

A BEVY of pretty junior girls are all set to back their Klamath Union High School JV basketball squad to victory this season. For the first time in the history of the school a JV yell squad has been elected by the junior class. Dressed in smart white outfits with red and white shoes to match their pompons, they will go through their routines at every performance of the JV team. Sharon Powell, at left, is the Junior Yell Queen. Others are from the left, Diane Drew, JoAnne Olson, Sue Phair and Margaret Gallagher.

SOCIETY

By HELEN BECHEN

THE FIRST SHOWING of the annual Christmas art fair sponsored by the Klamath Art Association was held last weekend at the Moore home in Maple Park. Many items were displayed for sale or order including hand woven material, ceramics, wall hangings and holiday decorations. Indian crafted jewelry was also shown by Mrs. Clyde (Luella) James. Mrs. Martha McLaughlin, who does ceramics work, is pictured admiring mosaic tiles made by Lois Takach, art teacher at KUHS. The fair is open again this week and next. Mrs. Gordon Kensler may be contacted at TU 4-9573 for information. —Photo by Guderian

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS found four generations represented on both sides of the Ray Michels family of 2502 Vine Street. Pictured with eight weeks old Melanie Rae Young are, left to right, Mrs. H. M. Parkhurst, Mrs. Elizabeth Michels, Mrs. Merle (Carol) Young and Mrs. Ray Michels. During the week the two great-grandmothers also celebrated their birthdays. Mrs. Parkhurst, 72 on November 20, has returned to this city to reside after living several years in Portland. Mrs. Michels of Salem was 80 years old on November 23. —Photo by Guderian

Herald and News Klamath Falls, Oregon Sunday, December 6, 1959

A FLYING TRIP from Connecticut was made recently by Mrs. Paul F. Cruikshank to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her son, Paul Cruikshank and his family at their home, 1020 Pacific Terrace. She left on Tuesday for Tacoma to visit briefly before returning to her home in Watertown. During this trip to Klamath Falls, her second, Mrs. Cruikshank enjoyed several short motor trips to local points of interest. —Photo by Guderian

MRS. GENE (CLARICE) COX, pictured with her daughter, Willa, points with pride to her illustrated article, "Captain Cook, The Man History Forgot," which appears in the holiday edition of Paradise of the Pacific. This edition of the magazine commemorates over 50 years of publication in Honolulu. Mrs. Cox is a part time English teacher at Klamath Union High School. (Story on page 2) —Photo by Guderian

FAREWELLS were said to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wells, left, at a cocktail party on November 25 given by Maj. and Mrs. Daniel G. Reed, right, at their home in Falcon Heights. The

Wells' left last weekend for their new home in Fresno where he is manager of the Ward's Store.

—Photo by Sgt. Charles Bennett

PICTURED at the cocktail party given in honor of the Jim Wells' are from left to right, the hosts, Maj. and Mrs. Daniel Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Wells, Lt. Col. Wilson V. Edwards,

Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Jack Williams, Mrs. Claire Ellis and Col. Jack Williams.

—Photo by Sgt. Charles Bennett