

Preparation of the Moore Park Ice Rink for public skating requires time, proper weather conditions, patience and mostly luck.

Park Foreman Ed Bingman and his crew, Frank Spero, Walt Davis and Dick Morrow, must first anticipate whether or not a cold spell will last a sufficient time to justify starting the ice.

This process might last a week, two weeks, or perhaps a month depending upon whether or not the temperature remains at a consistently low level.

The crew's work doesn't stop when skating begins. They operate the concession stand and supervise the skating.

The Moore Park Zoo gained another animal during the past week. Edwin Scott of Fort Klamath donated a wildcat.

Jim O'Donahue of J. W. Kerns showed wildlife slides to members of the Klamath Basin Golden Age Club Wednesday.

Magazine Drive Set

American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 8 members will again sponsor a magazine drive to raise money for the purchase of hospital equipment to be loaned free of charge in Klamath Falls and surrounding community.

In preparation for the drive which begins Monday, February 1, Mrs. Leah Glubrecht and Mrs. Arlena Schubert conferred with Supervisor George Wells of the National Organization Service.

The subscription drive will be under the supervision of John McCarthy. Those taking part from out of town will be registered at the sheriff's office and at the chamber of commerce.

They will carry letters of introduction signed by the auxiliary president, Mrs. Elizabeth Petersteiner, secretary treasurer, Katharine Keep, equipment chairman, Leah Glubrecht, Arlena Schubert, Lina Molschenbacher and Vera Petrik, past presidents.

For further information call TU 4-7209 or TU 4-6603.

"DENNIS THE MENACE"

"MOM, WHEN COWBOY BOB SINGS 'GET A LONG LITTLE DOGIE,' DOES HE MEAN I SHOULD GET A DASHQUOID?"

By TIM MASON

The second senior class doughnut sale registered a smash hit Thursday, when students bought some 1,560, giving the seniors a $70 boost in the school's annual polo drive.

Doughnuts sold last week brought in $46.44 for the seniors as students gobbled down 1,080.

After school Thursday, the freshman class, who has had its peanut sales banned because of the debris left in the halls and classrooms, sold Kingston Trio records in the main hall as part of the project toward the drive.

The records are 45 rpm platters originally put out by the Kingston Trio on their long play album "Here We Go Again" that can now be purchased singly through the New March of Dimes.

Juniors and sophomores are working hard on the drive also as they are offering Blue Crutches, washing windows and cars, selling litterbags and used books among other things.

The student body brought in over $1,700 last year for the Polo Foundation.

All juniors and freshmen took California achievement tests Wednesday morning during the first four periods. The juniors and freshmen went to special designated rooms for the tests, while seniors and sophomores carried on with their normal schedule.

The only change made was that concerning the split noon hour. Those students taking the tests went to eat during the first noon hour while all others went during the second period.

First period classes elected Student Council representatives and alternates Monday for the next semester.

Student Council works somewhat like the Congress of the United States and is the student's opportunity to have a voice in student body affairs.

Other news: Teachers handed out pamphlets on Civil Defense Evacuation Plans for KU during third period classes Thursday for students to take home to their parents.

Klamath Krater, the high school newspaper published by the advanced journalism class on Friday, was issued to all students possessing script book tickets during sixth period.

Tickets for the after game dance held Saturday were offered Thursday and Friday by the sponsors of the reestablished social events. Tickets were 25 cents and 50 cents per couple.

The after game dances were suspended on December 18 and will now be held on a faculty proposed plan.

The vegetables will stay cool and crisp until mealtime.

Bull Sale To Commence February 4

RED BLUFF—"Cattlemen of the Year" from four western states will be honored during the 19th annual Red Bluff Bull Sale February 4-6, according to Sidney Watson, a member of the sale committee.

They are John and William Marshall, well known ranchers of Klamath Falls; John Peth Jr. of Edison, Washington; Charles F. Stover of Red Bluff and Roy Young of Elko.

They will be special guests at a banquet Friday night, February 5, along with Fred Dressler of Gardnerville, Nevada, first vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, who is expected to be its next president.

Also on the program will be Slim Pickens, famed rodeo clown who is now a TV and movie actor; and Tex Williams, well known western singer, composer and actor.

The Marshall brothers are sons of Albert Marshall, onetime All-American football player at the University of Wisconsin. They operate about 13,000 acres in Southern Oregon, and have long been prominent as cattle breeders.

Peth, Washington's choice, started farming in 1926 with a small dairy herd but quit when he got kicked by a heifer, and decided to raise range cattle.

Meantime, he and his father and brothers got started in the rodeo business and later Peth and his own sons established a rodeo string. His Hereford and Angus sales last year grossed $190,000.

Stover, who will represent California in the group, has long been known as one of California's most progressive and successful cattlemen.

He was among the founders of the Red Bluff Bull Sale and has been active in its management during the past 18 years.

Young is a member of the Nevada Legislature. He is past president of the Nevada Cattle Association and a member of the Taylor grazing board.

He has also been active in range improvement with emphasis on planting of crested wheat.

Stockholders Of Bank Told Many New Marks Set

At their annual meeting recently, stockholders of the First National Bank of Oregon heard bank President C. B. Stephenson announce the establishment of new record high marks in earnings, resources, deposits and loans for the statewide bank in 1959.

A special cash dividend of 20 cents per share, payable on February 15 to all shareholders of record February 1, was voted by the bank directors in addition to the regular semi-annual dividend of $1.10 per share, the bank president said.

The bank marked its 94th year with net operating earnings of $6,916,868 after state and federal taxes and transfer of $416,253 to the reserve for possible loan losses. This is equivalent to $4.30 per share on the 1,608,000 shares of stock outstanding and compares with $6,055,842, or $3.78 per share, which was earned in 1958.

Previous high mark in the earnings category was recorded in 1956 when the statewide bank netted $5,159,249, or $3.85 per share.

Deposit totals aggregated $678,642,322 which represented a gain of $29,475,228 over the 1958 year-end figure. Loans outstanding on December 31, 1959 were $488,958,106, up from $427,263,906 a year before. Both year-end totals are the highest ever attained by any bank in Oregon.

President Stephenson pointed out that corporations are continuing to carry a heavy tax load, and in the bank's case federal and state taxes during the year amounted to $6,019,000 which nearly matched the net profit to shareholders.

The president further reported that dividends amounting to $3,537,600 were paid out to the stockholders at an annual rate of $2.20 per share.

In his report to shareholders, the president noted that in November the bank briefly exceeded the billion dollar mark in total resources, adding that it had little significance except that it illustrates the continued solid growth of the Oregon economy and widespread prosperity in business and agriculture.

"Looking forward from 1959's lofty economic plateau," Stephenson told the shareholders, "it seems difficult to predict that 1960 will surpass these levels. Moderate slackening may occur, yet the overall volume of business and banking can reasonably be expected to be very large in 1960."

Indications for the continued growth of the economy of Oregon have never been more favorable, Stephenson declared. He expressed confidence to the shareholders in the bank's ability to serve this expansion well and match this development in its own rate of growth throughout the state.

Asia Flu Bug Has Lost Zip

WASHINGTON (AP)—A no-good bug from the Orient—Asian flu—has been busy this winter, but appears now to be losing its punch.

Public Health Service doctors say Asian flu has broken out in parts of 20 or more states in the last few weeks. But they predict that by next month flu-like diseases will be "pretty well a thing of the past for this year."

Outbreaks can be expected in other communities during the next several weeks, and the Public Health Service advises vaccination. But present evidence suggests the rate is tapering off.

There's nothing so far to indicate a widespread epidemic as there was in 1957.

That was the year Asian flu—in its first authenticated appearance in the world—struck an estimated 20 million Americans, killing about 5,000.

This winter's outbreaks have been major health problems in Los Angeles, Detroit, Pittsburgh and parts of Texas. But health service doctors say that nationally "it's not getting any worse and it certainly isn't spreading widely as it did in 1957."

In the week that ended Jan. 23, five more states—Missouri, Alabama, Mississippi, Kansas and Illinois—reported isolation of the Asian flu strain among flu patients.

States which had previously reported the Asian strain were California, Hawaii, Iowa, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas, Washington and the District of Columbia.

Reports of flu-like disease have come also from Kentucky, Mississippi, Nevada, Ohio, Tennessee, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming. And there have been increases in respiratory infections in Georgia, North Carolina and Colorado, though none have yet been pinned down as flu.

Hard-pressed doctors in Texas and California reported to the health service that in their communities the disease was more severe than in 1957 and the incidence of pneumonia was higher.

However, Surgeon General LeRoy Burney says that in general this year's outbreaks have not been as severe as in 1957.
