

Girl Returns From Near Death

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Pretty, hazel-eyed Nancy Messick has returned from a living death.

On May 27, the 17-year-old high school senior suffered a brain injury in an automobile accident. She lay in a coma for weeks.

Then, Aug. 28—"That's the day—the first time since she was hurt—that she called me Momma," says Mrs. David F. Messick of Winston-Salem.

But Nancy's doctor says her thinking still has to "come around." She doesn't remember the accident.

Prison Camp Plans Told

TULELAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fletcher, Bakersfield, recent buyers of the land area and buildings occupied by the Army troops during the occupation of the Tulelake Japanese War Relocation Center in World War II, plan wide-spread use of the property.

The area contains an approximate 80 acres, 21 under high wire fence, 45 buildings including several apartments, large mess halls, barracks and utility units. It was purchased from the General Services Administration.

The site, since evacuation at the end of the war in 1945, had been under jurisdiction of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

No announcement on sale price was made public here.

Fletcher said buildings will be converted to use as a boys' camp, club or lodge, apartments will be reconditioned and rented, and other buildings will be used for hunting lodges, commercial industry and storage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will make their home on the property.
