

French Chief Cracks Down On Algerians

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle has cracked down on his political-minded army in Algeria and ordered much power returned to civil authorities.

The French leader and his cabinet Wednesday night approved sweeping reforms aimed at confining the military to its primary task in the big North African territory—suppression of the five-year-old nationalist rebellion.

The cabinet also took away from the French settlers in Algeria their own military army. It had been one of the chief props of the abortive French uprising in Algiers last month.

In a series of decrees approved during a 2½-hour session, the cabinet:

- Abolished the army's psychological warfare branch, some of whose officers were sympathetic to the rebellious French settlers.
- Dissolved Algeria's territorial home guard units.
- Relieved three top generals of their Algerian posts and ordered sanctions against an undisclosed number of other army officers.
- Reorganized the Algerian police and transferred control of police services from military to civilian authorities.
- Took steps to restore to regional civilian governors (prefects) much of the political power taken over by the army during the Algerian settlers' uprising in 1958 which brought De Gaulle back to office.
- The decrees were a major step in De Gaulle's determined campaign to prevent further uprisings and to push ahead with his policy of letting Algeria decide its political future in a free, countrywide vote. The army, chief target of the decrees, had fraternized openly with the insurgents in Algiers and took no action against them until De Gaulle cracked the whip and sent in replacements from other sectors.

'Can't Rest On Laurels,' Press Agent Tells Growers

TULELAKE—Joseph E. Burger, director of public relations for H. V. Nootbaar & Company, Berkeley, guest speaker at the annual membership banquet and ladies' night of the Tulelake Growers Association, keynoted a dynamic address Wednesday night with the assertion, "that day when we think we can rest on our laurels, that day we start going downhill."

An audience of more than 200 persons heard Burger, listed among the nation's top speakers, outline the human qualities for successful salesmanship, a field that encompasses every man, woman and child.

He listed a multiple-point goal, for success in selling, applicable to all individuals regardless of fields of effort in religion, education, business, politics and home life, to include (1) character, (2) sincerity, (3) loyalty, (4) industry, (5) courage, (6) personality, (7) enthusiasm, (8) the loyal customer, and (9) "Do It Today, Not Tomorrow."

"These," the speaker said, "are the priceless ingredients of success in a competitive world."

He was introduced by Dick Falconer, retiring president of the TGA.

Accompanying Burger to Tulelake was Thomas A. Sousa, Palo Alto, representative of Palo Alto office of H. V. Nootbaar & Company with headquarters in Pasadena. The company, brokers and jobbers, serves the feed and flour milling industry on the West Coast. Sousa is a grandson of the famous bandmaster, John Phillip Sousa.

Sam Wynn was installed as 1960 president of the association by William Whitaker. Other TGA officers and board members introduced were Wilbur Edwards, vice president; George Fabianek, secretary; Burris Short, holdover director; Elmer Olson and Herbert

Sub Plants Hawaiian Flag At The Top Of The World

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. atomic submarine Sargo has smashed through the ice at the North Pole and planted the flag of Hawaii—her home state—at the top of the world.

The Navy said late Thursday the sub broke through the North Pole ice Tuesday afternoon and then resumed her cruise of exploration in the Arctic Ocean's great basin.

The Sargo has been preceded to the pole by two sister nuclear subs, the Nautilus and the Skate. The Nautilus reached the pole on Aug. 3, 1958. The Skate made its first trip on Aug. 11, 1959, then repeated her cruise last March.

The Sargo's journey during the Arctic winter again emphasized the power of American nuclear submarines to prowl the international waters above the Soviet Union in any season.

The Navy said the Sargo is collecting oceanographic data, including data on the ocean bottom and the Arctic ice.

The Sargo slipped out of Pearl Harbor, her home port, on Jan. 18. In her explorations she traveled a longer course than the direct 4,200 nautical miles from her base to the pole.

After submerging at the edge of the Arctic ice pack in the Bering Sea southwest of Alaska, she was under the ice for 2,744 miles before reaching the pole 14 days and 21 hours later.

She pushed through the ice seven times during the two weeks. The last two times she penetrated ice about three feet thick, which was the minimum thickness she found. Only the high conning tower of the submarine was shoved up through the ice on the last two breakthroughs.

The Hawaiian flag was planted at the pole by Lt. Cmdr. John H. Nicholson, the Sargo's skipper. He radioed the news to Hawaii's Gov. William F. Quinn.

The Sargo's mission is to collect oceanographic data, including data on the ocean bottom and the Arctic ice.

Morse Mulls Demo Primary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) said today he is seriously considering entering the April 5 Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary.

Morse, who already is competing in the Oregon and District of Columbia primaries, said he will have an announcement on his intentions later.

It was indicated this would cover also his possible entry into Maryland's May 17 primary, where Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) thus far is the only candidate filed.

Kennedy meanwhile wound up a two-day swing through Morse's home state of Oregon and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), also campaigning for the nomination, is touring California.
