

ASSOCIATED PRESS NEWS IN PICTURES

MONARCHIAL ARCADE — Belgian King Baudouin leads officers under a symmetrical arch formed by gun barrels of lined-up armor at Dueren, West Germany. The young ruler was on an inspection tour of Belgian troops stationed in the area.

WINDY WELCOME — Mary Jo Jones of Washington, D. C., and Sheila Finn of Scotia, N. Y., view New York from liner porthole upon return from Europe.

A SAMURAI'S SWORD — Japanese swordsmith Takeshi Yakuwa protects his hand with a handkerchief as he holds aloft a newly forged blade for a Samurai sword. The sword is both a Shinto religious object of reverence and an effective weapon.

SIDELINE SIGHT — Loras College end Jerry Moseler uses his helmet guard to support an ice bag for a facial bruise during recent grid game at Dubuque, Ia.

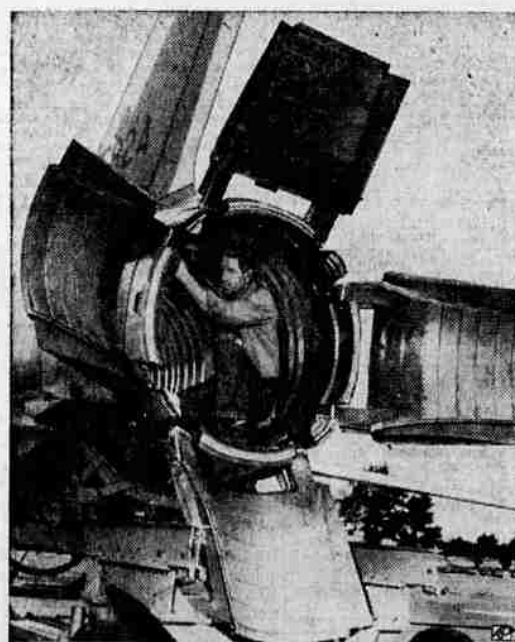

COAST TO COAST — This huge bell-shaped object is part of a wind tunnel being lifted off barge at Mays Landing, N. J., following trip from California. It's enroute to the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center at Atlantic City.

ARPA HEAD — Physicist Charles L. Critchfield is the incoming director of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency. He succeeds Roy W. Johnson.

TREE MEMENTO — This is the oak in Pfäfers, West Germany, where Martin Luther is believed to have rested in 1521 while enroute to the Diet of Worms.

PUSH 'N' HOLD — Workman adjusts the speed brake assembly at rear of F-105 fighter-bomber. Opened, they act as brake; closed, they add thrust to jet engine.

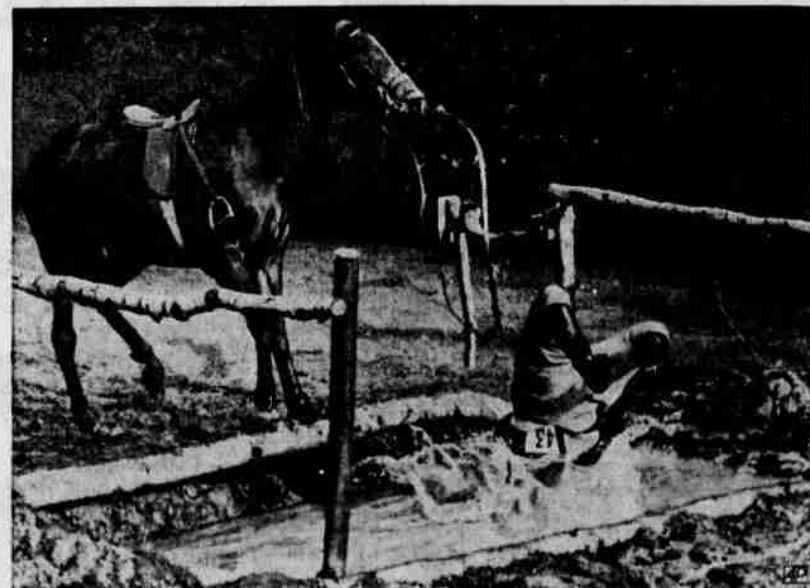

NORTHMAN — Famed Arctic explorer Vilhjalmur Stefansson poses at Dartmouth College where he is a consultant on polar studies. He was 80 years old Nov. 3.

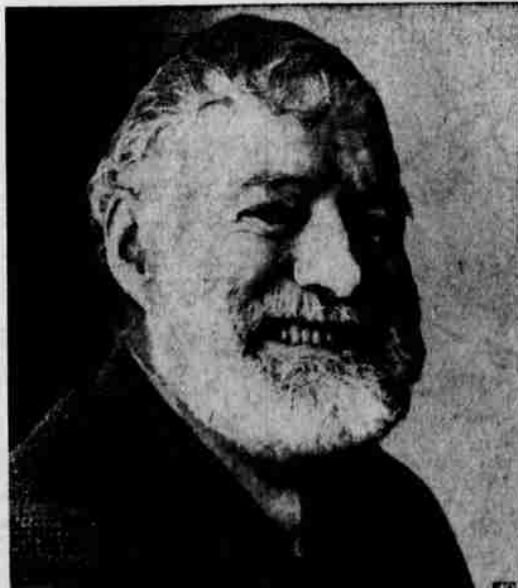

GUARD FOR LEADER — The Aga Khan IV passes under the sacred Koran held aloft by his followers to protect him against evil as he arrives at Mayme, Iran. The youthful spiritual leader of the Ismaili Moslems was there to attend a gathering.

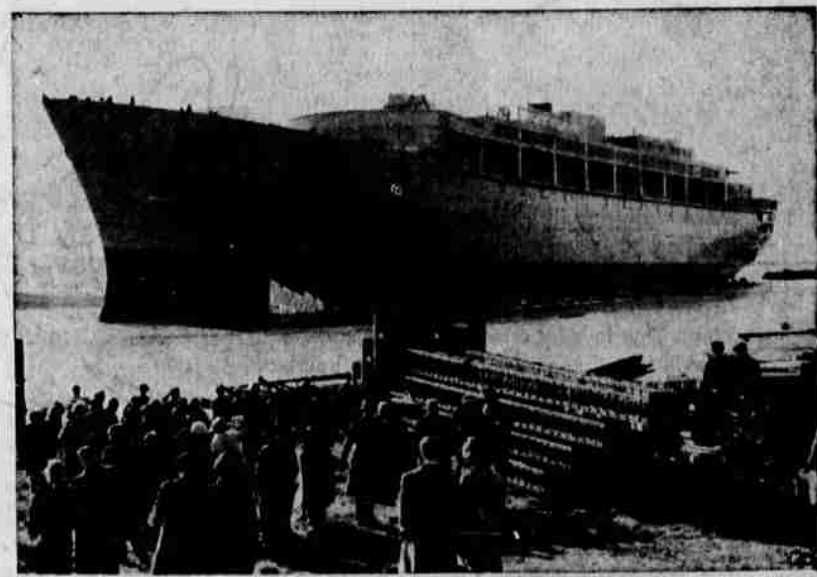

PARKED HIGH — Traffic is heavy in New York but not so heavy that trucks have taken to the rooftops. It's a mock-up tractor trailer atop a freight office.

ABRUPT DEPARTURE — Apparently this mount doesn't like water but has no objections to the rider taking to it. Miss Pamela Faulkner, the rider, emerged soaked but unscathed following hazard mishap at hunter trials in Chiselmurst, England.

WRITER'S RETURN — Ernest Hemingway smiles upon arrival in New York from Spain where he spent summer watching bullfights. He's enroute to Cuba.

WAYS TO THE WAVES — The Orient liner Oriana rides high after coming down the ways at Barrow-in-Furness in Lancashire. The 40,000-ton craft, the largest passenger liner ever built in England, was christened by Princess Alexandra of Kent.