

JOHNNY CARROLL

Singer Sets Appearance

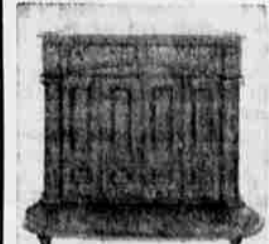

Johnny Carroll and The Spinners, a popular rock 'n' roll combination in the Western states, will appear Saturday evening in the Klamath Auditorium for a show and dance, promoter Baldy Evans announced. Carroll and his band have played frequently in Texas and Oklahoma, the West Coast and in the Rocky Mountain area. Carroll believes he has found a "new sound," with the accent on bass rather than guitar. Carroll has recorded "The Swing" and "Bandstand Doll." Both tunes received national popularity. His most recent recordings are "Sugar" and "Ballad of a Lost Sweetheart." The Spinners, with Grady Owen on electric bass, Howard Reed on lead guitar, Bill Hennen on piano and Royce McAfee on drums, also have recorded their current disks are "Little Otis" and "Rag Mop." They play rhythm and blues, country and western, popular music, ballads and jazz as well as rock 'n' roll, Evans says. The show begins at 9 p.m. and will continue until 1 a.m.

Illegal Cutting

MEDFORD — The Bureau of Land Management employees have apprehended two persons cutting Christmas trees in trespass in the Pilot Rock Area near the Siskiyou Summit. Last week they were fined $200 for lack of a commercial cutting permit. In addition, $250, representing triple damages, has been collected for the removal of 83 trees from Bureau of Land Management lands. Other possible unauthorized cutting is under investigation as uncovered in the routine Christmas Tree Patrol conducted by the Bureau of Land Management over this past weekend.

Psychologist Joins Clinic

Klamath County Child Guidance Clinic will have the services of a qualified psychologist, it was announced at the last meeting of the Klamath County Child Guidance Advisory Council. Dr. S. M. Kerron, Klamath County health officer, told the advisory board members that Charlotte David has been employed. She is presently working for her doctorate at Portland University. She earned her master's degree earlier from Columbia University. She will be paid by Klamath County from funds allocated by the state, Dr. Kerron said, and she will spend one day a month at Medford, as well. The present plan is for her to come to Klamath Falls late Sunday, December 13, for her next trip. She will work with the clinic personnel and Mildred Lowden, psychiatric social worker for the county, on Monday. She will spend the following day at Medford and return to Portland that night.

It is estimated that she can make an average of four testings here on each trip. The child guidance clinic has been without the services of a psychologist for several months. Miss David's employment was recommended by Dr. John Waterman of the state health department, and Dr. Henry Dixon Jr., Clackamas County psychiatrist, who is serving the clinic here twice a month. Mrs. Hagan Moore, chairman of the Klamath County Child Guidance Advisory Council, announced that the Council will hold a meeting at the county health offices at noon on December 14 so that members may meet the new staff member.

Art Fair Display Set

Unusual, artistic, handmade gifts will be on display and ready for sale at the second annual Christmas Art Fair to be sponsored by the Klamath Art Association on opening day this weekend. The fair and sale will continue through Saturday and Sunday, November 28 and 29, and will be open again December 4, 5 and 6. Hours on Friday, November 27, will be 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, November 28, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, November 29, it will be open 2 to 5 p.m. Corresponding times are scheduled for the December opening.

The quaint old Moore home on Riverside Drive in Maple Park, where the new Art Center is being completed, will backgroud this year's sale. Wiring still needs to be installed in the new structure. The new art gallery will be open for public inspection during the display. Expected for exhibit and sale will be pottery by Curtis of Eugene; silk screen linens by Blomquist, Klamath Falls; hand woven textiles by Polly Dixon, Eva Burkhalter and Dorothy Anderson; artwork by Paul Guest and Howard Hall; mosaic by Lois Takaes; silk screen, Christmas hangings, and handwrought Christmas cards, the Kenners; Christmas decorations from native materials, paintings and drawings, members of the Art Association; sterling jewelry by Jim and Lyle Matousk, San Francisco; novelty decorations by Margaret Knoll, Klamath Falls; and interesting work of other artists, local and distant. The public is invited to view the display. The 1958 art fair was featured in Sunset Magazine with pictures.

Plan For Berlin Likely, But Not At Summit Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter thinks the Western powers could negotiate with the Soviet Union a new and better plan for the future of disputed Berlin—but he is by no means sure they will be able to do so in the summit discussions now foreseen. This cautiously hopeful view was expressed by Herter at a news conference Tuesday when he struck back at criticism of the administration's Berlin attitude voiced by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson in a speech last week. Acheson contended that an effort to make a Berlin deal with the Soviet Union would result simply in a defeat for the West. "Negotiation," Acheson said, "is only a polite, misleading phrase for a retreat and an acceptance of Russian terms." Herter told questioning reporters that what Acheson had done "was to build up a number of straw men and then knock them down." Acheson assumed, he said, that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is standing on the same position he proclaimed a year ago when he exploded the Berlin crisis by threatening to force the United States, Britain and France to pull out of West Berlin. Actually, Herter said, the Soviet position has moved "a very long way" from that. Furthermore, Herter said, Acheson lacked "any grounds for assuming that we were necessarily going to make concessions which would be detrimental to the preservation of West Berlin's freedom." Herter said the Western powers should be able to agree in Paris next month on a proposed date for a Big Four summit meeting, and he knows of no plan to delay such a meeting until 1961, as London reports have speculated. The Berlin issue is one of the major topics due for discussion with Khrushchev when the summit meeting is held, probably next spring. Asked whether he thought a new and better arrangement than that now in existence could be worked out for Berlin, Herter replied: "It can be. I'm not sure that it will be. I wouldn't predict that it necessarily would be. I think we would like to make a better arrangement if we could." The present position of Western forces in West Berlin is based on war-sworn rights of occupation. The Western powers supply their forces there, and civilian goods move to the city, through corridors across Communist East Germany. Khrushchev threatened a year ago to turn over total control of the corridor to East Germany, which might then have closed the corridor. Herter said Khrushchev had moved away from this threat and that the Soviet Union in the last year had several times "admitted our legal rights" in West Berlin. These were the acts which showed he said, that the Soviet position has "come a very long way" from that which precipitated the crisis a year ago. At the same time, however, Herter did not talk about any new formula which might solve the dispute.

Yule Seals In The Mail

Thanks to the efficient help of numerous volunteers, the 1959 Christmas seals for the prevention and control of tuberculosis, went into the mail this week for the opening of the traditional fund-raising campaign. "Protect the family circle" is the aim of this year's campaign, stated Mrs. Jim Conroy of Malin, president of the Klamath County Tuberculosis and Health Association. She pointed out that the sale of Christmas seals finances many health services such as X-ray surveys, tuberculin testing programs, school and community health education, 42 research projects and rehabilitation services for the tuberculosis patient who cannot return to the rigors of his former employment. Assisting at the local office with the long task of preparing thousands of envelopes for distribution were volunteers from the Eight at Forty Salon of the American Legion, a group of women dedicated to the prevention of TB among children or assistance to those already afflicted; several members of Klamath Quota Club, a women's service organization, and other helpful supporters of the health association. Seal sale chairmen took over the job in other areas throughout the county—Mrs. Dwight Kircher at Chiloquin; Mrs. Cecil Haley, Bonanza; Mrs. Mary Heinrich, Beatty; Mrs. Melvin Brooks, Merrill; Mrs. James Ottoman, Malin; Mrs. W. W. Smallwood Jr., Gilchrist; Mrs. Hope N. Brader, Crescent; Mrs. Joe De-Grande, Keno, and Mrs. Frieda Varnum at Sprague River. Both Mrs. Conroy and Mrs. Joy Rolph, new executive secretary of the association, expressed appreciation to all the individuals who donated hours of work on these letters that solicit the cooperation of Klamath residents on this public health problem.

Survey Grant Given Tutor

Fred Foulou of Oregon Technical Institute recently was awarded a state certificate of registration allowing him to survey land in Oregon, Director W. D. Purvine announced. Foulou is curricular chairman of the engineering associates division at OTI. To earn the certificate, issued by the state Board of Engineering Examiners, he needed six years' surveying experience and had to pass written and oral examinations. Foulou and his survey class have been working with the State Highway Department photogrammetric division, surveying the new OTI campus site and drawing contour maps of the area. His class was responsible for the survey's ground control. Aerial photographs of the plot were provided by the state forestry. Foulou is beginning his sixth year as a member of the OTI faculty. Previously he worked for the Highway Department as a computer. He is a member of the American Society for Engineering Education and the American Technical Education Association. He was graduated from the University of Oregon.

Stassen Hit By Tax Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Does Republican Harold Stassen, recently defeated for mayor of Philadelphia, owe the city wage taxes for the years 1953 to 1956? Stassen met privately Tuesday with two city revenue agents in an effort to iron out the question, which was a key campaign issue in his bid to unseat Democrat Richardson Dilworth. There was no comment from either side on the outcome. Stassen claims he worked in Washington as President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser during the period and paid taxes in Maryland. The city says Stassen owes the wage taxes because he kept his residence here.

Missile Design Compound Told

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Emerson Electric Co. has developed a new compound which it claims may revolutionize missile design. The compound is applied like paint and makes it possible to keep missiles and space craft cool as their high-speed passage through the atmosphere creates temperatures of thousands of degrees, the company said. The new product, "Thermo-Lag," is being tested on several pace devices.

A SURVEYING LICENSE was awarded last week by the state to Fred Foulou, right, of OTI. He was congratulated by A. V. McVey, Engineering Associates Division head.

Supervisors Take Trip

FORT ROCK — Supervisors of the Fort Rock - Silver Lake Soil Conservation District and a group of local district cooperators went on a field trip to Viewpoint Ranches, Inc., in the Christmas Lake area recently. The group saw a 640-acre pasture development, the most extensive in this area. Oris Rudd, Lake County extension agent, led the group in a discussion following their field observations. This was a joint meeting with Rudd, the ASC and the local district to help coordinate the services and promote better understanding among the groups. George Manning and Bob Par-due, Lakeview, and Van Withers, Paisley, represented the ASC program. Everett Green, local work-unit conservationist serving the district, assisted with the plans. Robert Morehouse, Viewpoint manager, is a district supervisor.
