"What causes my pickles to shrivel?" is a question often asked during the canning season. Extension Circular 661 "Pickles and Relishes" answers many questions like this on pickle problems. This circular can be obtained by calling the extension office, TU 4-8151.

Granulated sugar is used. Some special recipes call for more highly flavored brown sugars.

Select fresh spices. Spices which have been stored for several months have lost some of their flavor.

If possible use soft water. The minerals that make water hard also interfere with the pickling process.

Do not add artificial preservatives. Added vegetable color, while not harmful, looks artificial. Pickles should be olive-green in color.

Choose equipment that will not be attacked by salt or vinegar. Stoneware, unchipped enamel, stainless steel, or glass are all good. Never use copper containers to make the pickles green. The green colored solution formed is poisonous.

Follow your favorite recipe when making pickles or follow any of the recipes given in this circular. Just remember that good pickles will result when good ingredients are used.

To obtain a standard pickle in the final product it is necessary to begin with quality ingredients. Select only perfect cucumbers for pickles. Those grown with plenty of moisture and sunshine are preferred. Pick as near the time for use as possible. If the cucumbers must be held, refrigerate before washing. Do not hold them more than 24 hours. When ready to use, wash them, but do not bruise the skin. Be sure all blossoms are removed, as they contain enzymes that can cause softening of the pickles.

Choose a modern tested recipe for best results. Twenty five years ago vinegar usually was only three per cent acid. Today's vinegar is 4-6 per cent acid. Using grandma's recipe with today's ingredients may result in pickles which are shriveled or too sour.

Salt especially prepared for pickling or pure, granulated dairy salt should be used. Avoid salts treated to insure free-flowing. Iodized salt is not recommended. Salt is used to draw out the juices from the fruit or cucumbers, to toughen the cellular wall, and to prevent the growth of yeasts, molds, and bacteria which could cause spoilage. Too strong a salt solution may cause shriveling. One too weak will not prevent spoilage.

Either white or cider vinegar may be used. White is preferred if the food color needs to be kept light. Cider vinegar gives a more mellow flavor than white and is preferred by many.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away" does have some truth to it, but adding aspirin when canning apples won't chase away that headache.

Every year someone asks about the so-called new method of preserving fruits and vegetables—adding aspirin with no further heat treatment. This has been circulating among homemakers for at least 10 years.

Homemakers, don't be misled by the advice of a friendly neighbor that apples are just delicious canned by this method.

Nutritionists at Oregon State College stress that adequate heat treatments are the only safe methods in canning fruits and tomatoes. Hot water bath for fruits and tomatoes and pressure cooker for non-acid vegetables. Aspirin has absolutely no preservative action and cannot be relied on to prevent spoilage or give satisfactory products.

For specific canning directions, call the extension office, TU 4-8151 for the bulletin G8, Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables.

CHARLES CARLSON

KU Principal To Take Post In California

Charles Carlson, principal of Klamath Union High School for the past seven years, notified school authorities Thursday that he is resigning to accept a position as principal of an adult evening school in San Luis Obispo, California. Carlson's duties will begin September 1.

If the school board of education accepts his resignation, Carlson will have ended 16 years of teaching and administrative work in Klamath Falls.

Before becoming principal, Carlson taught science at KUHS. He came here from Newberg, Oregon, and there from the Bay Area and other Northern California points.

Carlson, his wife, Clara, and their daughter, a high school sophomore, will move as soon as they are able to sell their home.

Mrs. Carlson has been a teacher of literature and a librarian at Fremont Junior High School.

Carlson's successor at KUHS is William McKinny of Faribault, Minnesota.

Theft Probes Set By Police

Klamath Falls police are investigating two reports of thefts in town Thursday.

Bill Hall of Herman's Mens Store said someone took two suitcases — a big one and a little one. He said they were taken sometime Thursday afternoon.

Norman James, a local contractor, complained that thieves took 15 pieces of lumber worth about $20 from a building site of his Wednesday evening.

Police also are looking into a report by Lee Hendricks of attempted burglary of Walt's Tasty Foods, 1029 Main Street, Wednesday night. He said someone tried but failed to break into the building's back door.

HENLEY BEEF CLUB

This meeting was the last of the year so we worked on our record books and handed them in, and had a potluck supper. This meeting was held at Dave and Sandy Woodard's home.

Our hats and ties were passed out which we are to wear at the fair. There was a motion made and seconded not to have green stripes on the pants. We are supposed to wear white shirts and white pants when in the show ring. There was a motion made to paint our show sticks white with about six inches of the handle end green.

The calves were weighed in the morning with the weights as follows:

Lila Ritter, 945; Dave Woodard, 1,140; Sandy Woodard, 840; Don Berry, 985; Don Breithaupt, 895; Dave Freiberg, 805 and Wayne McFadden, 700.

Phillip Dixon, 750; Bob Brower, 1,030; Carolyn Brower, 1,050; Bill Taylor, 955; Linda Taylor, 1,070; Carolyn Dennis, 920 and Neal Buchanan, 1,035.

The calves are supposed to be at the fairgrounds by 3 p.m. Saturday, August 22, to be weighed.

The decoration for the barn is to be flowers which is the same as last year. A motion was made to have two members on for barn duty for 45 minutes twice a day.

Carolyn Brower and Sandy Woodard are going to make the name cards and stall cards.

There is going to be a street dance in front of the barns on August 24 from 7 to 9. On August 3 we held a swimming party at Main Park.

4-H WRANGLERS

We had a meeting August 7. The meeting was held at the Drace home. The meeting was called to order by President Carla Pyles. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary Gail Campbell. Vice President Steve Schneck talked to us about our 4-H records and books. Junior leaders Adele Goehring and Bob Drace talked to us about the fall fair which will be held August 23, 24, and 25. Joanne Olson, parade chairman, talked about decorations for the barns and appointed a committee: Linda Vian, Adele Goehring, Linda Goehring, Mary Drace and Joanne Olson. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

Mining Firm Changes Told

LAKEVIEW — Economic problems resulting from the change over from underground to open pit mining have resulted in changes of personnel at the Lakeview Mining Company here.

George Nicoud of Dallas, Texas, has been named president of the company to succeed Dr. Garth Thornburg and John Robison of Gunnison, Colorado, has become general manager to succeed James F. Poulos. The action was taken at a recent meeting of the board of directors here.

Robison is also general manager of the Gunnison Mining Company at Gunnison, Colorado, which is also owned by Thornburg Brothers and their associates.

Thornburg will continue as an owner and member of the board of directors and will still make his home at Lakeview.

Poulos has no immediate plans and will remain here for the present.

Members of the board who were here for the meeting were John Murchison and George Nicoud, Dallas, Texas; John Connally, Fort Worth, Texas, and Thornburg.

Also here were Rex Williams, vice president of Chase-Manhattan Bank of New York City, Louis Bond, representative of the Fort Worth National Bank; C. M. Applegate, representing the First National Bank of Oregon, and George Kruger, representing the mining department of Chase-Manhattan Bank.

Ram Sale Set Monday

LAKEVIEW — The 19th Annual Southern Oregon ram sale at Lakeview will get underway at 10 a.m. (PST) Monday, August 31, with Howard Brown as auctioneer, according to Oris Rudd, sale secretary.

Presale activities include the inspection of rams Sunday morning and the traditional lamb barbecue that evening under the direction of Tom Crawford.

This year's sale offering of 175 includes Rambouillets from University of Idaho, John Withers and Cunningham Sheep Company; Columbias from E. J. Handley, Marcus Vetter, and Hampshires from Neal Elliott; Targhees and Panamas from University of Idaho; and Suffolks from Harry Sandquist, E. J. Handley, Paul Quinby, L. D. Hughes, Neal Elliott and Gerald Flanagan.

All rams will be inspected for soundness and freedom from disease.

The Lakeview sale, sponsored by the Fremont Sheepmen's Association, has for 18 years been instrumental in bringing top quality rams into the Southern Oregon-Northern California area.

For the convenience of farm flock owners who may need only one or two rams, this year's sale will feature single offerings as well as pens of three, five and 10.

Schooner Sails Up Coast; Astoria First Port Of Call

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (AP) — The 31-ton schooner Morning Star II sailed up the Oregon coast.

The sailing vessel, bound for the Oregon Centennial Exposition at Portland, is carrying a 60-ton cargo of Tillamook Cheese, which will be delivered to merchants along the route.

The craft is a replica of the original Morning Star, which was launched in 1854 to carry products from Tillamook to Oregon City. But the sails are rigged differently and it is built so a motor can be added.

A Coast Guard boat towed the Morning Star II out of the harbor Thursday as a large crowd waved. Radio contact was lost temporarily, probably because of a dampened generator.

A sheriff's air posse pilot, Jim

Conan, spotted the boat. He said it was taking water over the bow.

Here is the Morning Star II schedule:

Monday, Sail from Astoria to Cathlamet.

Tuesday — Sail, or tow from Cathlamet to Longview.

Wednesday — Shift from Longview to Rainier.

Thursday — Go from Rainier to Kalama for a brief stop, then go to St. Helens for the night.

Friday — Head toward Portland.

Saturday — Arrive at 2 p.m. at the Centennial Queen dock on the north side of the Willamette River in Portland.

Steel Barges Will Ply Nile

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The huge sail boats called feluccas that have plied the waters of the Nile since the days of Cleopatra may now be moving toward the end of their days.

The Egyptian government is building a fleet of steel barges, at a cost of $3,300,000, to transport iron ore from Aswan in upper Egypt to an iron and steel factory on the banks of the Nile near Cairo.

Up to now, feluccas have been used to carry the ore along the 500-mile route in exactly the way a recent Egyptians transported granite blocks to build the pyramids 5,000 years ago. The ancient Egyptians got their granite from the Aswan region.

The iron and steel factory, the first established in an Arab country, consumes 700 thousand tons of iron ore a year. Feluccas transport half of this amount. The rest is carried by trains.

When the new steel fleet of 60 barges is completed all the iron ore will be moved along the waterway. The barges will be made in Egypt.

Strong America Necessary Before Pact Can Be Made

SPRING LAKE, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says that a strong America is necessary before agreement can be reached at a summit conference table.

For this reason, he warned the United States should not relax its defenses because of the forthcoming exchange visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier, Nikita Khrushchev.

"If we are to have a possibility of agreement at a (summit) conference, the President must be able to talk from a position of strength," Nixon declared.

The vice president came to this resort community to attend a U.S. Savings Bond rally.

Nixon stressed the challenge that Khrushchev's policy of peaceful competition presents. He added he thought it important that Khrushchev see "the typical America" when he visits this country next month.

Newsman questioned Nixon about his potential candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

"I have consistently maintained that it is too early to make a decision with regard to 1960," Nixon replied.

But there were others who did not think it was too early.

Nixon was introduced to the rally by former New Jersey Republican Gov. Alfred Driscoll, who said: "Speaking for myself, I hope we will have you here two years from now to tell us about the affairs of the nation."

Asked about the Rockefeller-for-president clubs being formed in New Jersey, Nixon said he had discouraged such activity in his own behalf. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is considered one of Nixon's chief rivals for the GOP presidential nomination.
