

Blizzard, Flood, Storms Lash Europe For Third Day

LONDON (AP) — Hurricane winds howled around the storm-lashed coasts of Europe for the third day today. The great storm brought blizzards, floods and a deep freeze from the northern tip of Scandinavia down through central Europe.

The death toll from the battering by the elements edged toward 60.

After nearly 24 hours of heavy rain along the French Riviera, engineers and rescue workers braced to meet a new flood threat in the Reyran River valley, where more than 300 persons died in the break of the Malpas Dam last week.

The Reyran was rising rapidly, and a fleet of buses stood ready to evacuate about 2,500 people from the seaside suburb of Frejus-Plage.

In the Atlantic, mountainous waves up to 80 feet high buffeted great liners, putting them as much as 24 hours behind schedule.

The captain of a French navy weather frigate reported from far out in the Atlantic: "I have just heard from an American ship. Her captain thinks the storm has put 300 ships in difficulties."

British Coast Guardsmen answered distress signals from the 3,000-ton Swedish freighter Anna, driven ashore on the rocky east coast of Scotland. A line was rocketed to her deck, and rescue teams prepared to hoist the crew to the overhanging cliffs.

Only a few miles away the 27-ton British trawler George Robb had heeled over on the rocks earlier Monday. All her crew of 12 men were lost and a Coast Guardsman collapsed and died during the search for survivors.

In the English Channel a Dutch tug with two barges in tow found shelter in Torbay after sending out distress signals. Two men were swept overboard from one barge. A lifeboat picked up both, but one was dead.

Off the Portuguese port of Leixoes, the storm smashed a tug towing a 400-ton frigate and a 450-ton barge. All three vessels and 17 crewmen were lost.

Scandinavia caught the full force of the storm. The Baltic was swept almost clean of shipping. On land hundreds of trucks and automobiles were abandoned in snowdrifts. Trains were derailed. Villages were cut off. Snow plows were stranded.

Heavy snowfalls were reported from northern Italy, Austria and Switzerland.

JURORS "DUG UP"

UXBRIDGE, England (UPI) — Three jurors failed to show up for duty Wednesday and the judge ordered the bailiff to do something about the shortage. The jury was complete with three men found digging a ditch for a gas main outside the court.

Riots Fail To Disturb Routine Of Panama Canal

PANAMA (AP) — Anti-American riot or no riot, the Panama Canal keeps busy every day.

Twenty-seven ships laden with freight and passengers are lifted and lowered 85 feet from one ocean to another on a daily average. Fifty million tons of cargo go through the locks between the Atlantic and the Pacific every year.

In money the U.S.-operated Canal Zone means more than 71 million dollars yearly to the country it divides. This is 12 million dollars more than the national budget. It makes up Panama's own foreign trade deficit, the difference between what it sells and what it buys.

Yet some of Panama's million poverty-stricken inhabitants are unhappy. They want more money from the "Colossus of the North" in return for use of the strip 10 miles wide across their country. Most of all, they say, they want their flag to fly over it.

Panamanians feel their sovereign rights were sold out to the United States by the French engineer, Philippe Buneau-Varilla, when the fledgling government of Panama sent him to Washington in 1903 to sign a treaty with Secretary of State John Hay.

The United States in its urge to build the canal had encouraged Panama to cut off from Colombia. French private interests having failed at the loss of 22,000 men to dig a big ditch across the isthmus, the United States bought their property and rights for 40 million dollars in 1904. The treaty Buneau-Varilla signed granted the United States the right to govern the zone for all time "as if it were sovereign." Buneau-Varilla did it to get back some of the money the French had sunk in the swampy jungles.

The United States paid the infant republic 10 million dollars outright and began paying a yearly rent of $200,000. It finished the canal in 10 years at a cost of 425 million dollars. It also made tropical Panama a healthy place to live.

Exercising sovereign rights through the Canal Zone government and operating the waterway through the Panama Canal Company, the United States signed further treaties with Panama in 1936 and 1955. These, among other things, granted certain commercial concessions to this rapidly growing country.

Canal Zone authorities say direct benefits to Panama now amount to $24,600,000 a year. This is paid in wages to 16,000 Panamanians who work in the zone, in contracts for construction and services, for food and supplies.

In addition, they estimate that 47 million dollars are pumped into the economy of Panama through the payrolls and purchases of other U.S. agencies, the spending of Canal Zone families and the U.S. armed forces on guard over the canal, disability relief payments to former employees, the spending of U.S. tourists.

This compares with the Panama government's budget for 1959 of approximately 38 million dollars. The total equals the deficit between Panama's imports of $92,800,000 in 1958 and its exports of about $21,200,000, mainly of bananas, shrimp and cocoa beans.

U.S. authorities say that Panama thus lives largely off the canal. Yet many Panamanians resent the 11,000 Americans who live and work in the zone, look enviously at the way they live.

Some Panamanian politicians are demanding half the gross revenue from the canal tolls, which was $83,100,000 in 1958. The net revenue last year was $2,700,000. Panama has been collecting a rent of $1,900,000 yearly since 1955. Throughout its 45 years, the canal's tolls have remained the same. Some Panamanians propose an increase to provide more money for Panama. Canal authorities, on the other hand, say their aim is to serve shipping of the world on the most economic basis possible.
