Annual KU Talent Production Guided By Experienced Pair

A seasoned theatrical authority, Mrs. Jessie Lee Hosford Bryan, will direct Klamath Union High School's annual talent show, Pelicana, this year. The show is planned for spring.

She will be assisted by Bruce Campbell, new to the KUHS faculty this year. Both have considerable experience.

Mrs. Bryan was graduated from the Pasadena Playhouse and is past president of the Southern Oregon Alumni Association of the playhouse. She worked with the playhouse staff since 1939 as a director.

She also attended Theater Arts and has been involved in New York play circuits several times. As founder of the Klamath Children's Theater, she has directed and produced a number of plays. She has advised and helped many drama students with scholarships, auditions, jobs and other services. Mrs. Bryan is a native of Klamath Falls.

Campbell attended Chicago City College and earned a degree from Lewis and Clark College. He majored in speech and minored in journalism. He was copy editor for a college newspaper and was a member of the staff of a radio station near the Lewis and Clark campus, and once served as manager of the University of Oregon FM radio station.

In college dramatics, Campbell handled supporting roles in the plays "Charley's Aunt" and "The Late Christopher Beane," and the leading part in Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon." He is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity.

PTA NEWS

FOURTH GRADE WINS
CHILQUIN — Mrs. Lester Hoback's fourth grade room won the prize at PTA meeting January 11 for having the largest percentage of parents in attendance. Students from her room presented a skit with Barbara Samson as announcer, Connie Wampler, Daryl Hale, Marilee Davis, Jule LeBeau, Clara Sutton, Leona Parker and Mike Chase in the cast.

Other entertainment of the evening was a volleyball game between two teams of sixth graders under the direction of Claude Morgan and Mrs. Rohlin Pfeiffer. Vice President Mrs. Forrest Freid conducted the short business meeting at the opening of the program. A new secretary, Mrs. Denzel Wilson, was elected to replace Mrs. William West, who resigned because of conflict of hours.

It was announced that for the health room and bedding for the beds, both at grade school and high school, would be delivered soon. This has been the project of the year. Mrs. Robert Doak, Dr. R. I. Kerwood and Frank Hale worked on the committee.

A discussion was held concerning the athletic banquet to be given for the high school in March or April, but no decision was reached as to how much aid should be given by the PTA. The Fire Belles have handled the banquet for the past three years. Refreshments were served by fifth grade homeroom mothers and Mrs. Earl Hall, home mother chairman, at the close of the meeting.

It is estimated that 8 per cent of the 1,200,000 hunters in the United States are color blind — a frightening thought for red-coated hunters.

Awards Given To Workers

Awards to committee workers and officers were presented last night at the chamber of commerce annual meeting.

Immediate past President Bob Mest was presented a large plaque inscribed in his honor and mounting a photo engraved portrait of Mest himself.

Mest also was given a miniature gavel commemorating his presidency during 1959.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to members of the Hospital Survey Board of Governors, the OTI New Site Fund drive, four outgoing directors, and chamber manager, R. Frank Tucker.

Hospital board members are Greer Drew, Loren Palmerton, Sen. Harry Boivin, and Ed Geary. Vern Owens was cited for his work on the OTI site. Outgoing directors were Frank Ganong, John Bishop, Robert Kent, and Dr. William Holford.

OFFICIAL GREETING
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The jail break of Richard Starbuck was notably unsuccessful. Starbuck, 40, was spotted as he climbed down 35 feet of knotted bed sheets from a second-story window of the police station. He was returned to his cell by police who met him when he reached the ground.

Probers Of Poltergeist Perplexed By Mysteries

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The problem for Edgar Jones and his family isn't "who dunnit" but "what dunnit."

The Joneses had a nice, quiet home in a nice, quiet neighborhood until about a week ago. Then one day a shoe-shaped flower pot lifted itself up and kicked out a window pane.

Other inanimate objects got into the act. Knick-knacks jumped off shelves, pieces of pottery pushed themselves over onto the floor, ash trays took flying trips across the room, and cans of food exploded.

In rapid succession Wednesday, ash trays, knick-knacks and flower pots went wild in nearly every room of the six-room house.

"We just kept running from one room to the other as things were breaking," Mrs. Jones said. "I tell you, I don't know how much more of this I can take."

One explanation, which nobody wants to accept, is that a poltergeist has come to stay with the Joneses.

Poltergeists are mischievous but not ill-natured spirits who delight in knocking things over, throwing things across rooms, knocking on walls from the inside, and generally harassing human beings.

A number of psychical investigators are trying to explain away the Jones poltergeist. In fact, one of them had just left the house Wednesday when the poltergeist started acting up again.

Another investigator, radio reportedly was a big storm drain running behind the Jones' home. According to his theory, the pipe acts as a big musical instrument, at times hitting notes that create vibrations, causing objects in the Jones' home to jump, fall, pop and explode.

"WE'VE RECENTLY PURCHASED our first new automobile in 18 years and it's a Ford Falcon." So states Teal M. Benson, Rt. 3, Box 404, Klamath Falls, Oregon, shown above with Mrs. Benson and Lloyd Chidester, Salesman for Balsiger Motor Co., local Ford Dealer. When asked if he was satisfied, he replied, "We sure are — drove our Falcon 191 miles on only 6 1/2 gallons of gasoline." ADV.

Word Scheduled From Senator

Sen. Wayne Morse said Wednesday he would notify the chamber of commerce here as soon as a decision is reached on West Coast Airlines' application for Klamath Falls-Reno service during the 1960 Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley, California.

The airline asked for permission to fly the route between January 6 and April 4. The chamber filed a brief supporting the request, which has not yet been decided.

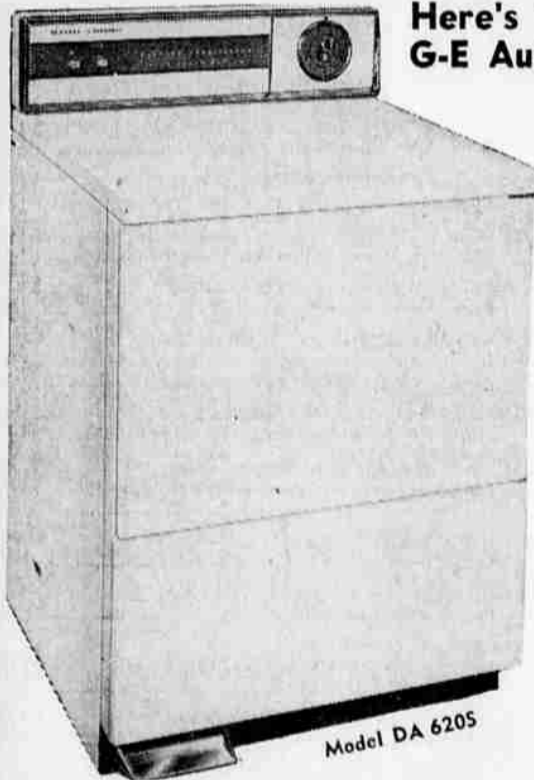

Morse said comments wired by chamber manager, R. Frank Tucker, were referred to the Civil Aeronautics Board with a request for serious consideration. The chamber brief was submitted December 18.
