Catherine Rae Kann Now Mrs. Albert A. Nickels

Catherine Rae Kann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray T. Kann, became the bride of Albert Austin Nickels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Nickels of West Linn, on Sunday afternoon, December 27, at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Msgr. T. P. Casey performed the ceremony at 2 o'clock before an impressive setting of a creche set against the background of the candle lighted altar, all white except for the accent of red poinsettias arranged with white chrysanthemums.

Altar boys were Dale and Darrell Helley, cousins of the bride. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a lovely princess style gown of heavy white satin with Vanice lace and seed pearl appliques at the scoop neckline and on the skirt train. A tulle tiara trimmed with simulated pearls and translucent sequins held a fingertip tulle veil. She carried a cascade of white roses, carnations and lily of the valley. Attached to her flowers were two lovely pearl and crystal bridal rosaries, gifts from her twin, Sister Miriam Catherine and aunts, Mother Ruth Mary and Sister Jean Marie. For tradition the bride wore a blue garter and carried a white handkerchief which had been carried by her mother at her wedding.

Cynthia Kann was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Barbara Campbell of Bly, college roommate for four years, and Claudette Brandesky, close friend. The attendants wore identical white satin princess frocks fashioned with ballerina length full gored skirts and Chantilly lace bolero effect bodices. White slippers and mitts completed their ensembles. The maid of honor wore a clip hat of mint green touched with green sequins. Green net and satin streamers were the background for her bouquet, a smaller version of the bride's bouquet. The bridesmaids wore hats of red sequined net which matched the trim for their nosegays of white carnations. Alan Robert Jack of Salem was best man. Ushers were William MacDuff Little Jr. of Portland and Robert Lee Stein of West Linn. Mrs. Delven Helley, aunt of the bride, played the wedding music and accompanied Robert Gion, soloist, who sang "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria." He also sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother" when at the conclusion of the wedding ceremony the bride presented her bridal bouquet at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Mrs. Kann chose for her daughter's wedding a bronze lace sheath dress with matching hat and green orchid corsage. Mrs. Nickels wore a crepe dress in shades of blue with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The newlyweds were congratulated at a reception in the parish hall following their wedding. A white and silver four tiered cake encircled with red poinsettias centered the bride's table covered by a crocheted cloth made by her grandmother years ago for this occasion. Serving the cake were Mrs. Mayme Kane, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Bruce McCracken, cousin of the bride, both of Eugene. Coffee was served by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Robert Willson of West Linn, and Mrs. Frank Bogatay, first Klamath Falls friend of the Kann family.

Ann Reynolds of Ione, Rosemary Sedinger of Payette, Idaho, and Emily Huston of Portland, Marylhurst College graduate friends of the bride, arrived by plane in time to help dress the bride. They also presided at the punch bowl at the reception. Another college friend, Mrs. Louis Brown, held the guest book for guests' signatures. Mrs. Gene Lewis and Mrs. Alvin Bigby were at the gift table.

For traveling the new Mrs. Nickels wore a brown wool suit topped with matching fur trimmed coat and fur hat, brown accessories and a corsage of tallman roses. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart Academy and Marylhurst College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lewis and Clark College and presently is enrolled in the school of pharmacy at Oregon State College. The couple will reside at 725 W. Queen in Albany.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willson of West Linn; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Jack of Salem; Mrs. Colette Buh and son, Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McCracken, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Campbell and Mrs. Jack Dillavou, Bly; Jean Hartman, Portland.

Winslow-Ravizza Vows Solemnized In Portland

Susan Ann Ravizza became the bride of Homer L. Winslow at 2 o'clock on December 31 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Portland. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harry A. Ravizza of Portland and the late Harry Ravizza, former residents of Chiloquin. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Guy Winslow and the late Guy Winslow.

Large beauty baskets of red and white chrysanthemums and altar vases of white chrysanthemums set the theme for the lovely wedding. Red carnations tied with red bows marked the pews on the white carpeted aisle along which the bride was escorted by her brother, Michael Ravizza. The couple exchanged their vows before the Rev. Olfred Williams.

The bride wore a gown of silk mist tulle and imported Alencon lace. The fitted bodice had long sleeves and a scoop neckline appliqued with sequin trimmed Alencon lace. The full skirt was a redingote effect with panels of lace down either side of the front. The fullness was created by a diamond drape sweeping to a chapel train. The waist length veil was held in place by a headpiece of mother of pearl flowers and she carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and trailing stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Sally Ravizza, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Biehn and Mrs.

Vallier-Dalmer Nuptials Read In Holiday Ceremony

In another attractive holiday wedding Delores Sarah Dalmer became the bride of William Gene Vallier on December 27 at the First Baptist Church. The bride, who has been making her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Al Backes, 428 Pacific Terrace, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Dalmer of Leduc, Alberta, Canada. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude T. Vallier, 305 Upham Street.

Beauty baskets of white chrysanthemums and tangerine colored carnations decorated the church for the 4 o'clock candlelight ceremony officiated by Dr. E. M. Causey in the presence of 100 guests.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Schiffler embroidered imported silk organza featuring a Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The ballerina length skirt was fashioned of two tiers of the organza. A fingertip veil of English silk illusion was held by a sheer lace half pillbox trimmed in pearls. She wore lace mitts and carried white stephanotis and shattered white carnations centered with a Cymbidium orchid. Her only jewelry was a strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Shirley Dalmer of Edmonton, Canada, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Aida Zurita of Mexico City was bridesmaid. They wore waltz length dresses of coral colored nylon chiffon with matching small hats of nylon net trimmed with seed pearls with short face veils. Their bouquets were cascade arrangements of tangerine carnations.

Leading the bridal procession along the aisle marked by white bows on the pews was Carol Favell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Favell. Her frock was identical to the bridal attendants.

Best man was Charles Rackleff. Ushers were Edward Dalmer, the bride's brother from Leduc, Canada, and Ronald Ormsby.

Organist was Mrs. George Casey, who also accompanied Mrs. Gene Favell when she sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Dalmer wore for her daughter's wedding a dusty rose lace dress with hat of pink and rose leathers and corsage of pink moss roses. Mrs. Vallier selected a dress of jewel rose chiffon over satin with matching satin hat and pink moss rose corsage.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception and supper was held at the Winema Hotel. Centering the bride's table was a tiered square cake, a fruit cake made and brought from Canada by the bride's mother. It was topped with wedding bells and surrounded at the base with moss roses. White candelabra and miniature bride dolls completed the table decorations. Small cellophane packets of rice tied with white ribbon marked each place. The cake was served by Mrs. Elmer Stack of Edmonton, Alberta, aunt of the bride. Punch was poured by Mrs. Ed Dalmer of Prineville, another aunt, and Mrs. Martha McCollum. The guest book was passed by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Robert Smith of Livermore, California.

For traveling the bride changed to an olive green and brown brocaded silk dress with brown flower and veil trimmed hat, brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. She is a graduate of Edmonton High School and is a member of the Klamath Falls Venture Club. Her husband was graduated from Klamath Union High School and is employed by the Southern Pacific Company. Following a wedding trip to Reno and San Francisco they are at home at 1339 California Avenue.

In addition to the immediate family of the bride, out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stack and Debra of Edmonton; Mrs. Lester Cofer, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Falkenberg, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dalmer, Prineville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and sons, Dale, David and Mark, Livermore; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAvay and Robert and Phillip of Santa Ana.

FOOTBATH
 Try squeezing a lemon into sudsy water for a footbath. Lemon acts as a bleach and will work on slightly yellow stains near the heel. The bath will also relax feet after a tiring day of shopping.

STAIN REMOVER
 Coffee stains on cotton yield to treatment, but you must be quick. Get stained garment into warm water and mild soap suds soon as possible. Let stand for 20 minutes or so. Then, handwash carefully.
