Beating Case Dad Guilty

EUREKA (UPI) — Keith Kramer, 39, a Miranda logger, pleaded guilty in Justice Court Friday to felony child beating for the vicious flogging of his eight-year-old son.

Kramer, a father of four, confessed to whipping his son a week ago "to drive the bad out of him." He said the boy, Michael, had lied to him about sneaking a packet of saccharine from the family cupboard.

After a week's treatment, the boy was placed in a foster home in Fortuna, 20 miles south of here. The case now goes to Humboldt County Superior Court for probation report and sentencing. Kramer faces a maximum sentence of two years in prison.

Ranchhand Jailed

The boy who died, 11-month-old Gary Lee Bursik, bore many bruises obviously older than the injuries he received when he died, Dr. George Nicholson, deputy coroner, said.

GAIRSON TOLD officers the boy died Thursday morning when he was playfully tossing the child into the air, but dropped it to the floor. It fell down a short staircase of five or six steps, he said.

Dr. Nicholson said the baby died a traumatic death (due to severe injury) caused by brain hemorrhages. He lived possibly a few minutes. Death could have been caused by a fall or some other way, the autopsy showed.

"The body was badly bruised on the legs, back, and head," Dr. Nicholson said. "It bore many bruises that were days old, received before the time of death."

Gary Lee Bursik was Mrs. Bursik's son by a former marriage. Keith O'Hair, deputy coroner, said the divorced ex-husband planned to take the body back to Roseburg for burial.

Billie Joe, taken to the juvenile home about 7 p.m. Friday night, called well under concerned care and revealed a ravenous appetite.

"He ate creamed chicken and drank milk," said Mrs. Alice O'Brien of the juvenile home staff. "He was real hungry. He couldn't eat last enough."

BY SATURDAY Billie Joe was gulping down ice cream at a voracious rate.

Billie Joe came to the attention of juvenile authorities through a baby sitter, Mrs. Clay Walker of Langell Valley. Officers said the mother had left him in Mrs. Walker's care Friday while they went to Klamath Falls to attempt to borrow money for a burial plot.

Mrs. Walker prepared Billie for the toilet, officers said, when she noticed the raw burns on his rump. She undressed the child and saw his other bruises, scabs, and scars. Through W. E. Winkley she notified state police.

A patrolman and a juvenile counselor brought the baby back from the ranch, after obtaining a court order from Juvenile Judge Charles H. Foster on a petition maintaining probable cruel and unusual treatment.

Billie huddled in the arms of Mrs. Georgia Johnson, home superintendent, and persistently held his arms over his face. His right cheek bore the scar from a serious burn a few days or weeks old.

"I've never seen any baby like that before," said Mrs. Rosemary Lusk, juvenile counselor.

GAIRSON and Mrs. Bursik were arrested Saturday at state police headquarters where they had reported at police request. They had spent the night in a downtown hotel.

Mrs. Bursik—a small, frail person—was quoted that she had been a baby sitter for Gairson's former wife while a high school student in Grants Pass. Her mother, Mrs. Ruth Breeding, lived next door to Gairson's ex-wife.

Gairson — ruddy, stocky, and tanned—said he had two children by a former marriage. He said he believed he had been divorced by his wife and he thought his children were in Los Angeles. He said he had been in Oregon since 1938 working as a ranchhand and construction helper, principally around Grants Pass and Bandon. District Attorney Arthur Beddoe said formal complaints against both persons would be filed Monday.

Nels Rockefeller Hit By Pravda

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda Saturday printed an attack on Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and other Americans who have been warning the United States not to drop its guard against the Soviet Union. An article in the Communist party organ said Rockefeller had "used all his eloquence to frighten Americans with a mythical Communist menace." "This noisy anti-Communist clamor was needed by Rockefeller in order to persuade Americans that it is necessary to continue the policy of 'positions of strength,'" Pravda said.

Big 4 West Summit Talks Divided On Major Policies

Editor's Note: What is at stake in the Western summit meeting in Paris? Where do the four Western partners agree and disagree? In the following dispatch the UPI chief European diplomatic correspondent spells out the issues.

By K. C. THALER. PARIS (UPI) — The Big Four Western summit talks Saturday agreed in advance on some pertinent points but divided on a number of other major policy issues. The issues agreed upon in principle included: —An East-West summit meeting should be held between April 21 and 25, 1960.

—The East-West meeting should be held in Geneva with Paris a possible alternative.

—The East-West summit should be limited in length to a week or 10 days. Its working plan should be firmly laid down in advance.

—The East-West summit should hand down directives to their foreign ministers or top experts to translate summit decisions into concrete recommendations and plans.

The Western Allies have reached basic understanding but not full agreement on these points: —Any further summit meetings with the Russians should be held later in 1960 or in the spring of 1961, if warranted.

—The summit's primary aim should be to extract from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a clearer first-hand indication of the Kremlin's real intentions in its recent sweetness and light campaign.

—The Allies will go to the East-West summit with the same "peace package plan" they unsuccessfully presented at the Geneva four-power foreign ministers conference last summer.

—Disarmament should be the summit's chief topic.

Issues on which there is no Western agreement thus far, and even outright discord on, include: —Scope of the East-West summit.

—What problems other than disarmament, Berlin and Germany should go on the East-West summit agenda?

—West Germany wants disarmament made the chief test of Soviet sincerity at the summit.

—The West lacks agreement on a joint disarmament plan.

—The nuclear test ban problem, under discussion in Geneva for the past 14 months.

—The West wants more pay and work rules that are to their liking. The operators contend that granting the workers' demands would increase their costs to the point where foreign competitors would have an advantage in the markets of the world.

We must all grant that it is the right of the workers to insist on better wages and working conditions to their liking and that it is the right of the operators to resist demands that will put them at a competitive disadvantage.

But what are the rights of the REST OF US? Some five to ten million people — both workers and their dependents and stockholders and their dependents — are directly concerned in the strike issues. The rest of us — numbering some 160 to 170 million — are finding that our rights are being limited by the impasse in the steel industry.

Whose rights are paramount? Funerals conversation?

It sounds reasonable.

But —

The judge based his decision in the case on the accepted principle that under our American system the rights of each individual are LIMITED BY THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS.

In conclusion:

For months, here in the U.S.A. there has been a steel strike — which is temporarily interrupted by a court order sending the workers back to their jobs for a period of 60 days, at the end of which they can resume the strike if they so vote.

The workers want more pay and work rules that are to their liking. The operators contend that granting the workers' demands would increase their costs to the point where foreign competitors would have an advantage in the markets of the world.

Underworld Delegates Found Guilty By Jury

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal court jury Friday convicted 20 delegates to the 1957 Apalachin underworld convention of conspiracy to hide the real purpose of the conclave.

The conviction was hailed by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers as "a landmark in the government's fight against organized crime and racketeers."

The verdict was returned by a jury of eight men and four women after more than 15 hours of deliberation to climax the 53-day trial.

Some of the well-dressed defendants slumped in their seats, several sobbed. One moaned in Italian. "I'm innocent."

Judge Irving R. Kaufman commended the jury for its "intelligent verdict." He set Jan. 14 for sentencing. Each of the convicted men could get up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

It was understood defense attorneys would begin immediately to prepare motions for an appeal.

"You deserve the thanks of the community and the nation by your patience in sitting through this trial," Judge Kaufman told the jury. "This will show the country that grand juries and other federal agencies cannot be defied or sneered at by people who consider themselves above and beyond the law."

The defendants had explained the meeting of more than 60 underworld figures Nov. 14, 1957, at the Apalachin, N.Y., hillside estate of the late Joseph Barbara Sr. as a visit to a sick friend or a social affair. Some said they were there because they had auto trouble nearby.

Throughout the trial, the government conceded that it did not know the secret purpose of the meeting. However, Arthur L. Reuter, onetime acting commissioner of investigation, said in a report for former Gov. Averell Harriman that the conclave was believed to have been called to split up territories, divide proceeds and discuss extension of racketeering in labor unions.

From all over the country and even Cuba and Italy, the delegates had converged on the mansion of Barbara, a 53-year-old beer and soft drink distributor who died of a heart attack last June. The meeting never got underway. State police began recording the license numbers of their expensive cars and a roadblock was set up at the entrance to the estate.

Many delegates scrambled into their cars and sped straight into the roadblock. Others fled on foot into the nearby woods. John C. Montana, 66, a usually dignified former Republican councilman in Buffalo and onetime man of the year there, was caught when he hopelessly tangled himself in a barbed wire fence.

Two Americans arrested last week when they came to Havana to join the Caribbean Legion were released Friday night. Military intelligence headquarters said the two—Edwin R. Eckerley, 26, of Portland, Ore., and Monty Mulph, 21, of Eden, Idaho—boarded a plane for Miami. The Legion is a loosely organized group of adventurers with the announced objective of overthrowing dictatorships.

Scheduled for execution Saturday were two former soldiers of ex-President Fulgencio Batista, Luis Lara and Jose Morfi.

Martino, 49, joins two other Americans convicted by revived military tribunals — pilot-adventurer Frank Austin Young, sentenced to 30 years; and Peter John Lambton of Nassau, Bahamas, given 25 years.

A fourth American, Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan, is being held for trial on charges of aiding Young in his brief escape from a Pinar del Rio prison last week.
