'Moonlighting' By Police Under Council Scrutiny

The practice of city policemen carrying Deputy Sheriff badges and engaging in employment when off-duty came under discussion at the regular Monday night meeting of the city council. The issue of such employment, termed "moonlighting," came up when it was noted that six or seven policemen currently carry Deputy Sheriff badges. Mayor Lawrence Slater termed the two "incompatible," and declared "sooner or later this fact may get us in trouble." He pointed out that some policemen like to do extra work to augment their salary such as bouncers, patrol guards for landowners during the hunting season and others. While Slater expressed no objection to such employment, he indicated that a man who is both a city police officer and carries a Deputy Sheriff badge is responsible to two authorities. This he objected to, and indicated that a further check would be made to determine just how many city policemen are so deputized.

Delay Asked By Repairman

A tire repairman accused in the revolver shooting of a fellow employe after an informal Christmas party asked for additional time in district court Monday. The request was made by Frank L. Lounsbury Jr., 21, 831 Oak Street. Lounsbury is charged with assault with intent to kill. District Judge D. E. Van Vactor gave Lounsbury until 10 a.m. December 28 to consult an attorney. Lounsbury was returned to the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. The shooting victim, Paul Clay, 37, 39 Main Street, was reported improved Tuesday in Klamath Valley Hospital. Clay was in fair condition Monday with a .22 caliber bullet wound in the abdomen. Officers said the bullet entered Clay's left side beneath the rib cage. It was removed from his right back. Police said the disturbance developed after Lounsbury, Clay and three other employes of Schulze Tire Service at Spring and Main streets gathered over a fifth of whisky after the 6 p.m. closing time Saturday.

In addition to the Christmas count there will be a weekly check on bird life in the Klamath Basin from December 26 to January 3, 1960. A report meeting is planned for January 3 at 6 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kostenbader, 1674 Melrose, when confirmation of the Christmas count will be made and records of any other birds seen during the Christmas season will be announced. Pupil Enlists In Program

Wendell Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Beyer, Route 1, Box 924, is one of 25 University of Oregon students who is participating in the National Science Foundation Undergraduate Participation program. Beyer, a sophomore in chemistry, is working with D. F. Swinehart, chemist. The program permits the students to work with faculty members on their respective projects as junior partners in research rather than as menial help. This gives the students an opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge about scientific research, the time and effort that is required to obtain new facts, and the excitement of the discovery of these facts. Bern Craseman, deputy director of the program at the University, said that the experiment is being received with considerable enthusiasm by both faculty and students. This program is directed toward encouraging able students to consider careers in scientific research.

Consecutive trials were scheduled for December 29, the first to begin at 9:30 a.m. Billie Joe Breeding, a 3-year-old child Gairson was accused of beating, was released from Hillside Hospital Monday afternoon in generally good condition.
