

School Value Told To Dads

EUGENE (AP) — The University of Oregon Dads organization meeting here was told that the most priceless bounty parents can give their children is an education that makes them think for themselves.

William C. Jones, dean of administration, told them this at a Saturday luncheon.

Another speaker, Gov. Mark Hatfield, urged the Dads to support two education-financing measures that will be on the Oregon election ballot in November.

One would give the state system of higher education additional bonding authority for construction of self-financing dormitories and other student centers.

The other proposal would be a 40 million dollar bonding issue for state buildings, including higher education.

Town Ignores Famed Statue

BALTIMORE (AP)—It looks like a big piece of hard candy left on a shelf to gather dirt.

The nose is almost gone. The eyes are so weathered they are hardly perceptible. There are dark stains in the folds of the clothing.

This is a statue of George Washington in Baltimore, the town which likes to call itself the Monumental City. Standing in Druid Hill Park, it is probably the most ignored statue of Washington in the city.

It has been spared one humiliation: a niche protects it from passing pigeons.

Fishermen Net Rare Specimen

TANANARIVE, Madagascar (UPI) — A coelacanth, a huge deep-sea fish once believed extinct, was captured alive Saturday night by fisherman in the vicinity of Moroni in the Comorian Islands, it was reported today.

Several specimens of the fish have turned up during the past year.

The Comorian coelacanth was being kept alive in a tank of water. The fishermen are bringing it here.

Biologists consider the coelacanth the oldest of living creatures. It was one of the first forms of fish to appear in the shadowy era when life began on earth.

Judging from fossil remains and specimens recently captured, the fish has evolved very little since the time 300 to 350 million years ago when it first appeared.

Crowds Conduct Trujillo Rally

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Half a million persons demonstrated Sunday to persuade Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo to take over the presidency from his brother Hector in 1962.

Official spokesmen said the rally was the largest ever held in the Dominican Republic. About 300,000 peasants flocked to the capital from throughout the country to take part in the demonstrations, a six-hour march down George Washington Avenue.

Son Dies In Try To Save Mother

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Ronnie Bumgardner, 8, tried to rescue his partially paralyzed mother from their burning house Sunday but both died in the flames.

Ronnie and his sister Darlene, 10, awakened by the fire, rushed to a window. Then the boy turned back.

"I'm going back to get mommie," he said.

Firemen found his body three feet from that of his mother, Juanita, 38. Darlene escaped.
