MOST POPULAR of all vegetables among children of the eight to 15-year group is potato chips, according to American Hobby Federation survey among clubs representing 175,000 youngsters. Cooking potato chips is done in huge tanks of specially blended and heated oil kept at a temperature of about 375 degrees. Mechanical arms or "rakes" push the chips down and forward into the vat to insure even cooking. Photo shows cooked chips at the end of their journey through cooking oil. They must then be salted, weighed and packaged.

POTATO CHIPS

More than 1,700 potato chips are dipped in milk, a piece of pineapple, a mushroom, green pepper, meat and fish, each skewer with another cluster of chips dipped in milk.

Broil for 15 minutes at 450 degrees, turning and basting often with the French dressing marinade. Test the meat for the degree of doneness you prefer. It may take only 10 minutes or as much as 20. If broiling in a slow, keep the skewers at least 3 inches from the flame or element.

Lipstick Jazz For Teen-Agers

Young beauties love pink and orange lipsticks. They like to mix their own shades, too, combining the two, or wearing a deeper shade for a special dress or occasion.

For teen-agers, Dorothy Gray introduces Crazy Mixed-Up Kit, a trio of three lipsticks that can be mixed for infinite variety. The shades are Real Cool Red, Real Cool White and Real Hot Orange, each in a golden metal case.

Real Cool White worn under one of the colors creates a soft pastel effect. Over the red or the orange, it makes a frosted pink or coral.

Real Hot Orange combined with Real Cool White gives a glowing pink for wear with pinks, blues and other pastels. Real Hot Orange plus Real Cool White gives sparkle to green, beige and yellow. Real Cool Red alone looks smart with red, black, white, gray and blue. Real Hot Orange is a striking accent with gold, tangerine and brown.

Makeup trick: When the lipstick shades are combined with white for pastel or frosted effects, it is a smart idea to take the lipstick brush and outline the lips in the solid color alone. This model's trick gives definition to the shape result. It is not necessary to turn the lips. It must be done carefully, however, so that the lips are not made to look larger. It should be blended in toward the pasted tone a bit so that there is not a harsh line.

The lipsticks in Crazy Mixed-Up Kit are in Dorothy Gray's Sheer Velvet creamy formula.

CHOCOLATE HONEY

To make a chocolate flavored drink, use 3 tablespoons of Chocolate Honey to each cup of milk. Mix well and serve hot or cold. Make Chocolate honey by mixing 1/2 cup cocoa, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 cup honey, then adding 1 cup hot water gradually. Cook in top of double boiler until smooth and thick. Pour into jar; cover and refrigerate until ready to use in making milk shakes or hot chocolate.
