Registration, License Fees Up This Year

Fees collected by the Department of Motor Vehicles for registrations and driver licenses were up 4.7 per cent during the first six months of 1959, as compared with the same period a year ago.

The department said it collected $9,000,229 during the period for all types of motor vehicle and driver licensing transactions. This compared with $8,590,758 from January through June of last year.

The bulk of the money collected came through registration and other transactions relating to licensing of vehicles. Only $683,624 were collected from licensing of drivers.

All moneys collected by the department for vehicle licensing is turned over to the Highway Fund after operating expenses are deducted. The department also collects the gasoline tax in the state which provides about 40 million dollars annually for the Highway Fund.

Part of the driver license fees collected are earmarked for the motor vehicle accident fund administered by the State Industrial Accident Commission and the driver education fund, administered by the Department of Education.

The department is the second-largest revenue producing agency in the state, second only to the tax commission. Nearly all money collected is dedicated to the Highway Fund.

Lower Fares

LONDON (UPI) — The government-run British Overseas Airways Corporation will introduce low family fares on all trans-Atlantic flights this winter, officials said Saturday. Under the proposed plan, a family of two adults and two children over the age of 12 traveling economy class would pay $1,400 for the London - New York roundtrip instead of the present $1,850.

A MARKET NEWS OFFICE is being set up in Klamath Falls and is open for business in the State Department of Agriculture offices on South Sixth Street. Walt Jendrzejewski, left, Klamath County agent, was introducing the new Market News reporter, William (Bill) Hutto, center, and Fred S. Nightingale, right, acting chief, Fruit and Vegetable Market News, Washington, D.C., while the latter was here over the weekend.

Livestock Show To Last Week

PORTLAND (AP) — The first Pacific International Livestock Exposition in three years opened here Saturday.

Among the attractions of the week-long show are a rodeo and a horse show, with 500 entries.

The last horse show was in 1952 when the fire marshal's office banned the exposition building as dangerous.

The Oregon Centennial Commission leased the structure this year for the Centennial Exposition and renovated and remodeled the structure.

RESEARCH GRANT

PORTLAND (AP) — The University of Oregon Medical School Friday was advised it will receive $108,304 in medical research grants from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Negro Nabbed As Rapist

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A set of car keys led to the arrest of a 32 - year - old Negro construction worker on charges of raping a white housewife.

Sheriff Ray Bridges said Sam Smith of Saraland, Ala., father of six children, was jailed without bail after making an oral statement admitting the Friday night attack.

Officers traced Smith through a set of keys dropped the night of the attack, Bridges reported, and a pistol taken from the victim's home was recovered near Smith's house.

The sheriff also said Smith was picked out of a five-man lineup by the victim and a woman who shot at a prowler the night of the attack.

Basin Potato Growers Get Special Market News Wire

Potato growers will have the latest market reports available to them on a daily basis through the new Market News office at 2237 South Sixth Street, it is announced by Walter Jendrzejewski, Klamath County agent.

William H. (Bill) Hutto is in charge of the office as Market News reporter.

Hutto comes here from Fresno where he was Market News reporter in charge of the Fresno Fruit and Vegetable Market News offices.

He has many years of familiarity with Oregon markets. From 1943 to 1947 he was employed by the Enos Mosher Company at Hatfield. From there, he went to Prineville to be associated with Cal-Ore Packing Company. Then he was in business for himself for a time before returning to his native California to head the Fresno service.

The new Market News office will provide shipping point f.o.b. price information for the Klamath Basin, central Oregon potato district and the Idaho Falls area, as well as selected terminal market sales, Hutto said.

It is the second Market News office in Oregon and the first one established as a shipping point office. The service at Portland is a terminal office, Hutto pointed out.

Fred S. Nightingale, acting chief, Fruit and Vegetable Market News, Washington, D.C., was here for the weekend. A supervisory trip for the Market News office coincided with the opening of the new office here.
