Writers To Consider Hall Of Fame Picks

By OSCAR FRALEY NEW YORK (UPI)—The annual popularity poll is under way today as 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America fill out ballots to elect a possible 10 of their retired heroes to the Hall of Fame.

More than 400 10-year men who played between 1930 and 1954 and have thus been retired five years are eligible to receive votes. Naturally, with each writer voting for 10 men and 75 per cent of the votes required for admission, it becomes increasingly difficult to hit the jackpot.

Following Cannon's scoring punt return, the East added two touchdowns to open a 21-0 gap in the first quarter. Grantham took an 11-yard pass in the end zone from Lucas and Cannon followed minutes later with a 12-yard reception from Lucas.
