

Reclamation Group Asks Federal Projects Yearly

DENVER (AP) — The new president of the National Reclamation Assn. Saturday called for some new starts on federal reclamation projects every year.

LaSelle E. Coles of Prineville, Ore., said in an interview:

"Orderly development of reclamation in the light of current day conditions means some new starts each and every year.

"That does not mean a tremendous pyramid of new obligations in any one year but a constant increase in relation to our national economic growth and the population increase."

The Eisenhower administration has opposed new starts the last couple of years but Congress voted some nevertheless.

Coles was elected Friday to succeed Guy C. Jackson Jr. of Anahuac, Texas, as the NRA wound up its 28th annual convention here.

More than 850 persons registered to attend the meetings of the 17-state organization.

Retiring president Jackson said the convention was one of the best the NRA had ever held.

"I believe it marked a turning point for recent years," Jackson said.

"The vision and vigor displayed by the new reclamation commissioner, Floyd E. Dominy, will inspire the NRA to greater efforts."

"Our board also met during the convention with the executive committee of the interstate confference on water problems, a further evidence of increasing liaison with the 31 Eastern states which have become increasingly interested in irrigation in the last 10 years.

"We learned a most significant thing — Mississippi has already changed its water laws to limit riparian rights and make predominant the appropriation theory which is the foundation of Western water laws.

"That illustrates the need for the NRA to consult with and work with the Eastern states."

Coles said he regards obtaining congressional enactment of legislation to protect Western state water rights as the No. 1 objective of the NRA, with the need for a constantly expanding reclamation program just about of equal importance.

The convention again put the water rights legislation as its No. 1 goal by declaring for it in the first of 28 approved resolutions.

Bakersfield, Calif., was voted the 1960 convention site.

Butane Gas Enters City Water Main

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (AP) — A plumber's error plunged this town of 10,000 persons into a night of terror.

Five persons were injured in three explosions Friday night after butane gas gushed into the city water system.

Mayor Harry Booth said the plumber got his lines mixed while working at a small Negro cafe and hooked a gas line from a 250-gallon tank onto a water main. Butane gas is used for heating.

The cafe was almost destroyed and a 5-year-old Negro boy, Larry Thompson, was injured.

A short while later Carolyn Eiland Kennedy started to brush her teeth at her father's home. When she turned on the water spigot, gas fumes reached a pilot light on a heater in the bathroom and an explosion followed. She and her father, Arthur Eiland, were slightly injured.

The third explosion occurred at the home of Miss Elizabeth Dennis, supervisor of lunchrooms for the county school system. She and a teacher, Miss Lillie Waldron, were injured. Those two and young Larry were hospitalized.

After the trouble was found, area television stations and police officers with megaphones warned residents not to turn on their water.

The mayor said early Saturday that many thousands of gallons of water had been flushed from all the mains.

State Claims Cole Defense 'Convenience'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The black-out defense by accused Cop-Slayer George Cole was termed a "convenience born of necessity" Friday by the prosecution, who asked the jury for a first-degree murder conviction.

Cole's case for the 1956 shooting of Sergeant Joseph Lacey during a holdup attempt is expected to go to the jury of seven women and five men Monday.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Francis Mayer summed up the prosecution's case in one hour Friday, stating that the state would rest on the evidence so far presented. This evidence includes positive identification by witnesses who said they saw Cole in the tavern where the fatal shooting took place.

Mayer emphasized that Cole has admitted his alleged "black-out" caused by beer and barbiturates was "the only time in his life" he was so affected. Cole testified Thursday that he remembered nothing of the night of the crime in San Francisco.

Mayer also discussed the death weapon, which Cole admits having had in his possession a few hours before the shooting.

"The gun that was in Cole's hand that night was found buried in Oregon along the route of his flight from San Francisco," the prosecutor said.

Cole's own attorney, Gregory Stour, was to follow Mayer's presentation with a closing argument of his own.

Disease Perils Valley Pears

CORVALLIS (AP) — An unknown plant disease is threatening the Medford area's 14 million dollar pear industry and a legislative interim committee thinks the state should provide some help to growers.

State Sen. Francis Ziegler (R-Corvallis), chairman of the Interim Committee on Agriculture, said the group will urge that the state Emergency Board provide funds to help finance research on the disease.

The Pear Growers League, which said it has spent $28,000 on research since the disease first struck two years ago, is asking the state for $17,000 to continue research.

The plant disease study is being made by Henry Hartman, Oregon State College pear specialist.
