Pesticide Confab To Be Held

By C. A. HENDERSON

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration action on sprayed cranberries has made everyone scared and concerned about pesticide use. A state-wide conference has been scheduled for February 11 in the Home Economics Auditorium at the Oregon State College to discuss this matter.

This meeting has been arranged through F. E. Price, dean of agriculture, Oregon State College, and Frank McKennon, chairman of the State Department of Agriculture. The program gets underway at 9:30 a.m. and winds up at 3:45 p.m. Some of the speakers on this program are Dean Price and Director McKennon; Dr. V. H. Freed, associate chemist at Oregon State College; Dr. Roy Hansberry, director Shell Laboratories, Modesto; Dr. Roy Young, head of the Department of Botany and Plant Pathology at Oregon State College; D. W. Dean, Plant Pest Control Division, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, San Francisco; Kenneth E. Monfore, chief, Seattle District, U.S. Food and Drug Administration; J. D. Patterson, chief chemist, Oregon Department of Agriculture; Dr. William Durham, Public Health Laboratory, Wenatchee; Dr. P. O. Ritcher, Department of Entomology, Oregon State College.

The morning session will be chaired by Dean Price, and the afternoon by Director Frank McKennon. The various speakers will cover the entire subject of pesticides, their use, and laws governing safe usage.

The purpose is to tell why we need and use agricultural chemicals; tell how chemicals are tested by industry and public agencies; tell how regulations are enforced by federal and state agencies; tell how pesticides can be used without affecting public health.

This is an extremely important meeting and will be attended by agricultural leaders and food people throughout the Northwest. J. D. Vertrees, county extension agent, and Harold Schieferstein, county pest supervisor, will attend from the County Agent's Office, Klamath Falls.

FOR DOLLS

NEW YORK (UPI)—As every "little woman" knows, even dolls get tired on trips. So the world's largest doll company now makes a miniature car bed for the no-madec miss who takes her doll along. It has a steel frame, inflated, tufted mattress and a quilted covering. (American Character Doll Corp., New York.)
