Stocks WALL STREET NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market wiped out losses and advanced late this afternoon but late profit taking left the pattern mixed. The average may have retained a small upside edge. Volume for the day was estimated at 4,000,000 shares compared with 3,270,000 Tuesday. It was one of the heaviest trading days of the year and brokers said it might have been a selling climax to the relentless, quiet decline that has taken place this year. Some key stocks still showed losses of fractions to about 2 points but many had canceled declines and quite a few showed moderate gains. Union Carbide was about 2 points lower while Westinghouse Electric and Merck were down more than a point. U.S. government bonds were firm.

JANE MARIE JACKSON

Queen Title Up For Grabs

CHILQUIN—Jane Marie Jackson is the first announced entrant in the National Invitational All-Indian Basketball Tournament sponsored by the Klamath Reservation Jaycees. The 16-year-old Chilquin High School sophomore is a member of two well known Indian families active in reservation affairs. Her paternal grandfather, Boyd Jackson, is chairman of the Klamath Revolving Loan Board and a leader among members who have voted against withdrawal from the tribe. Her maternal grandfather, Leonard Moore, is a leader of the withdrawing members. Jane's white buckskin costume was made for her by women on the Warm Springs Reservation and is decorated with bead work depicting Indian legend. Her white boot-type moccasins are trimmed with matching bead work. Jane Marie has attended Chilquin schools since the first grade, except for the first semester of this year when she went to Cleveland High School in Portland. She is back at Chilquin High where she played basketball last year on the girls' team, was a member of the pep club and sang in the chorus. Horseback riding is one of her hobbies, but her first love is swimming. She is the daughter of Rose Marie Herrera, Portland. Girls are reminded that Saturday, February 20, is the last day to enter the contest.

Fire Destroys Dairy Barn

MERRILL—A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a frame dairy barn on the W. F. Jinnette Ranch, two miles north and one mile east of Merrill about 3:30 a.m. Wednesday. The building contained dairy equipment including milking machines, motors and other items. The dairy had not been in operation for several years. The fire was discovered by members of the family when flames showed through bedroom windows. The Merrill Fire Department answered the call to the ranch but the flames had progressed too far for the building to be saved. The firefighters prevented spread of the fire to other buildings.

Gas Motor Stolen

Rancher Mickey Wampler reported to state police Tuesday theft of a Hercules gasoline motor valued at $250. Wampler said thieves had entered a shed on his ranch, on Lake of the Woods Highway, sometime Monday.

Assault Trial Commences In Klamath Circuit Court

Philip Duane Jackson's trial for assault with a dangerous weapon—the third charge against Jackson resulting from a disturbance at a Bonanza ranch last December 21—opened Wednesday before Circuit Judge John J. Murchison of Portland. The morning session of the trial was devoted to selecting a jury from a 40-member panel. A jury had been tentatively selected, prior to preemptory challenges, at 11 a.m. Jackson is accused of pointing a .22 caliber revolver at his aged grandmother, Mrs. Anna May Copperfield, during a family fight at Mrs. Copperfield's home. The 23-year-old defendant was arrested on two other charges at the same time, December 21. A charge of lewd cohabitation against Jackson and Bernadine Dickens, 18, was dismissed February 2 in district court on ground the state had failed to show sufficient proof. Jackson and Miss Dickens, who both lived at Mrs. Copperfield's home, were married in Reno January 23. A second charge, that of assault and battery upon Mrs. Bertie Joe, was heard by a district court jury February 4. Jackson was convicted and subsequently paid a $250 fine. Attorney Robert Redding, who represented Jackson in all three legal actions, moved last Tuesday to disqualify Judges David R. Vandenberg and Charles H. Foster on ground Jackson could not receive a fair and impartial trial. Judge Murchison was assigned to the case Monday and flew here last night. The judge was appointed to the circuit bench in Portland last August after serving eight years as a police judge in Portland. A future court action involving Jackson comes up for hearing March 2 in the State Supreme Court. There Jackson is appealing a district court conviction of last June 24 on another assault and battery charge. Jackson was found guilty of beating Alberto Sapiens in May after the two men left a tavern together. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and was fined $250. He appealed the conviction in circuit court and again was found guilty and given the identical sentence and fine. It was then that the case was appealed to the supreme court. The case will be argued in Salem by Redding and Deputy District Attorney O. W. Goakey. The assault charge being heard today was being prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney Ernest Gordon.

Police Seek Hit-Runner

A car operated by Fran L. Hales, 531 Pacific Terrace, was struck Tuesday evening at the corner of Pine and Ninth streets by a car which afterward drove away, city police said. Hales was not injured, but his car was damaged considerably. He told police he was stopped while headed north on Pine to wait for a signal light. The other car made a right turn from Ninth to Pine and hit Hales' left front fender. Police also learned Sunday from Larry Conforti of 204 Riverside Street that thieves took four hubcaps from his brother's car as it was parked Sunday evening at a filling station on Esplanade Avenue. City Juvenile Officer Ray Howard said a truant 13-year-old Klamath Falls girl turned herself in after a day's absence from school Tuesday afternoon. She was taken to the juvenile home on request of county juvenile officers and later released to her parents.

Aid Sought By Clerk

The county clerk's office seeks persons interested in emergency work during the primary election May 20. No definite assurance of employment may be given now, said Mrs. Pauline Offield, election clerk, but persons who would be available for an emergency call on election day are needed. Jobs available would be those of election clerks, Mrs. Offield said, and persons volunteering would be assigned to fill vacancies caused by last minute illnesses, vacations, etc. Mrs. Offield has compiled a list of 532 election personnel to staff polls on election day, both on day (voting) boards and night (counting) boards. But there always are vacancies at the last minute, she said. Persons interested in filling vacancies should call TU 4-3461.

Group Asks Warn Light

OLENE—More than 60 persons have signed a petition requesting a warning light at Oregon-California and Eastern Railway's intersection with Highway 66 here. That was announced by Duncan A. Stewart of Klamath Falls who is in charge of circulating the petitions. Petitions also are being circulated in Lakeview and Bly, he said, and anyone who uses the road is asked to sign. Stewart is handling the job for Lost River Grange, which passed a resolution recently calling for the petition. He says the crossing has been the scene of many accidents in the past—some serious. The reason, he says, is that the crossing is located near a sharp curve in the highway, and that the tracks on one side are above the road and on the other side, below. Thus, motorists are frequently unable to see the trains, he added. The railway is used mostly at night by logging trains whose flatcars have no warning lights, Stewart says. He asked the grange for the resolution when he learned recently that the OC & E has been granted a five-mile-per-hour increase in maximum speed at the crossing, he said. The petitions, if they are filled, will be sent to the State Public Utilities Commission, which then will investigate. One petition is in the hands of Stewart at the Don Potter Machinery Company, 2434 South Sixth Street. Mrs. Ernest Parkhurst has another at Cascade Home Furnishings Company, 124 North Fourth Street, and Mrs. C. W. Bates of Bly is circulating one there and in Lakeview.

Chamber Chief Attends Meeting

Chamber of Commerce Manager F. Frank Tucker was called to Portland Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Oregon Advertising Club. The purpose, it appears, was to give Tucker the club's Gold Ribbon Award for a Klamath County promotion folder printed early last year and distributed to restaurants, motels and gas stations. The folder depicts the county's tourist attractions in four-color photographs. It was developed by the chamber's Tourist and Convention Committee under leadership of Charley Schuss.

OBITUARY BROWN LAKEVIEW—Orson D. (Steve) Brown, 60, died unexpectedly here Tuesday, February 16. He was born April 29, 1899 at Anita, Iowa, September 1, 1924, he was married to Vergie Morris, who survives. Also surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Ella Marie Elliot, Los Angeles, three grandchildren; two brothers, John and Carl, Anita, Iowa. He came to Lakeview in 1919 where he had been secretary of the Elks Lodge since May, 1948. He was also a member of Thomas Creek Grange. Mr. Brown was a wool and lamb buyer for an eastern firm. Funeral services will be conducted in the lodge rooms Friday, February 19, at 2 p.m. with the Rev. William Snyder officiating. Interment will be at Anita, Iowa. The family requests that contributions be made to the Heart Fund or the Presbyterian Church here in lieu of flowers. Ousley-Osterman Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

DAISY SELBERG

Official Seeks Reelection

DORRIS — Mrs. Daisy Selberg, city treasurer, filed nomination papers this week for reelection in the April 12 city election. Mrs. Selberg, a native of Castle Rock, Washington, came here in 1937 and operated a boarding house for several years. She went to work in the box factory of the Associated Lumber and Box Company in 1944 when women were employed because of the war. She still does seasonal work for the company. In 1946, Mrs. Selberg purchased the Tourist Rooms, which she still operates. She has one son, Richard, serving with the army in Germany. She is a prominent member of the Butte Valley Women's Club and is active in all civic affairs. Seldom has a defendant gone into a trial with the odds so stacked against him as did Finch. He had cheated on his wife. She was threatening to take much of his money. He went to her home with Carole Tregoff. They waited in the dark for Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch. Finch held the gun that killed his wife. Those are all facts admitted by Finch. But Cooper has fitted them into a pattern that portrays the surgeon as an absolutely innocent man so far as murder is concerned. And observers at the marathon trial believe he has partly persuaded at least a few of the jurors that the story is true. The trial was in recess today until Thursday. Attorneys conferred with the judge on his instructions to the jury. The fireworks really are over now except for the closing arguments and what a day that will be for Grant Cooper. He must be cast from the same mold as a Clarence Darrow. After this, he is the undoubted successor to ailing and aging Jerry Giesler as the lawyer to the Hollywood stars. Three of Giesler's associates represent Miss Tregoff. But they are so overshadowed by Cooper that the prosecution has complained that Cooper is defending Carole more than her own attorneys. It was he who persuaded them to put her on the witness stand. She did not come off too well. She fell back on "I don't know" and "I was just frozen." She is not very smart and she might have been far better off never testifying. But Finch had testified in great detail and with great sincerity, whether real or mock. For the girl to have remained silent would have raised a great doubt in the jury's mind — if this pair is completely innocent, why doesn't the girl speak up? Cooper is a man in his middle 50's with grey hair still streaked with some black. He wears hornrimmed glasses. He has a face as mobile as Red Skelton's—in fact he could have been a tremendous actor. His figure is trim. He is handsome in a saturnine way. But his great charm is his gentleness and his softness, amounting almost to tenderness with some witnesses. He treated Marie Anne Lidholm, the Finch's Swedish maid, like a father. She is the most damaging witness for the prosecution. She

Defendant Found Guilty

Frank G. Sutton, 38, was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of his daughter by a circuit court jury that deliberated just 23 minutes yesterday afternoon. Sutton, a lumber mill employe, had been accused of making improper advances toward the girl last July 15. His two-day trial began Monday. Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg said sentencing would be held at a later date. After the jury had announced its verdict at 3:50 p.m., Defense Attorney Glenn D. Ramirez asked that Sutton be sent to the Oregon State Hospital for examination. This request the judge denied, because Sutton had been found capable of assisting in his own defense at a sanity hearing here, and because Sutton had been examined by two psychiatrists who testified at his trial. Deputy District Attorney O. W. Goakey prosecuted the case for the state.

Attorney For Dr. Finch 'Cast From Darrow Mold'

By JACK V. FOX United Press International LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The most fascinating character in the spectacular that is the Finch-Tregoff murder trial is not the youthful looking doctor or his statuesque mistress. It is the lawyer for Dr. R. Bernard Finch—Grant Cooper. Cooper appears to have won the jury completely. Not perhaps to the extent they will acquit the surgeon. But they will think a long time about handing a setback to likeable, affable, gentlemanly Grant Cooper. Tuesday at the trial he was trying to establish the date of a boating trip. The witness said it was Father's Day. Cooper appealed to the courtroom at large. "Does anyone know when Father's Day is?" And two of the jurors quickly replied it was June 21. Seldom has a defendant gone into a trial with the odds so stacked against him as did Finch. He had cheated on his wife. She was threatening to take much of his money. He went to her home with Carole Tregoff. They waited in the dark for Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch. Finch held the gun that killed his wife. Those are all facts admitted by Finch. Muster Day Set Sunday

Open house at the new armory, 2501 Shasta Way, will be a feature of National Guard Muster Day Sunday. All members of the local Second Gun Battalion, 249 Artillery, will participate, says Lieut. Col. Clifford L. Sanders, commanding officer. The purpose, says Colonel Sanders, is "to point out to the people of Klamath County the vital and important role we play as a part of local community life." "We want our citizens to observe first hand the vast amount of federal arms and emergency equipment we have, and we want to demonstrate our proficiency in their use." The public is invited to visit the armory any time from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Equipment on display will include the Skyweeper, an electronically controlled anti-aircraft gun; radar sets, radio and wire communications equipment and many other items. "Muster Day" dates to the colonial period when militia mustered during emergency, says Colonel Sanders. The National Guard, a lineal descendant of the colonial militia, revived the custom in 1956. February was chosen for the annual display because George Washington, once a colonel of the Virginia Militia, was born then.

Barn Fire

BONANZA—A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn belonging to Dean Huges Monday night. A shed and an old car belonging to Lindy Lockwood also burned. A horse and hay stored in the barn were moved to safety.
