KUHS News and Views

By TIM MASON
KU's Student Government Acts: Should the "Star Spangled Banner" be played before basketball games, was one of the questions debated by Student Council representatives during their regular session on Thursday afternoon after school.

After much discussion the council, in the presence of band director La Mar Jensen, decided to take this matter back to their home rooms and work it over before making a final decision. However, they were in agreement with having the national anthem played, although Jensen was opposed. Jensen stated that he believes the pep band, which is a greatly condensed part of the famed marching unit, could not do justice to the song, and that the anthem is used too frequently for unimportant events.

The band will play the anthem if the student body wants it, he said.

"Boys beware," is the slogan this week as KU's girls are on the loose to celebrate the traditional Twirp Week, which is being staged until the evening of February 14.

Twirp Season is somewhat like Sadie Hawkins day in Al Capp's Little Abner comic strip, where life is reversed once a year and the women chase the men. At KU it is customary that the girls take over the boys' regular duties, including dating. The girls will do the inviting, supply the transportation and foot the bills. Other activities for this week will include a girls' choice dance, costing 10 cents to be held Wednesday after school from 3:15 to 4:30 p.m. The dance is sponsored by Tri-Hi-Y.

In other news this week, the Key, KU's student directory, will go on sale Tuesday for 50 cents after being delayed a month due to unforeseen problems. The price was originally 25 cents but was increased because of printing costs. The directory will contain nearly all addresses and telephone numbers of the faculty, student body, all school leaders and heads of the various organizations. Chairman of the Key Committee is senior Marti MacBeth.

The Cleanup Committee is busily working with chairman Susie A. Leidke on preparations for a "cleanup the school" campaign to be conducted during the first week of March.

The committee will make posters, decorate wastepaper baskets and put up signs in an all-out effort to make students aware of the drive and help them remember to pick up paper and throw garbage in the trash cans. Competition between classes has been suggested to help promote interest in the drive.

Another busy committee, headed by Susan Runge, is the Scrapbook Committee.

Members are collecting news articles, pictures and souvenirs from all the year's activities and putting them in a huge scrapbook. Student Council appropriated $4.50 during their last meeting for material to be used by the committee.

Safety Rules Proposed

Safety regulations to affect water skiers, boaters and swimmers on Lake of the Woods were proposed to the county court Friday.

Bob Kent, representing the Lake of the Woods Recreational Association, asked the court to approve the regulations and forward them to the State Marine Board, an agency created by the last Legislature to control recreational waters.

"We want to beat them to the punch, so there will be no need for the state to step in," Kent told the court. Kent said regulations now would prevent serious accidents later.

The proposals: A boat speed limit of 10 miles an hour within 200 feet of shore or docks, a 20 mile an hour speed limit otherwise, no water skiing within 200 feet of shore (except launching and landing), no swimming beyond 200 feet of shore, and a required observer on boats towing water skiers on weekends and holidays.

Violation of the rules would be a misdemeanor under the state Water Safety Code.

The court said it would recommend adoption of the regulations of the State Marine Board.

Finalist

Jacqueline Dahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dahn, 747 Alameda Avenue, was one of six finalists making up the queen's court in Delta Upsilon's second annual "DU Darling" contest.

The queen will be announced the night of the house dance February 13. Miss Dahn, a freshman, is a liberal arts major.

Lots Of Room At Squaw - If You Have The Money

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) Olympic omnibus: Still plenty of rooms available in the Olympic Games area. Prices are reasonable—if you go far enough away. But outrageous when within a few miles of Squaw Valley. Single rooms in Tahoe City, seven miles from here, are $36 and $40 a night single. Two persons for a just about the same price. These are in ordinary motels. Some are taking three to a room for $43—or $15 per head per night. In the valley proper, some persons are asking as high as $50 a night—single. However, it is rumored that if you know the "right people" you can get a single room for $30. One hotel in Tahoe City, which usually doesn't keep open in the winter, is asking only $7 or $8 for a room right now. Those same rooms without baths, will cost $18.50 to $22 during the 10-day period of the games, Feb. 18-22. Nice setting though.

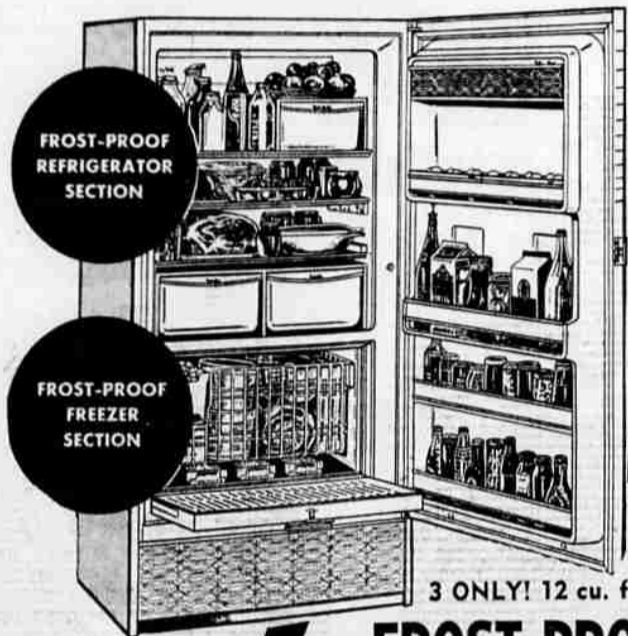

work 12 hour shifts... Members of the Korean team, first foreigners to try out the ski hills this year, looked like babies on KT-22 and Popoose Peak. Most of the men weigh less than 130 pounds; the women less than 110. Communications over the last week-end were completely blacked out due to a landslide in the mountains about 40 miles from here. If this had happened during the Olympic Games it would have verged on the catastrophic because the outside world would have had to wait nearly 24 hours to get the results. Communications officials claim the slide in the mountain was just one of those "once-in-a-lifetime" things that won't happen again. The slide ripped out 600 feet of transcontinental cable... Note for visitors: Come equipped with rain-proof parkas and rubber-type boots that will cover at least the ankles. While there is a lot of pavement in and around the Olympic Village, there still are many places where spectators will have to wade through water ankle deep—unless the weather turns colder... Europeans used to seeing banking employees in stiff collars and striped pants, get a shock when they walk into the Bank of America Building in nearby Truckee. All the employees are wearing Tyrolean hats, ski pants and after-ski boots—all in varied pas-to hues. The employees are just advertising the Olympics, of course. But many of the visitors probably figure this is regulation attire for this "wild west" area.
