

Aid Asked By CD Office

The county civil defense office today asked residents to report immediately any indication of trouble in flight.

Anyone who finds fragments which may have come from an airplane, who has seen or heard a crash, or who has noticed an aircraft obviously in distress should call the nearest Federal Aviation Agency or airport, the sheriff, state or local police or any fire department.

The report should include the location, time, type of craft and the caller's name. If obtainable, the call should also include the identification marking and number, the whereabouts and condition of passengers and whether a fire or explosion resulted.

WINNIE ENDING VACATION MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill will return to London next Tuesday to end his winter holiday on the Riviera, it was reliably reported here. Churchill, 85, arrived here Jan. 2 to stay in a penthouse hotel suite. He has been taking drives around the countryside and painting.

Seniors waited anxiously during first period Wednesday to receive their slips giving them rank and average in the graduating class of 1960. Only those ranking in the top half of the class were given these slips and numbered according to their rank.

Retakes for identification card pictures were conducted in the lobby of Pelican Court Wednesday morning. Those students who posed to have their pictures retaken were either new to the school, absent from school at the time the last pictures were taken, or those whose pictures were not returned to them due to the mix up when the pictures were distributed.

The pictures will be used for the yearbook, the student's personal use, and on his ID card which admits the owner to the games and dances along with his ticket.

The final amount of $1140.92 brought in by the various classes for the school's annual Polio Drive was counted after school Wednesday afternoon.

$377.23 of the total was credited to the sophomore class who won first place in competition with the other classes and will sit in the senior's closely guarded seating section in Pelican Court at the next all school assembly as their prize.

The senior class finished close behind the sophs, as they collected $367.44 from such projects as two smash-hit doughnut sales, and donations from balloons.

The junior class finished third as they turned in $321.38 from washing windows and cars and selling hot dogs.

$74.87 was also turned in by the freshmen from their peanut sales. Students brought in over $1,300 last year for the drive, which was held over a longer period than this year.

No Opposition For Senator

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), seeking his third term as senator, apparently will be unopposed for re-nomination in the Democratic primary May 7.

The Senate majority leader is the only candidate to have filed for the Democratic senatorial nomination as of midnight Monday—the filing deadline.

Under Texas law, however, an application postmarked before the deadline is acceptable. It could be a day or two before a mailed application would be received by State Democratic Executive Committee Headquarters.

Johnson insists his main concern at present is winning re-election but he is considered to be a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Winning the Democratic party nomination in the past has been equivalent to election in this predominantly Democratic state.

Republicans will select their candidate later. There has been no indication who their candidate will be.

Intelligence Chief Dulles Loves Hush-Hush Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the bloody purge trials in the Soviet satellite countries in the late 1940s the defendants were usually confronted with a photograph.

"Do you know this man?" they were asked. The answer usually was a blank stare. The picture, the court was told, showed the most dangerous spy of the "imperialists," the arch-enemy of communism and the chief agent of U.S. intelligence.

The carefully handpicked audience frequently reacted with a snicker. It was hard to believe that the bespectacled, white-haired man with a benevolent smile should be a top expert in cloak and dagger operations.

The man pictured was Allen Welsh Dulles, now director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Today Dulles displays the same smile when he tells congressional committees about the Soviet Union's strength.

He is regarded as the greatest authority in intelligence since the death of William J. "Wild Bill" Donovan, the man who hired him.

All signs indicate the 66-year-old Dulles likes his $22,000 a year hush-hush job. Friends quote him as saying his sole ambition in government is to stay on as intelligence chief for the rest of his life.

Last week Dulles testified before five groups on Capitol Hill, but he didn't seem to mind the added activity. His associates describe him as a "terrific worker" who is utterly relaxed, not disturbed by anything and blessed with the rare talent to view the world around him with cool objectivity.

He regards this gift as essential. Every morning a terse summary of CIA's intelligence reports winds up on President Eisenhower's desk. It simply could not be written with the slightest tinge of subjectivity, Allen Dulles believes.

In his opinion only the naked truth, however unpleasant it sometimes may be, can help the President to make his decisions. Dulles reports every week to the National Security Council after conferring with others on the Intelligence Advisory Committee.

Dulles was born April 7, 1893, in Watertown, N.Y. His father, the Rev. Allen Macy Dulles, was a Presbyterian minister. He received a bachelor of arts and master's degrees from Princeton, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and later received a law degree at George Washington University.

His diplomatic service included duty in Vienna, Bern, Switzerland, and in Turkey. In 1926 he resigned and joined the New York law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, which also included his brother, John Foster, the late secretary of state.

Early in World War II Donovan recruited him for the Office of Strategic Services, an outfit concerned with ferreting out enemy secrets. His job was to organize an American espionage center in Switzerland where he found contact with German and Italian underground leaders.

The United States had fairly good knowledge of what was going on in Hitler's headquarters, indicating that Dulles succeeded in planting his agents in Nazi Germany.

Dulles became deputy director of CIA in 1951 and two years later was named to head the super-secret organization.

His only son, Allen, a Marine lieutenant, was severely wounded in the Korean War. The Dullesses (he married the former Clover Todd in 1920) also have two daughters.

Army Offers New Program

Men and women who have been out of the armed services 90 days or less may choose their assignment areas under terms of a new Army reenlistment program called "Recap."

"Every effort will be made to assign prospective reenlistees to initial duty stations of their choice," said S.Sgt. M. W. Buess, Klamath Falls recruiter.

He has more details at his office, 417 Main Street.

Evangelistic Theme

"The Folly of Procrastination" will be the Sunday evening evangelistic theme of Evangelist Warren D. Combs of Yakima, gospel singer and trumpet-player, at revival services at the Klamath Gospel Center, 1625 Mitchell Street, at Shasta Way. Services are being conducted nightly at 7:45, except on Mondays and Saturdays.

The Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m. with classes for all ages. The evangelist will give a special object lesson. Awards will also be given to those who bring someone who has not attended Sunday school in four weeks. There will be no limit to the number of awards one individual may receive.

"Sin's Harsh Wage" will be the theme of the evangelist's talk for the Sunday morning 11 o'clock worship service. Special vocal and instrumental music is a part of each service.

The services will continue next week through Sunday, February 14, according to Rev. Melvin R. Griffith, pastor. The public is invited to attend.

Work Okayed On City Hall

DORRIS — A wide variety of questions for decision came before this week's meeting of the city council.

The council inspected and approved work done by Horace Wilds' refinishing of the city hall auditorium floor.

Discussed, but held up for decision until all council members were present, was the collection of possible deposits of $10 for new rental water users and installation of shut-offs on all rental property.

Arnold Skoog and Richard Fenwick were absent from the meeting. Mayor Bob Edgar, Norman Meek and Cal Gray were present.

Byard Kelly, police chief, exhibited an all-metal folding self-adjusting chair, complying with the council's instructions to obtain prices on new chairs for possible purchase by the city. Kelly reported chairs like the one exhibited would cost $6.18, delivered. Order was held up until the schools could be checked to see if they may be using any of the city's chairs.

A resolution was passed authorizing City Clerk Virginia Hamilton to sell any city lots as advertised at minimum advertised prices. Mrs. Hamilton reported Copco franchise tax in the amount of $134.50 had been received.

Johnnie McGinnis will haul cinders for Triangle Street to accommodate new home builders in the Mitchell western addition.

Building permit was approved for Edgar Viets to convert a porch attached to his home to a bedroom at an estimated cost of $1,000.

The council discussed ways and means for a possible future sewage system for the city.
