WALL STREET
 NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower today although some shares rallied briskly from mid-day lows. Trading ran at a fairly active clip.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,000,000 shares against 2,280,000 Tuesday.

Key shares remained lower as trading headed into the final hour. Prices had generally recouped half of their mid-day decline.

Losses still ran from fractions to around a point. At the bottom of the day's slump, they had reached 2 points or more.

All sections of the list shared in the rebound.

Jones & Laughlin paced the steel group by posting a fractional advance. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem were still lower.

Texas Instruments and Zenith, after falling more than a point, edged higher.

Funerals
SIMMONS
 ETNA—Funeral services were held August 18 for Frank Marion Simmons, 57, local rancher for the past 18 years, at the Etna Methodist Church with the Rev. Donald Sager officiating. Interment was in the Odd Fellows section of the Etna Cemetery. Mr. Simmons died August 15 following a lengthy illness. Mr. Simmons was an active member of the Odd Fellows Lodge in Etna. He is survived by the widow, Ruby, a daughter, Cheryl, and son, Richard, all of Etna; four sisters and three brothers: Mrs. Frances Smith, Etna, Mrs. Margaret Bigham, Etna, Mrs. Rose Lewis, Yreka, Mrs. Patricia White, Oakland; Joe and Robert Simmons, Etna and Alfred Simmons, Stockton.

YOUNG
 ETNA — Funeral services for Mrs. Louisa A. Young were held August 17, at the Congregational Church, conducted by the Eschscholtzia Parlor No. 112, Native Daughters of the Golden West, with the Rev. Orval Clay also officiating. Mrs. Young died August 14 at her home on the Young ranch near Etna after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Young had been active in the Etna Women's Club and the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Church. She was a member of Eschscholtzia Parlor No. 112, NDGW, and Aureola Rebekah Lodge No. 113, both of Etna. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Smith and Dorice Young, and two sons, Leland and Albert Young, all of Etna; a sister, Mrs. Mary Thomas of Yreka; several nieces and nephews, and five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Timber Planting Set By Rangers
 McCLOUD—Plans are being formulated by the McCLOUD ranger district of the Shasta-Trinity national forest for planting the 3,000 acres of timberland which recently burned during the Porcupine Butte fires. Timber stand improvement funds received from the sale of salvaged timber will be utilized in the reforestation program.

Personnel from the district are mopping up the fire as timber cruisers estimate the salvagable timber.

Species and footage estimates will be announced upon completion of the cruising and bids will be called for the sale of salvage timber.

Peace Officers Schedule Outing
 WEED—A barbecue picnic for members and guests is being planned for September 3 by the Siskiyou County Peace Officers Association. The event will be held at Murphy's Grove, Weed, beginning at 6 p.m. Dancing on the outdoor pavilion is planned.

David L. Dawson, Weed police chief, is heading the committee for the arrangements. He will be assisted by William Auman, Carmen Mazzei, Hobart Reather, Weed; Harry Shott, Mount Shasta and Mel Cozzallo, Yreka.

SQUARE PEA URGED
CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Canned Pea Council said Wednesday it would like to see the development of a square pea which won't slip off the blade of a knife.

Tar's Diary May Hold Key To Crimes Against Youths

SANTA ANA (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies and police from several communities today tried to link the lurid passages of a sailor's diary to sex crimes against three teenage boys.

Authorities who questioned the Alameda sailor, Robert Louis McEwing, 21, Wednesday, said the diary contained entries detailing methods of picking up youngsters and in at least one case a follow-up passage describing what happened afterward.

Under an entry dated Jan. 7, 1959: "Picked up a 15-year-old hitchhiker on Sepulveda Blvd. near Vanowen St., pulled a knife on the victim, later handcuffed victim's hands behind him, later stopped in a gully... (the rest was unprintable)... Later made my way back to Alameda via Highway 99."

Questioned at Orange County jail, McEwing, "stationed" aboard the destroyer Mackenzie at Long Beach, said of the diary, "It's all a pipe dream."

A Van Nuys boy molested last January pointed out McEwing in a lineup yesterday as the man who picked him up and molested him. Van Nuys police said. They said the 16-year-old boy's description of his assailant's car matched that of McEwing's vehicle.

McEwing was arrested by Orange County sheriff's deputies a week ago when he was found parked in his car on a dirt road in an isolated section of nearby Huntington Beach.

Officers said a 13-year-old boy with the suspect at the time told them he had been kidnaped at a point in nearby Long Beach. A pair of handcuffs and a razor-sharp inoleum knife were found in the car, officers said.

Detectives from the Los Angeles County sheriff office Wednesday questioned the suspect about the slaying of Daryl Kelch, 17, of Newhall.

Kelch's body was found last Nov. 11 buried beneath a pile of rocks three miles south of Fillmore in Ventura County. There were three bullet wounds in his chest.

Accused Thief Arraignment Scheduled

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — William (Dugie) Williams, 31, was scheduled to be arraigned here today for the kidnap-holdup of the Bank of America Point Reyes Station branch Monday.

Also scheduled to appear before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Karesch was Terrance C. Corkery, 50, arrested in Sausalito Wednesday as an accessory after the fact in the robbery staged by Williams.

Williams surrendered Wednesday to Sheriff John Ellis of Sonoma County in Santa Rosa. He said he realized he had made a mistake.

Williams, target of an intense manhunt, had only $101 in his pockets when he turned himself in, but he told authorities all but $700 of the $13,340 bank loot was buried safely in Marin County's hills.

"I tried to get it several times," Williams said. "But I never had a chance."

FBI agents arrested Corkery and he led them to a spot in Lagunitas where he uncovered part of the loot given him by Williams. Officials said the money amounted to only $1,692. Authorities said they expected to recover the remainder of the robbery loot.

Williams was charged with federal offenses, including kidnap during commission of a bank robbery that technically could result in a death sentence. The bank manager, Atlantic L. Cencio, was kidnaped at gunpoint during the holdup, but released unharmed at Samuel P. Taylor State Park a few miles from Point Reyes.

Williams told police he lost his head during a quarrel with his wife, stormed out of the house and after brooding for awhile, robbed the bank. But he said his surrender came because he wanted to win back his wife's confidence. They were married Aug. 9.

FBI agents said Williams met Corkery, his accessory, three months ago and worked with him as a logger in Marin County.

Guide Dogs Return Home

GAZELLE — Jan and Jeanne Carter, who are raising prospective guide dogs as 4-H Club projects, brought their charges back from guide dog school in San Raphael recently, each bearing trophies won in a guide dog field day.

Jan and her dog, a German shepherd named "Connie," won the trainer trophy as the best trainer-dog team. Jeanne's dog, "Ray," a black Labrador won two second prizes, for obedience and showmanship, competing against a field of 93. The girl left Ray at the Guide Dogs for the Blind, Incorporated, school for training. Jeanne brought another pup back home—a golden retriever named "Marvel."

Connie, six months of age, is the second German shepherd Jan has raised. The first, "Hassa," flunked because he was larger than standards allow. He was returned to the Carter family.

Jan will keep her new dog another three months. Then it will be returned for training with its new master.

Union Offers Scholarships

DUNSMUIR — Additional scholarships for deserving young people will be provided by the AFL-CIO State Federation, Herman Green, legislative representative for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, reported after attending the federation convention in San Diego this week.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen added a $500 scholarship to the student help program sponsored by the federation and the painters' union also added a $500 scholarship, Green stated. This will make five $500 scholarships available to seniors graduating from California high schools next year.

A Siskiyou County girl, Sandra Lee Miller, won one of the AFL-CIO $500 scholarships this year, Green noted. She will attend San Francisco State College.

Dance Slated By Officers

WEED—Siskiyou County Peace Officers Association members are formulating plans for their annual November dance slated to benefit the association-sponsored annual "field day" for the junior traffic patrol students of the county schools.

Committee chairmen for the benefit dance were appointed at the August 13 meeting at the Genova Hotel in Weed by the association's president, Harold L. Barnum, Mount Shasta police chief. They include Terry Gilzean, chairman, tickets, posters; Harry Shott, refreshment booth; Dick Newton, orchestra; Lawrence Taylor, hall and Lucile I. Gaynor, publicity.

The committee will report detailed plans at the September 10 meeting to be held in Etna.

A report from the road-block committee was given by David Dawson, Weed police chief. Another meeting to coordinate final plans for the county-wide system for law enforcement agencies is slated for 3 p.m. August 27 at Yreka.

Approximately 30 members attended the August meeting.

Conservationists Assist Farmers

YREKA—E. S. Anderson, work unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service office, announced Monday the Soil Conservation Service engineers assisted farmers of Shasta Valley Conservation District with leveling and smoothing over 700 acres during the year ending July 1.

Previously much of this land had been wild flooded, which wasted water, waterlogged the land, and produced a poor composition of plants. Most of it is now under border irrigation and has been planted to permanent pasture. Of 1,300 acres planted to permanent pasture, 1,031 acres were lands taken out of cultivated crops. Planting grasses and legumes builds up the soil.

Seventeen farmers received conservation farm plans.

Expedition Removes Junk

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two tons of tin cans and a half-ton of broken glass were removed from 14,495-foot Mt. Whitney during a nine-day cleanup of the famed Sierra peak, leaders of the expedition said today.

Tom and Trudie Hunt, Covina, Calif., who led the 30-member Sierra Club party, said sardine cans and bed springs were among items gathered along trails and at campsites. The debris was packed out by animals or burned.

The couple said the party assembled Aug. 8 at the Owens Valley town of Lone Pine and then packed to a base camp near the 10,300-foot level. Climbers twice reached the summit of Whitney in their search for litter. They also waded in a lake at 12,000 feet to remove 80 pounds of cans.

DIANE FEHLMAN, Montague, is able to compete in California Horsemen's Association championships and a blue ribbon show since she swept two first places and a second place in Region 2 competition recently in Redding.

Area Lass Wins Honors

MONTAGUE — Diane Fehlman, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Fehlman, was first place winner August 16 in two events featured at the Region 2 elimination show, conducted according to rules set by the California State Horsemen's Association, Redding.

Participants in region events must be members or associate members of the CSHA in order to compete. Region 2 is composed of nine Northern California counties. Only first place winners at region shows are eligible to compete in the state championship or blue ribbon show, slated this year for Turlock, October 1 through 4.

Miss Fehlman, an associate member of the CSHA through her affiliation with the Montague Lanercettes of which she is co-captain, entered in several events Sunday. She placed first in the figure eight stake and keyhole events. Should she place first in either at the Blue Ribbon show, she plans to enter events at the Cow Palace, San Francisco.

She also placed second in the pole bending event, which makes her eligible as an alternate in the contest at Turlock, should the first place region winner fail to appear.

Diane, who was the 1959 junior queen at the recent eighth annual Junior Rodeo held at Montague in June, started riding horses with her brothers when she was 3 and has ridden at many horse shows and rodeos.
