Stocks WALL STREET NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained solidly ahead late this afternoon following a strong rally on renewed hopes of an end to the steel strike. Turnover was heavy. Volume for the day was estimated at 3,500,000 shares compared with 2,800,000 Friday. Key stocks were ahead from 1 to 3 points. Electronics and other more volatile issues exceeded this range by a point or so. The "break" in the 104-day steel walkout occasioned by Kaiser Steel's decision to negotiate separately with the striking steel union was regarded as an omen of an approaching settlement. Gains of more than a point were made by Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin while Youngstown Sheet gained more than 2. Rails responded less enthusiastically, turning mixed in late dealings. U.S. government bonds eased small fractions.

Prohibition Petition Refused

YREKA — The petition for a writ of prohibition filed by St. Germain attorneys and Mrs. Edna W. Ballard in response to a subpoena issued from the Siskiyou County district attorney's office was denied by the district court of appeals. Third Appellate district in Sacramento. The subpoena which was issued from the Siskiyou County Superior Court of Judge James M. Allen, ordered Mrs. Ballard to bring into court, the books and records, including income tax returns both personal and organizational for the years 1953 to 1956, to provide a means for Deputy District Attorney Michael Hennessey to determine whether the relationship between Mrs. Ballard and the St. Germain Foundation is wholly religious or is also a basis for profit. Siskiyou County has been sued by the religious group for refunds in taxes in an estimated amount of $40,000, which the foundation claims to have paid, and which it should not have paid, based on religious exemptions. The controversy first arose when Siskiyou County Assessor L. D. "Babe" Taylor prohibited some of the exemptions as claimed by the foundation on the basis that it was a religious order. Taylor maintained in his opinion that all properties utilized by the order were not confined altogether for religious purposes. Taylor also stated that the final ruling could set a precedent for taxation of such properties. The original subpoena as drawn by Deputy District Attorney Hennessey was rendered unacceptable by Judge Allen on the grounds that the information requested was too broad. Questions allowed by Judge Allen included: (1) Whether the St. Germain Press, Inc., sells to members attending religious convales on St. Germain property in Mount Shasta; the material it publishes? (2) Does the salary of Mrs. Ballard, paid her by the foundation amount to $250,000 a year? (3) Is Mrs. Ballard the sole stockholder in the St. Germain Press, Inc.? (4) Does the St. Germain Press finance a portion of the I AM pageant each year as a promotional aid to the sales of its books and phonograph records? If the foundation's petition has been granted by the appeals court, the records would not have been required to be produced in court, unless the foundation desired to do so. It is expected that the hearing which was scheduled for Tuesday, October 27, will probably be deferred to provide an opportunity for the foundation to appeal to a higher court and also because several of the witnesses live a considerable distance from Yreka.

Siskiyou College Students Elect First Exec Officers

WEED—Students at the new College of the Siskiyou went to the polls last Wednesday to vote in a photo finish run-off election to select their first executive officers. Ted Carlson won by a single vote over Don Freeze in the race to become first student president of the school. Ninety per cent of the students cast ballots at the Student Center, Monday, October 19, to select a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. Ted Carlson and Don Freeze, leading presidential candidates, each failed to accumulate a majority vote in the first election because of ballots cast in favor of Jim Cunningham, a write-in candidate. Elected to office on the first ballot were Marcia Sbarbaro for vice president, Sarah Alvarado as secretary, and Joyce Linville, treasurer. Other candidates were Evangeline Neitzert for vice president, Mrs. Cora Stroschein for secretary and Pete Chinca for treasurer. Managers for the various candidates conducted vigorous campaigns during the week preceding the general election. Each manager introduced his candidate to the students at a general assembly held before the polls opened last Monday. Candidates addressed the students in brief speeches and expressed their awareness of the representatives to get the college off to a successful start and set worthy traditions for future students to follow. Representing the candidates as managers were: for Carlson, Bob Martin; Freeze, John Deskin; Cunningham, Henry Gonzales; Sbarbaro, Sandra Hough; Neitzert, Carole Petersen; Alvarado, Marcia Sbarbaro; Stroschein, Mrs. Janeva Alessio; Linville, Gloria Acquastapace and Chinca, Sam Mangone.

PTA NEWS ETNA

ETNA — A panel of five 4-H members and a leader were presented by Farm Adviser William Ruddiman to explain the 4-H movement for the program of the Etna Elementary Parent-Teachers Association at its monthly meeting. Lorena Dillman, first on the program, gave the history and aims of 4-H. Second to be introduced was Diane Preston, who told about the projects taught through 4-H. Special events in 4-H was the topic selected by Wendy Cassidy. To mention a few, such as the dress revue in July, the parents' night held in December, the yearly talent contest, 4-H Sunday in May and the many events pertaining to entries at the county fair—the judging contest and the exhibits and the junior livestock auction. This Halloween, the 4-H Club is making plans to cooperate with the Methodist young people in seeking donations for the United Nations' Children's Fund, for helping victims of famine throughout the world. Nancy Mathews, president of her club, spoke on "What 4-H Means to Me." Mrs. Jane Cassidy was introduced as a working leader in the 4-H program. She read a selection from the 4-H Leader-Gram explaining what it entails to be a leader and the sacrifice of personal plans of leaders in order to do justice to the 4-H projects. Displays of boards covered with ribbons won by Etna members were viewed and Lorena Dillman presented her entomology collection. Preceding the 4-H program, the business meeting was held with Donna Eller, PTA president, presiding. Members voted to give a dinner for the C.T.A. on November 12 with Nell Jenner appointed by the president as chairman of the dinner committee. Her assistants will be Lois Berry, Mary Ruth Maplesden and Phayes Kays. A pledge of $10 toward a television set for the new county juvenile hall was made by the PTA. Members also agreed to further the safety patrol program and a meeting of the committee members, Betty Young, Jane Cassidy and Mary Ruth Maplesden with John Berry, school principal, was planned for next Friday. Second grade students proved most successful in getting their parents to join the PTA. To date 171 including parents and teachers have become members of the 1959-60 PTA. Refreshments were served by sixth grade mothers, Betty Young and Phayes Kays.

Grand Jury Decision Due In Elderly Woman's Death

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Sierra County's grand jury is to decide today whether Larry Louie Motherwell should stand trial for the death of his elderly and well-to-do traveling companion, Mrs. Pearl Putney. Only four minor witnesses remain to be called before the 12 men and 6 women hearing Dist. Atty. Gordon I. Smith's plea for a murder indictment. Monday 16 persons told the jury in closed hearing what they knew of Motherwell's associations with the 72-year-old Washington, D.C. matron and of their cross-country trip. Her remains were found 19 miles east of here in forested county last Aug. 16. The last time she was seen alive was Aug. 15, 1958, in Marysville, south of here, where she and Motherwell, 43, registered in a motel as Dr. and Mrs. Motherwell. The husky, jut-jawed, itinerant construction worker was invited to testify but declined. He denies any responsibility for Mrs. Putney's death. Smith called relatives of Mrs. Putney, state special agents, county officials, a bank teller from Florida and a postal inspector from Las Vegas, Nev., before the jury. But first he and Motherwell drove 35 miles to Sierraville where a preliminary hearing was continued until next Monday. Smith even held an impromptu lineup in the sheriff's office so a witness, Western Union employee Janis Hampton, could try to identify Motherwell. Smith said Mrs. Hampton picked Motherwell out of a group that also included three other prisoners and Sidney Jones, a state special agent who was also a witness. In earlier investigations, Mrs. Hampton said Motherwell gave her a telegram on Aug. 16, 1958, at the San Francisco Airport. It was addressed to Mrs. Putney's half-brother, Castro M. Dabroha. Mrs. Putney was married, Dabroha, a Chicago advertising executive, and his wife, Norrie, also testified. Smith said Jones interrogated Motherwell last January in Las Vegas and that Motherwell three times changed his story of leaving Mrs. Putney. Another state agent, Key Horton, related that Motherwell, on Aug. 19, 1958, deposited $2,000 in a Washington bank and paid of $2,900 he owed on an automobile, Smith said. The prosecutor said Thomas H. Heah, Sarasota, Fla., told the jury the dead woman withdrew $13,900 from the Palmer First National Bank there in July 1958. She left on her motor trip with Motherwell from Washington, D.C., on June 30, 1958, reportedly owning securities and bank accounts worth $50,000.

New Counsel To Report On Prices

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown Monday asked the new state consumer council to report to him on home loan interest rates and milk prices. Brown made an informal request for studies of the two subjects by Mrs. Helen Nelson, appointed by him a month ago as consumer counsel to represent the state's buyers. Mrs. Nelson told Brown at his monthly meeting with department heads that she felt that high interest rates on home loans and the "point" system of paying additional premiums for home loans were two of her major interests in the new job. "You're going to recommend how to correct this, aren't you?" asked Brown. "I'm going to try to," she replied. Brown said "The reason I say that is that we give a monopoly to savings and loans companies. What we are doing is giving them a license to lend money at high interest rates." The governor said that when the administration raises taxes it has to justify them and "I'd like to know what's the increase in taxation" from the so-called "point system" on home loans. Mrs. Nelson explained that in a light money situation, the loan companies are using a system of collecting premiums for the loans on the basis of points. She said each point is equal to 1 per cent of interest. "Some of the money he (the consumer) would put out for productive expenditures is being drained off by interest," she said. Mrs. Nelson said she also had some recommendations to make to the governor in the field of weights and measures. "While you are talking to the Department of Agriculture about that," Brown said, "you might talk to them about milk." Brown said he was not intimating that the department was not doing a good job in setting milk prices, but he pointed out that the price of milk increases one cent per quart seasonally. "Think of the cost that is to the consumer," he said.

Five Seek Board Posts

YREKA—Five men have been nominated as members of the board of the new Hornbrook Fire Protection District, according to a report by Rachel Cordes, county clerk for Siskiyou County. Nominations to the office are by petition. The men are Thomas B. Watt Jr., Ralph Bennett, Frank R. Cardoza Sr., George McCann and Frank W. Ward. Five offices are to be filled and five have filed with the closing date for filings set for October 28. Election date has been set for November 17. The new district embraces that area around Hornbrook composed of sections 17, 20, 21, 28, 29 and 32, Township 47 North, range 6 West.

Co-Pilot Killed In Air Crash

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP)—An airliner with one engine aflame crashed moments after taking off from Santa Maria Airport Monday night. The co-pilot was killed but 17 passengers escaped serious injury. The two-engine plane skirted oil derricks as it lost altitude over oil fields and farm lands. It crashed through a high tension line and broke in two on a road near a farm house. The wreck, miraculously, didn't burn. The worst injury among the passengers was a fractured collarbone. Co-pilot Joseph Flanagan, 31, of Mountain View, Calif., was thrown 50 feet from the wreck, still strapped in his seat. Pilot Charles W. Craig, 42, of San Mateo, Calif., suffered serious head injuries. Purser Donald Robesky, 31, San Mateo, was hurt slightly. A passenger, Philip French, of Paso Robles, Calif., said the left engine burst into flames shortly after the plane lifted from the runway. "The pilot did a superb job of avoiding hitting the oil derricks," said French. The Pacific Air Lines plane was on a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco via several smaller California cities.

Crash Victim Said Critical

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI)—A 42-year-old woman who was trapped in an upside-down position for nearly seven hours in the wreckage of a small plane was reported in critical condition today at St. Bernardine Hospital. Mrs. Charlotte Mildon of Arcadia, Calif., was rescued Monday from the craft—in which her husband and another couple were killed—when her shouts for help finally attracted residents in the area of the crash. The small plane smashed into the ground late Sunday night a half-mile from the Hesperia, Calif. airport when it hit power lines as it approached for a landing. The plane fell only 300 yards from homes in the area, but residents said they saw nothing when they went to investigate during the night noise made by the craft's impact. Killed in the crash were Mrs. Mildon's husband, Edward, 46, and Sgt. and Mrs. William J. Gibson of nearby George Air Force Base. Gibson was pilot of the plane.

Client Raps Detective

OAKLAND (UPI)—Mrs. Ardye Handley testified Monday that William "Peek-a-Boo" Pennington's services were not worth the $8,100 he is asking as the balance of a $10,000 fee for spying on her husband. Pennington, a private detective, is suing Mrs. Handley, 42, for the $8,100. He claims that amount is due him for six weeks of tailoring Mrs. Handley's husband, Paul, 39, in 1958. Handley and his wife have since reconciled. Mrs. Handley was asked Monday about a brief film which showed her husband, who owns a hotel chain, walking down a street with a girl identified as exotic dancer Ynez Torres. "Mr. Pennington said this film would be worth a million dollars in court," she said. Her attorney, Joseph Y. Young, asked her if she felt she had seen anything incriminating, but the question was blocked by Pennington's lawyer, Edward Peck. However, Mrs. Handley later intimated that Pennington's services were not worth the fee. "Mr. Pennington never identified any of the owners of telephone numbers found in Mr. Handley's pocket," she said.

College Group Opens Meet

YOSEMITE (UPI)—The California Junior College Association opens its fall conference here late today with sports activities the first major item on the agenda. Dr. Edward Simonsen, Bakersfield College president and chairman of the association's Athletic Committee, was to report on proposed changes in conferences and realigning, plus a proposal to raise the present nine-game limit in football to 10. Three tentative zoning proposals for realigning were drafted earlier this month by the committee. Two of the zoning proposals would divide the state into southern, northern and central sections with control of students crossing boundaries to attend schools, while the third would allow a student in so-called free territory a choice of attending any one of the three closest colleges. The nine-game football limit originally was designed to pave the way for state playoffs. However, the playoffs have never developed and a return to 10 games would eliminate present scheduling problems. Other reports to be presented in the opening session involve 1959 legislation, constitution revision and accrediting. Harold L. Enarson, director of Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, was to address delegates tonight. The conference will end Thursday.

Cabin Owners To Air Views

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Cabin owners in the Tahoe National Forest, who have been told to get out to make way for a new highway, will have a chance to air their feelings here Nov. 16 before state and federal officials. Rep. Harold Johnson (D-Calif.) will conduct the meeting. Announcement of the meeting came Monday from one of the cabin owners who said that he had received a letter from Johnson inviting him to attend. John B. Moore, Sacramento, said that federal officials of the Forest Service and the Bureau of Public Roads would be there along with state officers. Moore and others built their cabins after leasing land from the federal government. They have been ordered out for widening of Highway 40. Both state and federal officials have said there is no way to pay them for their lost buildings.

Woman Slain By Bandit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The mother of a San Francisco police sergeant was shot to death Monday night during the holdup of a store she operated with her husband. Two hours after the shooting, two suspects were arrested by police for questioning. Officers said one was wearing a coat similar to one worn by the killer. The victim, Mrs. Emily Davis, 33, was shot through the head by one of the robbers for no apparent reason. She and her husband, Ben, 67, offered no resistance and were walking toward a rear room of the store on the bandits' instructions when the shooting occurred. Mrs. Davis' son, Robert, is attached to the Central Police Station. He was off duty when the slaying occurred. Davis said he did not hesitate when the bandits demanded the money in the cash register. As he and his wife started for the back room, Davis said he heard a single shot. He turned around to see his wife collapse on the floor, and the two bandits flee through the door. Davis, still suffering from shock, was unable to estimate how much money the robbers had taken. "This was a brutal, unnecessary thing," Police Chief Thomas Cahill said. "There was no reason in the world for the bandits to have shot this woman. The robbery had been accomplished." Officers said the robbers were both Negroes. The killer, about 22, was described as five feet, 10 inches tall and weighing 145 pounds. It was the third robbery of the grocery store in five years.
