Bureau Of Land Management Sums Up Work Done In 1959

Russell E. Getty, state supervisor for the Bureau of Land Management in Oregon, reported today that 1959 was another good year for the Bureau of Land Management.

Getty said that 910,131,000 board feet of O&C and Coos Bay Wagon Road timber in the O&C districts of western Oregon were offered for sale. Of the offered volume 886,230,000 board feet were sold for $29,296,444.31. The average was $33.51 per thousand board feet. This is compared to calendar year 1958 when 908,238,000 board feet were sold from the O&C forests for $24,091,232.20 at an average of $26.78 per thousand board feet.

Sale of public domain timber in the eastern Oregon grazing districts and on the fringes of the O&C districts totaled 54,450,000 board feet. Collections were $1,247,888.89.

Under the timber access road program, the following projects were completed: 27 miles of road graded, 19 miles of surfacing and four bridges built. Under construction contracts there are 81.4 miles of grading, 27.6 miles of surfacing and eight bridges. The total miles of access road that have been completed are now 214.

In addition to the access road construction projects, the Bureau of Land Management has negotiated 38 reciprocal right-of-way and road use agreements in western Oregon. These agreements add approximately 200 miles of potential access to Bureau timber.

Reforestation was advanced with 12,029,000 tree seedlings planted on 21,908 acres of denuded land and the sowing of 7,684 pounds of tree seed on 11,442 acres. Site improvement preparatory to reforestation on 2,043 acres was also completed. A greater area would have been planted if tree seedlings had been available. But a good seed crop in 1959 will make it possible to sow tree seed by helicopter or planes in 1960 to offset the area that would have been planted.

Forest inventories completed in 1959 brought about an increase in the annual sustained yield allowable cut on the O&C lands from 769.3 million board feet to 874.2 million board feet. This was the result of an intensive inventory program begun four years ago. During this time permanent sample plots, which will provide a precise measure of forest conditions, were established on about 1,000,000 acres of the 2,140,000 acres of O&C land.

The new allowable cut has been implemented at mid year and it is anticipated the fiscal year (ending June 30, 1960) timber offering will be 874 million board feet of green timber as well as 126 million feet of salvage and thinning material not chargeable to the allowable cut, for a total of one billion board feet.

An inventory of the forest on the public domain in the eastern Oregon has also been started. Key personnel have been trained in inventory procedure with intentions of expanding this work.

In the Bureau of Land Management Cartographic Section the basic work has been done for a large scale planimetric and forest type map. During the year a method of reproducing colored lithographed maps of both the forest and grazing districts was adopted. Over 3,200 square miles of southwestern Oregon was flown for new aerial photographs under a Bureau of Land Management contract with the cost shared by Josephine and Douglas counties.

Timber trespasses are being constantly investigated and pressed. During the calendar year $216,684.89 was collected from persons who cut timber in trespass on O&C, Public Domain, and Coos Bay Wagon Road lands. Trespass collections are usually at triple stumpage.

There were three criminal convictions for timber trespasses and nine criminal cases are pending. Several civil fire trespass cases are also pending against persons or companies who have been charged with negligence in the start or spread of fires.

The acreage burned in the grazing districts of eastern and central Oregon, where the Bureau of Land Management protects almost twenty million acres of federal, private and state lands, was less than half what it was in 1953.

PROFITABLE, CHARITABLE
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — In its first seven years, PGA National Golf Day realized about $666,000 and turned it over to charities and worthwhile golf projects.
