Stocks WALL STREET NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices eked out gains in listless trading this afternoon. Volume for the day was estimated at 2,900,000 shares against 1,900,000 Friday, the slowest trading day in 13 months. Most pivotal shares added small fractions as trading headed into the final hour. A number of stocks held unchanged. A few losers turned up. Prices edged ahead for minor gains until mid-afternoon. Stocks then generally dipped. Investor caution, bred by the sharp market slump a week ago, continued to retard trading, brokers said. Some chemicals posted smart gains. DuPont picked up nearly 2 and Olin Mathieson more than 1. Coppers climbed in the face of threats of further industry strikes. Anaconda and Kennecott each advanced around half a point. Electrical equipment issues retreated. Westinghouse Electric fell more than a point and General Electric around half a point. Aircrafts and airlines eased with Boeing, United Aircraft and Eastern Air Lines down about 1. U.S. Steel gained modestly in a magnet steel group. Government bonds were mixed.

Huge Fire Raging On

YREKA — A big and expensive fire, burning for a week in Six Rivers National Forest, touched virgin forests in Klamath National Forest Monday. Forest service equipment and 30 men embarked from forest headquarters here for the spiny area as steep and rugged most equipment had to be flown in and radio communication was nearly impossible. Fire strategists planned to backfire from Salmon Mountain near Orleans across to Orleans Mountain along the national forest's boundary. They expected the blaze to be controlled by 6 p.m. Monday. Four fires that "slopped over" from the main burn into the Klamath forest were controlled. The fire has destroyed timber worth an estimated $192,000 and watershed worth $50,000.

Little Train Rams Truck

WILLITS, Calif. (AP) — Mendocino County's little pet railway, the Skunk is a one-coach, narrow-gauge train which shuttles daily over an old logging line between here and Fort Bragg on the coast, 40 miles down a crooked canyon. It is beloved of tourists, camera fans, and antique railway aficionados. Monday a big truck-trailer rig was rolling down a street in the middle of Willits when its driver, Grady Harris of Ukiah, looked down out of his cab and saw the Skunk's nine-foot diesel engine about to ram the rear of his truck, loaded with 38 tons of wood. There was a crash. The Skunk was derailed. Ten passengers were released after hospital treatment of minor injuries. A crane lifted the Skunk back on the track.

Beauty Queen Likes States

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The willow-dark blonde who came to Hollywood as England's entry in the Miss Universe beauty pageant doesn't want to return home. "English producers are afraid of glamour," she explained. "Here in Hollywood they aren't." But Pamela Searle's mother and the sponsor who paid for her trip to the international beauty contest in California want her home. Especially the sponsor, who threatens to sue. Miss Searle, now a budding actress, said "Why, in England a beauty winner like me wouldn't have a chance of getting into films. I can only get into movie beauty contests."

Inspectors Seek Missing Bag

NEW YORK (AP) — Postal inspectors today are trying to find out who's holding the bag — with $141,950 in missing money in it. The bag with the money disappeared early this month after it was received at the Liberty, N.Y., post office for shipment to the Federal Reserve Bank here. It never arrived. The money belonged to the Sullivan County National Bank. Joseph Fersch, bank president, said his bank had a receipt from the post office for the money.

Lawyer Agrees To Treatment

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — U. Simpson Tate, 39, a Negro lawyer, has agreed to a 90-day commitment in a Dallas mental hospital. A mental illness petition asking for his commitment was filed by his wife last week with Probate Court Judge F.W. Barlett. Mrs. Tate in her petition said her husband had been working too hard. Tate, former regional counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, has been undergoing psychiatric treatment for the last few weeks.

Wind Speed Probe Starts

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (UPI) — Space scientists blazed a gaudy trail hundreds of miles long high in the sky over the eastern seaboard Monday with an artificial sodium cloud spewed from a sound ring rocket. The purpose of the experiment was to check wind velocities and currents at 30 miles above the earth and the rate at which vapor particles spread at such altitudes. Similar clouds could be used to track planetary probes of the future in the early stages of their flight. Scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration launched the two-state Nike-Asp rocket from this space station on Virginia's eastern shore. It was the first of a series of high altitude wind tests.

Search Ends; Ship Appears

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — An all-day search Monday for a 38-foot sailing vessel which appeared to vanish off Tillamook Bay ended abruptly when the craft sailed into nearby Warrenton. The skipper of the vessel, Hal Evans of Marshall, Calif., said he was surprised to find a search had been conducted. Evans said he had no trouble taking the craft across the Tillamook bar and attributed the report of its disappearance to the heavy fog bank hovering over the coastal area. This also apparently kept air, sea and land search parties from spotting the craft. Aboard the boat with Evans was his wife and their 12-year-old son. It was owned by Albert H. Doane of Seattle, who said Evans was bringing it from California to Seattle for him. Radio equipment was aboard the vessel, named the "Tide," but Evans said because of antenna trouble he was unable to receive anything except static while underway. Three planes, several boats and shore parties scanning the water took part in the search.

Crews Mop Up McCloud Fire

McCLOUD — Mop-up crews remain on the Porcupine fire 26 miles northeast of here. An estimated 13,500 acres of brush and timber burned in the lightning caused blaze which started August 21. Foresters estimate 10 million board feet of timber, valued at $200,000, was burned or severely damaged. Cruisers will make a more detailed check on the timber next week. Cost of the fire fighting was considered to be in excess of $500,000. Portions of 24 sections were covered in the McCloud ranger district of the Shasta-Trinity National Forest. About 450 men were on the fire lines at 4:50 in the McCloud district and 350 in the Modoc district. Helicopters, airplane tankers, bulldozers and truck tankers were used to control the fire.

Ticket Squabble Ended; LA To Keep Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ruckus over tickets has ended in a complete victory for Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler — and Los Angeles will keep the 1960 Party convention. Butler threw the prestige of his office into a showdown over seating with wealthy oilman Edwin C. Pauley. The dispute almost cost this city its first major political convention. Pauley bowed Monday as finance chairman of the local committee and the old committee was disbanded. Pauley had insisted the committee was promised 1,000 tickets a day to the July convention in return for its $350,000 guarantee to the national committee. He later offered to compromise and accept 2,121. Butler refused him on both counts. A new sponsoring group was formed. It agreed to underwrite the guarantee and accept Butler's top ticket offer—1,500 tickets a day. Butler had threatened to pull the convention out of Los Angeles unless his terms were met. The new group agreed to another key Butler demand, opposed by Pauley: transfer of all advertising revenue from the convention program to the Democratic National Committee. The five-minute meeting of Butler and local officials ended a five-month dispute climaxed when Butler threatened to move the convention to another city. The old committee was replaced with one headed by Republican Mayor Norris Poulson as chairman and Dan A. Kimball, president of Aerojet General Corp., as executive chairman. Kimball was secretary of the navy under former President Harry S. Truman. Mark Boyar, wealthy real estate developer and financial chairman of the Democratic National Committee in Southern California, replaced Pauley. He said new financial support would be solicited from the business community, as well as loyal Democrats. "If there should be any more convention problems," he said "none of them will be financial." In announcing his resignation, Pauley said: "There was no way to honorably bridge this impasse without jeopardizing the integrity of Los Angeles and the contractual, moral obligations of the host committee." Boyar said Pauley had been invited to join the new committee, but had not replied. Butler refused to comment on Pauley's silence. As for the ticket dispute, he said: "I don't consider it a fight. It was an unfortunate misunderstanding."

Probe Widens For Ex-Felon

PT. REYES STATION (UPI) — Authorities widened their search today for an ex-convict who held up the Bank of America branch here, kidnaped the manager and escaped with more than $6,000. The manager, Atlantic T. Cencio, 38, Petaluma, identified the robber from police photographs as William Williams, 31, Santa Rosa, who has a record of five arrests. Cencio was released at Samuel P. Taylor State Park, about eight miles from here, shortly after the robbery Monday. He said Williams was driving a 1952 maroon, two-door Mercury. Williams, armed with a sawed-off shotgun and an automatic, knocked on the bank door just after closing time Monday and said he wanted to make a deposit. "This is a holdup," he told a teller. "I don't want to kill any one. I've already killed a man in San Francisco." He ordered Cencio and a customer to go behind the counter, then told the teller, Miss Betty Adams, 30, to fill a bag with currency. He forced Cencio to go with him, warning: "Don't step on the button. If you do I'll kill the manager." Cencio was unharmed. He said Williams told him he used to be a race driver and that the car was stolen. "Boy, I really had a wild ride," he said.

Nelson Reports To Chief On Civil Defense, Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller comes to town today to report to President Eisenhower on civil defense and to talk politics with strategically placed Republicans. The President interrupted his stay at his Gettysburg farm home long enough for a flying trip to Washington for a series of White House conferences. Eisenhower arranged to discuss with Rockefeller recommendations of the annual Governors' Conference for a national do-it-yourself shelter building program for protection from nuclear fallout. Before and after this meeting, the New York governor planned to see influential Republicans with varying degrees of interest in the possibility that he may seek the 1960 GOP presidential nomination. Among these is Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), who is plugging Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the nomination. If Rockefeller decides to take on Nixon, most politicians think he will have to contest the vice president in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary next March. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he had planned to ask Rockefeller to be a guest at the regular weekly meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee where he could meet all of the Senate party members. But Dirksen said the policy meeting had been called off because Eisenhower's schedule for the day was too crowded to permit his regular conference with party congressional leaders. Sens. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), who have said they will support Rockefeller if he runs, planned a luncheon meeting with the governor. Rockefeller said Monday he has set no deadline on a decision whether to seek the nomination and that political opinion polls would play only a minor part in this decision. Javits said that indicates no change in the governor's thinking. The senator added he thinks "too much emphasis" may have been placed on statements Rockefeller made at the annual Governor's Conference in Puerto Rico that he would be influenced by the polls in deciding what course to take. Rockefeller took pains in an Albany news conference to try to wipe out the impression that he would run only if the polls convinced him he had a better chance than Nixon of beating the Democratic nominee.

Rock 'n' Roller Plans Switch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rock 'n' roll singer Tommy Sands says he's going to switch from rhythm and blues to more serious ballads. "Somebody has got to do it—kids nowadays don't know what the serious songs sound like," he told reporters Monday. Sands, just turned 21, went to the county clerk's office to collect $15,650 savings a judge ordered in approving a movie contract for him. TORCH CARRIER OROVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — A lovesick high school student has been taken into custody because he "carried a torch" for his girl friend's father. Sheriff Larry Gillick said the 17-year-old youth from Chico, Calif., admitted that the father wouldn't allow him to date the young girl — so he set fire to the father's house on Aug. 2 and then attempted to burn his car on Aug. 7.

General Hits Dog Story

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Maj. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze today denied as "nonsense from start to finish" a newspaper report that his dog crossed the Pacific to Korea in a cabin on a troop transport while two Korean doctors sweated in the hold. Howze issued a written statement saying he paid $7.50 for a kennel on deck for his Irish setter, and "at no time did the dog enter the cabin of any area other than the area specifically designated for pets." Howze, chief of the U.S. Military Advisory Group in Korea, did not directly mention the allegation in a San Francisco Chronicle story that two Korean doctors had been bumped below for the dog. An Army spokesman said, however, there was no connection between the doctors' passage and the dog's since the physicians had received the kind of accommodations for which they paid. Howze flew here in July. He said he had made routine arrangements for his dog's travel, including feeding and exercise, aboard the transport Gen. W. A. Mann. The general said Sgt. Luther D. Saylor of Raleigh, N.C., had volunteered to look after the animal as a kindness and "under no compulsion whatsoever," and that he was assisted by Sgt. Joseph V. Clukey. "At no time did I ask of any person whatever any special accommodations for the dog—or for Sgts. Saylor and Clukey, neither of whom I knew or corresponded with up to the time for making this statement," the general said. The Chronicle said its story was based on a letter written to Chronicle reporter Jack Foisie by a personal friend, a paratrooper sergeant who was a passenger on the Mann. Foisie declined to disclose his name.

Continuance Granted

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — A two-week continuance has been granted for Dr. R. Bernard Finch to plead to a charge of murdering his wife. Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello asked for the delay Monday. The prosecutor said he wished to await the outcome today of the preliminary hearing of Carole Tregoff, 22, the physician's red-haired sweetheart. The ex-model is accused with Dr. Finch in the slaying of Barbara Jean Finch the night of July 18. Whichello said he wished to consolidate the cases. If the murder charge against Miss Tregoff is dismissed Whichello said, he will be re-arrested and a new murder complaint issued. He said he would then take her case before the Los Angeles County grand jury and ask for an indictment.

Space Capsule Circles Globe

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The missing space capsule from the Discoverer V satellite may still be circling the earth today, five days after the Air Force had hoped to recover it. The Air Force Ballistic Missile Division announced Monday that one reason for its failure to recover the 300-pound instrument package could have been that the retro-rockets did not fire. The retro-rockets were to have slowed down the capsule so it would fall from orbit. Other possible explanations were: The parachute may have failed, allowing the capsule to plunge to earth unchecked; or its radio may not have worked and it dropped undetected. The Air Force had hoped to carry out the first recovery of a satellite capsule last Friday over the Pacific Ocean.
