Holiday Decor Project Of Club

MONTAGUE—The home of Mrs. William S. Swigart Sr. was the setting for the Christmas meeting of the Shasta Valley Garden Club on Thursday afternoon, December 4, which was devoted to a workshop of creating Christmas arrangements and corsages. Mrs. Swigart shared hostess duties with Mrs. Hilda Cooley and Mrs. June Severns.

A dessert luncheon was served prior to the business session and workshop activities.

During the business session, president, Mrs. Henrietta Terwilliger read a Christmas poem. The members voted to subscribe to the American Rose Magazine for the club library.

Members having birthdays during the month of December were presented Christmas corsages. They were Mrs. Paula Cairns, and Mrs. Betty Dow.

Reports were made by Mrs. Henrietta Terwilliger and Mrs. Grace Leavers on a meeting they attended in Klamath Falls, where they heard a talk on Christmas arrangements by Marvin Black.

One of the projects adopted by the garden club was the making of Christmas corsages, which will be distributed among all the women patients in the Siskiyou County General Hospital.

Guest present at the meeting, Mrs. Grace Gordon, mother-in-law of Mrs. Beulah Gordon, entertained members during the afternoon by making paper cut-outs in the forms of reindeer, sleds and angels.

Present, in addition to those mentioned, were Alta Allen, Alta Coatsney, Pearl Conroy, Margaret Aldee Davis, Mabel French, Evelyn Hansen, Orpha Kouts, Mary Lilly, Rita Prather, Haldie Ralston, Leah Reichman, Charlotte Robinson, Di Raver, Mary Sylva, Rae Sylva, Edith Williams, all members. Guests included Ruth Athey, member of the Anderson Garden Club, Gladys Halter, Mrs. Laura Jones, and Mrs. Lourinda Lambert.

Bonanza Women Aid Fund Drive

The Hospital Survey Fund is $72.27 richer as a result of a benefit tea held at the Bonanza Library recently, according to Greer Drew, chairman of the fund raising committee of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Four hostesses from the Bonanza-Langell Valley area were in charge of the event.

They were Mrs. Martin Gift, Mrs. Lloyd Gift, Mrs. Cecil Haley and Mrs. Louis Randall.

"We wanted to show that county residents are just as interested in having a survey of Klamath County hospital needs as are the residents of Klamath Falls," Mrs. Randall commented.

The drive chairman said he feels the success of the tea in Bonanza will prove to be an inspiration for all small communities in the county.

NINETY IS YOUNG
WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Workers in a knitting mill here were interested in the visitor who came to buy scraps. She was Mrs. Lucy Grubbs, who lives alone, does all her house work, and buys scraps from mills which she knits into rugs to sell. Mrs. Grubbs is 90.

HOME EXTENSION

The Fairhaven Home Extension unit met on December 11 at the home of Mrs. Jenny Fiegi. Mary Polsak, Bea Anderson and Callie

Hammond assisted with the Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Mary Royal and baby son and Mrs. Fay Baker were guests. Mrs. Eula White was welcomed as a new member.

A Christmas gift exchange was enjoyed by 15 members and three children.

PTA NEWS

ALTAMONT SCHOOL
January 23 has been chosen as the date for the Altamont PTA Carnival. This announcement was made by Mrs. Duane Cassidy and Mrs. Don Hummel at the regular meeting, December 8, which was held in the junior high school.

Mrs. Bill Mayhew, president, introduced music groups from both schools who presented a program of Christmas music.

A brief business session followed the program. The membership committee reported a total of 366 memberships in Altamont PTA to date. Mrs. E. R. Hamford, health chairman, was introduced and reminded members of the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Klamath Falls.

The room count prizes were awarded to Noel Deet's sixth grade and to Mrs. H. R. Burrit's seventh grade.

On behalf of Cub Pack 2, Stan Sevrak presented a Christmas card to the Altamont PTA in appreciation of its sponsorship.

Harvey Denham, principal of the junior high school, announced that both schools will present "The Story of Christmas" in music at the junior high gym Tuesday, December 22, at 1:45 p.m.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by seventh grade room mothers.

The next regular meeting of Altamont PTA will be held January 12 at the elementary school.

LINT FREE

If you're troubled with lint on washable black garments, there is a solution to the problem. Just make the last rinse one of vinegar and water in equal parts. The lint will be removed, and there will be no vinegar odor.

guests of the Keno unit of home extension.

Delicious and tempting salads and desserts made by the members were used for the refreshments. There was an exchange of gifts and the unit agreed to make the annual Christmas baskets for the shut-ins and aged of the community.

Mrs. Lane Smith presented Mrs. Henry Buckingham with the Keno scrapbook which she had begun in 1950. Mrs. Buckingham accepted the position of publicity chairman at the October meeting.

The guests were Mrs. Dale Sprout, Mrs. Doug Puckett and Mrs. Mildred Martin. Mrs. Martin is a county representative.

Members included Ione Waybright, Lou Smith, Ruth Hiederer, Dorothy Owen, Grace Ramsey, Marie DeGrande, Marie Jamison, Mabel Cochran, Clara Buckingham, Yvonne Meyers, Sue Wick, Lizzie Wilburn, Bertha Moore, Bertha Slusser, Jone Sandusky, Opal Lynn, Jo Morgan, Stella Padgett, Jackie Wegner and Velda Davidson.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Joe DeGrande. The subject will be homemade soups.
