

Report Given By Scientists

NEW YORK (AP)—Two new scientific reports say cigarette smoke and air pollutants in smog may contribute to development of lung cancer by interfering with fluids and minute hair-like structures in the respiratory tract.

The reports, issued by scientists at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, appear in the November edition of The Journal of the National Cancer Institute.

The reports said natural and artificial smog and their components, as well as smoke from both filtered and nonfiltered cigarettes, affect the respiratory tract's defense mechanism in three ways:

They said they slow the flow of the mucous screen, change the physical properties of the mucous, and decrease the whiplike action of the fine structures, called cilia.

Normal functioning of the mucous and cilia prevent accumulation of foreign matter on the lining of the respiratory tract.

The scientists suggested that impairment of this function by smoke and cigarette smoke may permit abnormal retention of cancer-causing chemicals there.

Writings of Marco Polo disclosed that 13th century China had a highly developed postal system.

President Of CBS Resigns; Network Names New Chief

NEW YORK (UPI)—James T. Aubrey Jr. today moved into the presidency of the Columbia Broadcasting System television network at a turning point described as possibly the most critical in the network's history.

He was catapulted into the job by the bitter resignation Tuesday of Louis G. Cowan, originator of television's first high-stakes quiz show, "The $64,000 Question."

In a strongly worded letter to CBS President Frank Stanton, Cowan said "you have made it impossible for me to continue."

He offered to stay on as president for 30 days, in accordance with his contract, or to leave whenever Stanton asked him to.

Stanton replied "I accept your resignation. It is effective immediately."

Stanton said he was "very, very sorry" Cowan had written such a letter, but Cowan indicated that the subject of his resignation had been a sore point for some time.

Aubrey, who was appointed executive vice president of CBS-TV last June, had been acting as president since Cowan became ill with a thrombosis of the left leg in October. Cowan was hospitalized during the course of his recovery into this show regime.

"This decision was unfortunately affected by the realization that the most serious may well be the most critical in the history of the CBS television network as we manage in basic reappraisal and planning," Stanton said.

Cowan's sudden resignation was the second major development affecting television networks' Tuesday.

Only a few hours earlier, the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) announced that a New York group, the CBS World Singers, had failed to secure a KBC bid for a new show, "The World Singers," on the "radio" show in 1957 and 1958.

As NBC spokesman said the singers' union-determined fees were too high for the show's budget. He said such kickbacks were common practice in the industry and were not in the same category as "payola" handed to disc jockeys to plug records. But he said NBC has ordered the practice halted.
