

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE regulatory officers from Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho and California met for discussion of problems of standardization of inspection and shipping at the Willard Hotel. Shows from left are Forbes Bailey, state of Washington, U.S. Department of Agriculture; Herman W. Peterson, Sacramento, California Department of Agriculture; Edgar Johnson, San Francisco, USDA supervisor; W. L. (Bill) Close, Salem, USDA shipping point supervisor, and William Kellogg, Boise, Idaho Department of Agriculture. Nursery regulations and fruit and vegetable inspection and standardization discussions were principal matters on the agenda.

ABOUT-TO-BE parents interested in learning how to care for the newcomer may register for free baby care classes given under direction of the Klamath Basin Chapter, Red Cross, at the Red Cross office, TU 4-4125. The next class begins December 1. Classes are held at the Cherub Diaper Service, South Sixth Street, where space is donated by Mrs. C. M. Gilmore. Left to right are Mrs. Naomi Miller, public health nurse, instructor; Mr. and Mrs. Dennison Parolini, 2143 Gary Street, and Mrs. Gilmore, owner of the diaper service.

ONE-JAPANESE submarines still are seen at Pearl Harbor, as witnessed by Marine Capt. Don Miller of Klamath Falls, center left. Miller, a construction firm executive, spent two weeks of active reserve duty in Hawaii. Incidentally, he began his tour of duty by hitchhiking a plane ride to San Francisco with Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle a few weeks ago. Others in the photo are Major R. G. Russell of Winslow, Washington; Capt. R. Bouwman, Portland, and, at right, Major John Michaud, stationed at Pearl Harbor.

MINOR CHANGES in grades of Washington apples for shipment were discussed at the annual Klamath Falls Standardization Conference held at the Willard Hotel last week. Ray Kern of Yakima, center, with the Washington Department of Agriculture, presided at the Thursday sessions. At left is M. C. Erickson of San Francisco, the U.S. Department of Agriculture. At right is A. E. (Gene) Strowbridge of Sacramento, California Department of Agriculture, who retires January 1 after 10 years as secretary of the conference. Walter Chester, Sacramento, bureau shipping point inspector was elected as his successor. New chairman is Hugh Taylor of Salem, Oregon Department of Agriculture.

REV. ROBERT C. GROVES, pastor of First Presbyterian Church and member of the Chamber of Commerce Hospital Survey Fund Committee, says, "I believe that the hospital survey is imperative, in order that we can have a blueprint to guide us. We need to know the size of such a facility, and component parts necessary for adequate medical care our county."

STUDENTS STAGE PROTEST
BRUSSELS (UPI) — About 150 Brussels University students demonstrated Thursday against the sending of conscripts to fight native uprisings in the Belgian Congo. The demonstration took place while a troop ship with 170 reinforcements left Ostend for the Congo. Among the troops were both conscripts and regular army men, but the government said all were volunteers.
