Dr. Patricia Swenson AAUW Luncheon Speaker

Mrs. A. H. Patterson presided over the American Association of University Women meeting on Saturday, October 17, at the Willard Hotel. Mrs. Phillip Blohm, Oregon state division AAUW higher education chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Patricia G. Swenson, manager of station KBPS, the Portland public school station.

Dr. Swenson, state chairman of mass media for AAUW gave an inspiring talk on the various means of present day communications.

She discussed each communication media separately, encouraging each listener to become active rather than passive in accepting what each of these medias offers. Dr. Swenson left her audience with the desire to educate themselves about their own local medias and be able to offer constructive criticism.

Mrs. D. E. Van Vactor, music chairman introduced Nancy Young who played "Serenade from Indian Sketches" by Lamar Stringfield on the flute accompanied by Carol Baker.

Mrs. Dick B. Miller Sr. gave a preview of the November meeting. Mrs. Richard Newman, dressed appropriately in Hawaiian attire, passed out invitations reading "Come to a Hukilow." Mrs. Blohm, who considers cooking her hobby, will prepare the exotic food.

Mrs. James Penniger and Mrs. George Stevenson were in charge of decorations. The tables were decorated with various products of the fall harvest with a small television antenna as the center of each table piece.

OSC Mother Attends Meeting

Mrs. Phil D. (Polly) Schroeder, vice president of the Oregon State College Mother's Club, attended the executive board meeting and luncheon at the Eugene Country Club on October 16.

Following the meeting she and Mrs. Charles Forrest, state president, motored to Corvallis to visit with Phil Edward Schroeder, a student in mechanical engineering.

On Saturday Mrs. Schroeder and her son attended the OSC-Idaho football game.

Last year the OSC Mothers gave 21 full tuition scholarships amounting to well over $5,000, and are working to pass this mark this year.
