The latest teen-age craze to hit KU struck last Monday, triggered by the statement, "May I borrow a dime?"

No one knows how many of these investment notes were circulated and neither does anyone know who started to circulate them.

Certain necessary steps were taken by the faculty during a Wednesday night meeting to cope with the problem of a recurrence of the incident during the after-game dance on December 18.

D-Day is fast approaching for KU students as they are beginning to feel the squeeze at the end of the first semester of school and semester exams next week.
