

Betrayed by a FICKLE DEODORANT?

SWITCH TO VETO...

Veto protection lasts all day!

Veto is the cream deodorant with the exclusive two-way formula for double protection—checks odor and perspiration all day long. Use Veto every day—Veto Cream, Stick or Spray!

CURAD[®]

New "mercy bandage"

won't pull the scab off

Unlike gauze bandages, now CURAD with non-sticking Telfa[®] pad won't hurt when you take it off... won't reopen healing wounds

No more crying when the bandage has to come off. New Curad "mercy bandage" has a pad of Telfa (like the Telfa Dressings used in hospitals). Gauze is covered with a plastic surface which never sticks to the wound, won't pull the scab off.

Flesh color or transparent for adults, Battle Ribbon colors and designs for the kids. Medicated. Waterproof.

Curad bandages for cuts, scratches, Telfa sterile pads for larger wounds.

Bauer & Black
DIVISION OF THE KENDALL COMPANY

Vice President Nixon

(Continued)

much to say about it. But I do know that Mr. Nixon was always interested in politics and I feel Richard must have inherited some liking for it from him.

What really started him on the road was the way Mr. Nixon talked about the Teapot Dome scandal when Richard was 11. He listened to his father with eager fascination. "When I get big," he told me one day, "I'll be a lawyer who can't be bribed."

That was the first step. The next one was almost inevitable.

Richard has always read a lot. It was so important to him that as a boy he would not only spend most of his free time at the library, but when he was in the Navy he promised Eddie a penny a page for all the reading he did. Eddie kept track for a while, but then he gave up.

Richard himself read all sorts of different books, but when he started practicing law, he concentrated mainly on the Congressional Record, which he had sent to him from Washington. That's when I knew he'd be in politics some day.

Top: A Nixon family portrait circa 1918, with Harold, Don, and Richard. Below: youngest brother Ed took time out from naval training when Vice President-brother visited him.

How Many Weeks Is It? — Two?

In summer whom do I miss the most of holiday-bound creatures?
Well, frankly, folks, I must admit—
My homebound children's teachers.
—Lucy Lolli Rankin

A bachelor is a man who thinks a week end is something you rest up in.
—Ken Kraft

The wife was filling out an accident claim for her insurance agent following a misfortune in which she dropped a hassock on her husband's foot. She quickly jotted down details of the accident, but as she neared the end of the form, her face registered bewilderment. "Tell me," she asked the agent, "under this section called 'Remarks'—do you mean mine or his?"

—Al Spong

Drawer-Back

I just gave the catchall kitchen drawer
A clearing it's never enjoyed before.
Just look at this flotsam—a pack rat's plunder!
A handful of keys (to what? I wonder)
Dried putty, a mousetrap, a sponge, a fuse,
Old brushes and jar rings and nails and screws
And string by the mile. This drawer is as tidy
As a schoolteacher's desk at 4 o'clock Friday.

So my only problem is, where can I stash
This gorgeous mess of residual trash?
For worthless as I'll admit I regard it,
I'll never get up the nerve to discard it!
—Georgie Starbuck Galbraith