Teeny Auto Halts Traffic

ST. LOUIS (AP)—To Theodore Rau, it seemed a simple matter to pick up a prize he won in a supermarket raffle. The prize was a toy-scale version of a 1910 Model T Ford.

At the store, Rau realized his error. He jack-knifed his 6-foot-2½ inch frame into the driver's seat, started the three-horsepower motor and set sail for home, two miles away in Glendale.

Rau, 35, was apprehensive about what other motorists might do "after all, it was the rush hour."

Instead of chafing, motorists lined up behind the baby Ford, craned their necks and smiled.

"It was a little slow, though," Rau said. "It's supposed to do 30 miles an hour, but we actually made about five."

Once home, Rau and his mother-in-law each picked up one end and carried the car into the living room.

NEW "AIR" IN SEWER

HUDDESFIELD, England (UPI)—Geoffrey Ramsden, a 28½-week sewer worker, saved up and bought a Rolls Royce. One of his pleased fellow-workers, John Cartwright, said Monday "Geoff's Rolls has given a new air to the sewage works."

Hawaii Rites Set By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will formally proclaim Hawaii as the 50th state at noon (PST) Friday.

The proclamation ceremony will be held at the White House. Eisenhower will return here from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to sign the proclamation.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President also will issue an order on a design for a new 50-star flag to become officially effective next July 4.

Pinning on his "Wings of Gold" is Cmdr. R. E. Farkas, commanding officer of the station. Ensign Hedberg has received orders to Patrol Squadron 11, Brunswick, Maine. Sidelights Of Gotham Heat

NEW YORK (AP)—People in a huge city take air conditioning, by a lighted fruit stand, he was lights, subways, elevators, traffic signals and a lot of other things for granted. When the power is knocked out, as it was Monday, funny things happen.

A television salesman had just sold a new set to a customer when the power failure made the set go dead. The customer changed his mind and walked out.

At the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind, the blind led those who could see. In the pitch-black interior of the building, the blind, who knew their way in the dark, led fellow workers to the street.

A lot of people who weren't regular churchgoers went to church Monday night. A church was the easiest place to get candles. One Roman Catholic church gave away 100, another left three boxes of candles on the steps for passersby.

One bar patron, who perhaps had overdone it, found the dark side of the failure. Extra police were ordered into the darkened section and as the man weaved by a lighted fruit stand, he was ordered home by no less than six policemen.

An angry resident stormed down to the basement and began blaming a baffled plumber for the power failure.

Ever wonder what would happen if all the cash registers in a supermarket broke down at once? That was one of the effects of the power failure. Long lines of shoppers waited impatiently while checkers-out added up even longer lines of figures.
