most interesting women of the time

When this lady "relaxes," she pursues ceramics, sketching or mosaic tiling in the quiet of her Phoenix, Arizona, ranch home.

Her art, like almost everything she tries, has a professional sureness.

Italy, her defenders point to many achievements, including solution of the thorny Trieste question.

A mysterious ailment, later diagnosed to be arsenate of lead poisoning caused by paint flaking from her bedroom ceiling, hastened her homecoming. She opened a home in Phoenix, Ariz., and found time for some of the leisure her active life had hitherto made impossible.

But leisure to Clare doesn't mean a rocking chair and a good mystery novel. She has spent her days working in the garden, painting, fashioning professional-quality mosaics, cooking and, of course, keeping abreast of world affairs.

Her life followed this serene pattern until recently when President Eisenhower called on her again to serve as ambassador to Brazil. She resigned when Sen. Wayne Morse attacked her. "He compromised the office and made it impossible for me to do a good job," she said.

She has no plans now, but it is certain her hours will be employed profitably. She knows no other way to live. She has shown many faces to the world and will undoubtedly show more.

But perhaps the least known of the many faces of Clare Boothe Luce is the one she has worn since she took the formal title of Mrs. Henry Robinson Luce in 1935. This is the face which mirrors love, sympathy, compassion and understanding; it is the face she reserves for her private life with husband, family and friends in a small, thoroughly happy world of her own.

The versatile Mrs. Luce is fascinated by the intricate sport of skin diving.

Hay Fever Patients now - open Nose-Sinus Zone with New 3-Layer Tablet

Clear, free breathing restored in minutes as congested nasal zone is decongested—stops sneezing, watery, itching eyes

Chicago, Ill. (Special) Observers here are hailing a remarkable new advance against the most unrelenting misery of hay fever—congestion in the nose-sinus zone.

A way has been found to decongest this congestion. This is the central fact which has aroused so much interest on the part of hay fever sufferers who have never found satisfactory relief from other medications.

Up to now, nose drops, eye drops, inhalers, sprays and antihistamines have given some measure of relief. But today you can expect much more complete comfort. This new compound reaches all the congested nasal areas from all sides, through the blood stream. It opens stuffed-up, blocked nasal passages. Free breathing is restored in minutes. Stops unpleasant sneezing; watery, itching eyes are cleared.

New Tablet Discovery

It took a new kind of tablet—made in three separate layers—to combine the special ingredients which make this formula so amazingly effective. Among them is a new decongestant substance so effective it has become the single ingredient most prescribed by doctors for relief of congestion in the nose-sinus area.

Available without Prescription

Now available without prescription—this new 3-layer tablet is called Dristan®. Its unique combination of ingredients—(1) opens up blocked breathing, (2) stops unpleasant sneezing, (3) clears red, watery, itching eyes. At the same time, Dristan helps the body meet the great demands put upon it by the stress and strain of hay fever, and bolsters the body's resistance to infection.

Hay fever sufferers who want faster, more complete relief than they have ever before obtained are advised to try Dristan Decongestant Tablets—satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.

Listerine stops bad breath 4 times better than tooth paste!

- Tooth paste is for your teeth; Listerine is for your breath. Germs in the mouth cause most bad breath. You need an antiseptic to kill germs.
- Always reach for Listerine after you brush your teeth. No tooth paste is antiseptic, so no tooth paste kills germs the way Listerine Antiseptic does... on contact, by millions.
- Listerine stops bad breath four times better than toothpaste—nothing stops bad breath as effectively as the Listerine way.
