Bloodmobile To Return

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will return to the community March 1 and 2, with visits scheduled to the local Elks Lodge and Kingsley Field.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Winston Purvine, chairman, blood program committee members met last week with Eugene E. Slick, administrator of the Portland Center to discuss needs for blood in the forthcoming weeks and plans for local visits. Slick pointed out that the holiday season, storms and the flu epidemic had produced a shortage of blood throughout the region, at the same time heart-lung surgery and artificial kidney operations had increased the usage of whole blood.

Lester W. Tinker, chairman for the Elks Lodge blood program, heads recruitment efforts for his organization. On the opening day, March 1, hours will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 4 to 8 p.m., with a quota of 300 pints established as the goal. A committee of members of the Elks will aid Tinker in the annual project of the lodge.

Capt. Frankie Kelley is in charge of the second day's operation at Kingsley Field. A goal of 175 pints from personnel at the military base has been set, with a recruitment program to swing into action immediately. The bloodmobile will headquarter at the Service Club; donors from Klamath Falls who cannot be present at the first day's session at the Elks Club can come to Kingsley Field where the operation is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Those attending the planning session at Red Cross headquarters pledged an all-out effort to a successful bloodmobile visit in March. Red Cross officials ask that donors phone the headquarters, TU 4-4125, for appointments in order that schedules may be established.

Long Fast Ended By Pining Dog

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Old Brokenhearted, a dog fasting for his lost master, decided to take up eating again Wednesday, thanks to a tiny girl and some chicken.

Veterinarian J. B. Graves took the mongrel in and treated him a week ago after he was found lying beside the road, apparently a victim of an auto.

His owner couldn't be found, and Brokenhearted — as Graves named him — refused to eat.

But Wednesday Amy Graves, 3, the vet's daughter, asked if she could try to feed him a bit of chicken.

Brokenhearted looked at Amy and looked at the chicken. His whiskers wiggled and his mouth watered. Then, gulp! Old Brokenhearted was eating again.

Family Fun Night

MALIN — The Malin Volunteer Firemen will hold a family fun night Saturday night, February 13, at the Broadway Hall starting at 7:30. Chairmen of the event are Bill Dalton Jr., president of the Malin Firemen, and Art Evans. Games for all ages will be played and there will be a refreshment booth selling coffee, soda pop and doughnuts. Proceeds will be used to purchase new equipment for the Malin Fire Department.

First Aiders To End Course

Students enrolled in the Red Cross first aid class, being taught at KUHS by Ella Redkey, completed the standard portion of the course at the meeting held February 11. The advanced first aid portion of the course will begin Thursday, February 18, and is open to any person holding a current standard card.

Anyone wishing to enroll in the instructor's portion of the course opening April 14 who wishes to renew an advanced card, or qualify for the instructor's course can register for the sessions by calling the Red Cross office, TU 4-4125. Classes meet each Thursday evening at 7:30 in Room 116, KUHS.

A display of articles collected along the way by the travelers is being arranged. A travelogue account of the trip will be given with the use of colored slides taken in the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, and in Sydney, Australia.

Gertrude Tolle, chairman of the International Relations Committee, is in charge of the program. Guests are invited.
