Stocks WALL STREET NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed near its lows of the session after backing away today from its recovery move. Final dealings were quiet.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,200,000 shares compared with 3,000,000 Tuesday. Most key stocks took losses of fractions to about 2 points. A minority remained narrowly on the upside.

In early trading the market showed some nice gains, but faltered at the end of the first hour and by mid-session the list was lower. Declines deepened in quiet trading.

International Paper and U.S. Gypsum dropped about 2 apiece. Losses of a point or so were shown by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Ford, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Illinois Central, and American Tobacco.

U.S. government bonds advanced.

Job Activity Termed High; Layoffs Low

The State Employment Office here said job activity was relatively high and layoffs were relatively low last month. It backed its statement with these examples:

Lumber activity continued high in January, and retail trade, service, and finance employment was higher than normal.

Job placement rose 77 per cent over January 1959. Many applicants for unemployment benefits were off work only long enough to draw checks for one or two weeks.

The percentage of unemployment applicants was down to 11.2 for the week ended January 21. This means 11 per cent of the labor force covered by unemployment was out of work.

Guy Barker, manager of the employment office here, said that figure is low for this time of year. At the same week last year, 13 per cent of the labor force was out of work; in 1958 the number was 17.7 per cent.

The percentage of unemployed persons varies from year to year and season to season, he said. It has reached a low of 5 per cent and a high of 20 per cent in some years.

Now, Barker said, Klamath County is more fortunate than other counties, where 22 per cent of the labor force is unemployed.

The fund from which unemployment compensation checks are paid, the State Unemployment Trust Fund, shows a healthy increase, Barker said. It amounts to $36,992,224, compared with $25,273,862 a year ago.

Barker said 1,600 workers are registered for employment at the office here. Of these, 700 have no valid claims for unemployment compensation, but are looking for jobs.

Interested employers, he said, may call the office, TU 4-7701.

Liquor Charge Dismissed

A liquor possession charge against Robin Melvin Hawkins, 18, 1244 Homedale Road, was dismissed in district court today in the course of a trial without jury.

Judge D. E. Van Vactor ruled the state had failed to show evidence sufficient for conviction.

The state's only witness was a state patrolman called by Deputy District Attorney Ernest Gordon. Hawkins, a KUHS student who represented himself, said he was offered a bottle of beer but refused.

The incident occurred during the course of a teen-age dance at the fairgrounds January 22.

Hawkins was released and his $50 bail returned.

Field Chief Attends Meet

TULELAKE—Burton Hoyle, superintendent of the University of California Field Station, is attending the fourth International Barley Research Workers Conference in Fargo, North Dakota, convening February 1-4.

During the four days of the conference many agricultural ideas of interest to Tulelake growers will be discussed including stem and leaf rusts, leaf diseases and their control, barley loose smut, barley aphids, yellow dwarf and other fungus and leaf diseases.

This is the third of a series of such meetings Hoyle has attended in the last nine months. Hoyle presented a treatise on "The Analysis of Field Trials Based on the Concepts of Islands of Variation," co-authored with G. A. Baker, University of California, Davis, at the Western North American Region of the Biometric Society in June of 1959. In November he presented another talk on the same subject to the American Society of Agronomy, national level, in Cincinnati. This research has been accomplished at the Tulelake Field Station in Tulelake.

Moans Of Theft, Then Man Jailed On Burglary

Harold S. Smith complained of theft to Chiloquin police Tuesday afternoon and promptly was jailed himself on a vagrancy charge.

That charge was upped to burglary in a dwelling and Smith is in Chiloquin jail in lieu of paying $2,500 bail. He probably will be moved to Klamath Falls soon where the district attorney's office has filed an information of felony against him.

Smith complained that four Klamath Falls men who helped him move to Chiloquin Tuesday from his home at 1204 Adams Street, stole two coats and a 22 rifle from him. Chiloquin police issued a warrant, and the four were arrested later in Klamath Falls.

Officers recovered the goods reported stolen and also a portable typewriter which the men said they took from Smith, too.

They said they helped unload all Smith's goods except those four articles, which they kept because Smith failed to pay for gasoline and labor as promised. The four were jailed in Chiloquin overnight for questioning and were released Wednesday. No charges were filed.

Police believe the typewriter was stolen by Smith Sunday from the home of Mrs. C. W. Nabakowski, 1124 Owens Street. Some steaks and eggs also were taken in that burglary.

Water Supply In Snow Pack Still Not Good

Water supply in snow pack still not good; nearly twice last year but still below normal, says Roger Reid, Bonanza employee of the Soil Conservation Service, who has completed snow measurement in the Klamath Basin for the February Water Supply Outlook. The complete outlook, prepared in Portland by the Soil Conservation Service from reports by Reid and many others, will be published in the Herald and News next week, and again each month until May.

Reid has just completed a week's training session for snow surveyors, held January 18-22 at Mt. Hood. The school, attended by snow surveyors from many state, private and government agencies, provided training and experience in over-snow travel, first aid and rescue, winter survival, and snow measurement.

Safety was stressed because of the proud record of 13 years of snow survey without a fatality. Over 400,000 miles by ski and snowshoes, and another 300,000 by snow machine and helicopter, have been covered in that time by some 1,100 snow surveyors in the western states and British Columbia.

One safety factor to consider, whether travel is by skis or machine, is the ability to survive night and storms in case of being caught out in the mountains by accident or breakdown. To prove to the trainees how easy it is if nature is used as an ally instead of an enemy, each trainee at Mt. Hood spent a night out on the snow with only a tarp and a sleeping bag; snow and tree boughs provided insulation from the windy 10 degree weather and most trainees reported a comfortable rest.

Of course it was a bit disagreeable crawling out into the chill of dawn, but fear of having to spend a night out would never again haunt this group or cause panic in case of an emergency overnight stop.

The Air Force 357th Fighter Group provided a helicopter evacuation demonstration, and the Mt. Hood Ski Patrol demonstrated ground evacuation of injured persons, by akj (ah-kee), which is a special boat-shaped folding sled for just such use. Trainees were also instructed in the building of a sled from the skis of an accident victim, using wire and cord carried in "emergency kits" by all surveyors.

Many lives have been saved by the use of these crude sleds and it is imperative for all who may be "on their own" to know how to improvise in case of emergency. Though improbable, a routine snow-cat trip can always become an emergency through unexpected falling trees or snowslides, and the Soil Conservation Service feels that the Boy Scouts' motto "be prepared" is a good watchword.

WALTER J. PAPPAS

Local Man Joins Firm

Walter J. Pappas, licensed as an architect in Oregon since 1953, has entered into a partnership with a Medford architect, Jack A. Edson.

The new firm, Edson and Pappas, has offices at 44 North Front, Medford, and Pappas will continue his Pine Grove studios here.

Prior to coming to Klamath Falls, Pappas was associated with the Portland firms of Stanton, Boles, Maguire and Church, and Raymond Kermit Thompson. He served with the Army in World War II, is married and the father of four sons.

Edson received his A.B. and M.A. degrees in architecture from the University of California in 1947 and 1948. Prior to establishing his own practice, he was with San Francisco Bay Area firms including Hertzka and Knowles; Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, and Arthur D. Janssen. He was a Navy line officer during World War II and has lived in Medford since 1953.

Lawyer Tells MD Defense

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch never conspired with anyone to murder his wife and he did not at any time try to murder her, the surgeon's attorney said today in opening the defense.

Attorney Grant Cooper, speaking softly to the jury of seven women and five men, said the doctor would take the stand as his own first witness and give a full account of his marriage and its travails.

Cooper said Finch and his co-defendant, Carole Tregoff, did not plot the death of Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch.

"He will tell you that he did not at any time enter into a conspiracy with anyone to murder or harm his wife."

"He will tell you he did not at any time murder his wife," Cooper said.

The trial was almost an hour late getting underway. It was delayed as Judge Walter Evans heard, and denied, motions to dismiss the charges against both Finch and the red-haired mistress.

AWOL GI Admits Killing Man In Klamath County

An AWOL soldier told Seattle FBI agents yesterday he had killed a man in Klamath County last Saturday and dumped the body in a brush thicket on the slopes of Mt. Hood.

Held in the King County jail in Seattle on a temporary charge was Bernard J. Fitzpatrick Jr. of Anaconda, Montana. The FBI said he admitted killing Ralph Ray Lawson, 52, 509 North Sixth Street, Pasco, Washington, near Algoma in Klamath County.

The FBI said Fitzpatrick stabbed Lawson with a bayonet while Lawson was sleeping in the back seat of his car.

District Attorney Arthur Beddoe said a first degree murder charge would be filed against Fitzpatrick today, after further details of the killing were clarified.

Beddoe said the U.S. attorney in Seattle indicated Fitzpatrick would be released to Klamath County authorities. Beddoe did not know when.

The story apparently began in Sacramento last Saturday when Lawson, driving home, picked up Fitzpatrick, a hitchhiker. The men apparently took turns driving the car, but were dissatisfied with each other's driving. Apparently Lawson had criticized Fitzpatrick's driving vigorously.

Nevertheless, Beddoe said, the men continued to drive in shifts. Near Algoma Fitzpatrick took the wheel and Lawson climbed in the back seat to sleep. Fitzpatrick, still furious, stabbed Lawson with a bayonet while Lawson was asleep, he told FBI agents.

This is the only motive for the killing known to date. Fitzpatrick kept the body until he reached the slopes of Mt. Hood near the Washington border. There he threw it into brush near Rhododendron.

State police discovered the body about 4 p.m. Monday. Conditions of Fitzpatrick's arrest in Seattle were not known here today. The suspect told agents he had been absent without leave from Fort Ord, California, since January 26.

Fitzpatrick was held on a violation of the Dyer Act, interstate transportation of a stolen car.

Jury Awaits Check Case

A California man accused of forgery here and wanted for parole violation at home was bound over to the grand jury Tuesday after hearing in district court.

William Joseph Peterson, 35, of Salinas, was charged with forging a $30 check written on the South Sixth Street Branch of the First National Bank. The forged name was that of Helen Uran, 927 1/2 Jefferson Street, identified as a former girl friend of Peterson.

The check, officers said, was cashed last Saturday at an Oregon Food Store. With it, Peterson bought meat, milk, and bread.

Police first became acquainted with Peterson when someone reported a man throwing garbage from a moving car. The "garbage," it developed, was the fresh food Peterson had bought with the check.

In Peterson's car officers found a grand assortment of radio and TV tubes, tools, electric blankets, welding equipment, and other unexplained merchandise.

Later, the first of three checks, each written for $30, appeared here.

Peterson was arrested on a routine traffic charge—police found his driver's license had expired last month—and was sentenced to 20 days in jail.

The forgery charge was filed Tuesday. Peterson waived preliminary hearing.

Officers said Peterson was wanted for parole violation resulting from a forgery conviction in Pacific Grove, California, and was suspected of forgery and burglary in Reno.

Traffic Mishap

State police said a car driven by Leo David Scalin, 51, 4258 South Sixth Street, slipped off the Spring Lake Road about 6 p.m. Tuesday and stopped in a road-side ditch.

Scalin was alone and uninjured. The accident occurred one mile south of the Richardson Mill.

Police Probe 3 Accidents

City police investigated three auto accidents Tuesday. No serious injuries resulted.

A car driven by a teenager struck one driven by Joy L. Baldwin, 3951 Bristol, at 8:20 a.m. at Seventh Street between Oak and Walnut avenues. She was injured slightly. Both cars received minor damage. No citations were issued.

Mrs. Claude Davis, 329 Washington Street, told police the driver of a pickup truck backed into a fender of her car Tuesday morning as it was parked at a grocery store at North Ninth and Pine streets. The truck drove away, she said. The fender, bumper and tail light were damaged.

A vehicle operated by Elmer Andrew Jones, 3744 Onyx Avenue, was forced into the side of one driven by Phillip Irwin Leonard of Route 3 at 4:52 p.m. at the corner of South Sixth Street and Shasta Way by another car whose driver was not identified. Damage was minor and no citations were issued. No one was injured.

Machine Firm Theft Victim

Two burglaries were attempted in Klamath Falls Tuesday night. One was successful.

Thieves broke through a window in the Don Potter Machinery Company, 2434 South Sixth Street, entered the office, pried a filing cabinet open and stole a bag containing a small amount of cash.

Nothing else in the building appeared to have been taken.

Burglars also attempted to break into the Spot Tavern at 2404 South Sixth Street through a window in the rear. They were unable to get through a heavy window screen.

City police also investigated three vandalism cases Tuesday. They were informed by Clifford Braaten of 635 North Ninth Street that someone threw two rocks through a window in his home between 5 and 7 p.m. Damage was estimated at $10.

James Grigsby of Route 2 told police vandals smeared blue enamel over the windshield and one side of his 1953 Ford station wagon, as it was parked between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. at 801 Jefferson Street.

Billy Joe Phelps of Keno said someone threw something at his windshield as he was entering Klamath Falls around 1421 Oregon Avenue at 10:09 p.m. The windshield was shattered.
