

City Hall Condemned

ROSEBURG (AP) — The City Hall here, recent headquarters during the mop-up following the Aug. 7 explosion, was condemned Monday by city officials.

City Manager John Warburton ordered the police and fire departments to vacate the building. Their operations will be carried out from the city garage and an administration building separate from the City Hall.

Inspectors, still searching for critical damage in the city's downtown area, found the rear wall of the 66-year-old brick building cracked and warped.

City Engineer Ken Meng said the wall has moved a quarter of an inch since an initial inspection several days ago. He said the second floor is threatened to collapse.

The building has been used as police and fire headquarters for many years. The second floor, since administration was moved to a different building, has been used for council meetings.

Firemen were moved to temporary quarters at the city garage about four blocks away. On-duty firemen will stay in a house trailer.

The Police Department moved into the administration offices.

The old building was doomed, even before the blast.

Councilmen had made plans for remodeling a two-story building next to the administration building for a new fire and police station, municipal court, jail and council room. The U.S. National Bank of Portland has agreed to buy the old City Hall, and plans to build a new bank building there.

IRE IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A government commission's recommendation that Ireland relax its liquor laws, permitting liquor sales on Sunday, has met strong disapproval of the country's Roman Catholic bishops.

Instead of relaxing the law, they said, there ought to be more restrictions on liquor sales and "especially genuine enforcement" of present regulations.
