

Chief To Live In Palace Filled With Many Memories

ROME (AP) — During his visit to Rome President Eisenhower will live in a 400-year-old palace full of memories of popes and kings, dictators and presidents.

Pope Sixtus V, Pope Pius VI, Pope Pius VII, Pope Pius IX, Napoleon, King Vittorio Emanuele II, Kaiser Wilhelm, President Woodrow Wilson, Adolf Hitler.

These are some of the names in the history of the Quirinal Palace — pronounced kwee-en-mal.

Eisenhower will spend Friday and Saturday nights in this official home of Italian presidents.

All chiefs of state on formal visits to Rome stay there. But Eisenhower's host, Italian President Giovanni Gronchi, does not sleep there. Gronchi prefers to live in his old Rome apartment.

Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm, on a state visit here just before World War I, was the first guest to use this suite.

Virtually every top state visitor to the Italian capital since then has used the apartment.

The exterior of the 1,500-room building is deceptive. The burnt orange paint is peeling away and weather-beaten shutters add to the faded look.

But inside everything sparkles. While much of the furniture is 100 to 200 years old, the interior has been redone frequently.

Eisenhower's suite has seven rooms. The bathroom is modern though done in marble to resemble an ancient Roman bath.

The "green salon" can be used as a dining room. Walls and furniture are covered in blue-green velvet. Tables are of green marble.

There are two more parlors. One has a mirrored ceiling and walls paneled in Japanese black and white lacquer. The other boasts a magnificent 18th century walnut buffet with designs of inlaid ivory and mother of pearl.

The bedroom has an ornate gilt and white ceiling and walls covered by a pea green silk brocade. French and Flemish tapestries adorn many walls. Each room also has one or more paintings by Italian Renaissance masters.

"Imperial apartment No. 2" adjoins No. 1. It will be used by Eisenhower's daughter-in-law, Barbara.

Prince Rainier of Monaco and his American wife, the former Grace Kelly, were the most recent occupants of the imperial suites.

Pope Sixtus V built the palace atop Quirinal Hill, one of the seven hills of ancient Rome, in the 16th century. Most popes used it as a summer residence.

Eisenhower will be shown many of the Quirinal rooms connected with papal history. He will see the palace in all its splendor Friday night, when he is Gronchi's guest at a state dinner followed by a reception.

Singer Engaged To Disc Jockey

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Anita Bryant says she's engaged to a Miami, Fla., disc jockey.

The 19-year-old singer who commutes between shows in Hollywood and Chicago said she and Bob Green, 25, of radio station WINZ plan to marry sometime next summer and live in Miami.

Miss Bryant appears on the George Gobel television show in Hollywood and Don McNeill's Breakfast Club in Chicago.

Shipbuilders Open Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pacific Coast shipbuilding industry and allied trades open a two-day meeting Thursday aimed at forming a permanent organization against Atlantic and Gulf Coast competition.

Some 250 employer and labor officials, as well as civic representatives, are expected to attend.

Regional unification was timed to coincide with a Senate Commerce Committee hearing on maritime affairs to be conducted here by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash).

Before Congress are proposals to amend legislation which now makes it possible for West Coast firms to obtain jobs if their bids are not more than six per cent larger than those submitted by Eastern shipbuilders.

That provision was incorporated into the 1936 Merchant Marine Act which sought to keep Pacific Coast shipyards open in the interest of national defense. It is based on the higher price of labor and materials in the West.

Under its provisions, three ship construction or conversion contracts totaling about $85 million have been won by Western shipyards in recent years.

"OWLS" BATTLE CRIME TOKYO (UPI) — Special "nightowl patrols" of plainclothes police will be on duty during the Christmas and New Year's holiday season to cope with an expected increase in crime, Japanese police announced today. The policemen are selected for their skill in judo and receive extensive training for night duties.

Merchants Seek Entries

The big annual Klamath Falls Christmas Parade is going to be bigger than ever this year, say local Junior Chamber of Commerce members who are sponsoring it with the Klamath Merchants Association.

They are calling for entries. Last year's parade sported 50, so Jaycees are mailing letters of invitation and entry blanks to the same firms, organizations and individuals, and more to others who did not enter.

The parade will wind up Main Street beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday, December 12. Jaycees have a list of prizes awaiting the victors.

First, second, third and fourth prizes will amount to $100, $75, $50 and $25 respectively, and they will go to the floats or groups best depicting the parade theme, "The Christmas Spirit."

Entries will be judged 40 per cent on originality, 20 per cent on artistic composition, 20 per cent on workmanship and 20 per cent on public response.

Judging will take place before and during the parade. Entries should be in the hands of the Klamath Jaycees Parade Chairman, P.O. Box 407, no later than December 7.

Entrants are asked to assemble at Third Street and Klamath Avenue at 9:45 a.m. Each will receive a parade number from the division director.

The entry blank printed above will suffice. They are also available from merchants and Jaycee members.

Tips Offered For Curbing Tree Fires

Each time a citizen, imbued with the Christmas spirit, hikes off into the brush or to the corner lot to get a tree, members of the Klamath Basin Firefighters Association chalk up another potential fire alarm.

Christmas trees, if they are not treated correctly, can and frequently do burn, with resulting heavy losses across the nation, say members.

They offer the following safety tips, and they will be glad to volunteer further information if residents call any local fire department. The tips:

- 1. Choose a small tree. It can be just as pretty and less hazardous.
2. Keep the tree outdoors until it's ready to install.
3. Don't set the tree up until just before Christmas.
4. Keep it in the coolest part of the home, away from radiators, heaters or fireplaces, and stand it in water to retard drying.
5. Use fireproof decorations of glass or metal, not cotton or paper, unless they are flameproofed.
6. Don't set up electric trains near the tree.
7. Use electric lights, not candles. Inspect each electric socket and wire for condition. Discard frayed wiring.
8. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning lights on and off.
9. Don't leave lights burning when away from home.
10. Inspect the tree from time to time to see if any needles near the lights have begun to turn brown. If so, change light positions.
11. Take the tree down and discard it when needles start falling.
12. Discard gift wrapping when gifts are opened.
Trees may be flameproofed with various chemicals available locally, but firemen are anxious lest tree-owners do the job without consulting their local fire department. A poorly flameproofed tree is still a hazard, they say. Cotton and gauze, they add, may be flameproofed by dipping in a solution of one gallon of water and nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid.

Director Freed On Drunk Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie director Patrick M. Ford Wednesday was acquitted of a felony drunken driving charge.

It was the second trial for the 38-year-old son of Producer-Director John Ford. His first ended in a jury disagreement.

Ford was arrested May 19, 1958, after a collision with a car driven by Darwin F. Fielding. Police said Ford failed to pass a sobriety test.

LEGAL NOTICE The Board of Directors of the Langell Valley Soil Conservation District will meet Wednesday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in regard to mortgaging district equipment in order to purchase new equipment.
